'Outcast' Becomes A Hero

Marine Refused To Swear, But Risked His Life

KHE SANH, Vietnam (AP) — The Methodist minister's son was a conscientious objector and a Marine outcast.

He hated war and refused to be a rifleman.

His strongest swear word was "Golly." He could not develop a tough exterior.

Until he went to work aiding the wounded at Khe Sanh, Pvt. Jonathan M. Spicer of Miami, Fla., was despised by some of the other Leathernecks around him and only tolerated by others. Now he is a hero, a growing legend and badly wounded.

Joined On A Whim

Friends said that Spicer joined the Marines almost on a whim when he went to a recruiting station with a friend. Somewhere in basic training, when the instructors were attempting to turn him into a professional killer, he rebelled.

"He just sort of suddenly realized combat wasn't really for him," recalled Cpl. Daniel Sullivan of Boston, Mass. "He wasn't afraid of dying. He said it just before the day he was hit. But he said he could not put himself up to killing a man."

Friends said Spicer, who stands 5-feet-9, tried to declare himself a conscientious objector in boot camp and at various other points on his route to Vietnam. He was always told: "Wait until your next assignment."

Treated With Contempt

Finally he was assigned to an infantry battalion at Khe Sanh, the besieged Marine base 15 miles south of the demilitarized zone.

"He was treated with contempt by his fellow infantrymen," said an officer who was instrumental in getting Spicer transferred to one of Khe Sanh's many medical units. "He was naive, and the toughness Marines show outwardly was foreign to him."

"What no one realized" said Lt. Edward Feldman, a medical officer from Forest Hills, N.Y., "was that he was thoroughly unselfish and wouldn't hesitate to put himself in danger."

Guarded The Wounded

Spicer "was a tiger" when it came to the welfare of the wounded. He grabbed an unwounded man who attempted to get aboard a medical evacuation helicopter ahead of the wounded and roughly pulled him back.

Doctors said that when shellfire pinned down the stretcher bearers rushing the wounded men to the helicopters, Spicer repeatedly covered his man with his own body.

A month ago the round-faced Marine ran out of luck.

"He helped get one litter on a chopper and started back to the sandbagged area," said Lt. James O. Finnegan of Philadelphia, Pa.

Refused Safety

Other stretcher bearers were having trouble loading their litters and Spicer, despite a call from one doctor to "get the hell in here," turned back to the chopper to help.

He arrived about the same time a North Vietnamese mortar shell burst among the wounded men and litter bearers, wounding about 30 men.

Spicer was hit in the heart, face and legs. He was saved only by a delicate heart operation by Dr. Finnegan and Lt. John Maddilligan of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Recommended For Medal

Finnegan recommended Spicer for the Silver Star for bravery and gallantry. The Khe Sanh base's commander, Col. David E. Lownds, mentioned the Navy Cross.

Men who spent fruitless hours trying to teach Spicer to swear and be tough like a Marine said they felt a little guilty.

"Man, he was really out there when the shells were coming in," said one. "I'm a little sorry about the way we treated him now."

Warden Removed From Duty

Cleanup Started As Riot Ends At Oregon State Pen

SALEM, Ore. (A) — A cleanup and rebuilding job is under way at the Oregon State penitentiary after visiting convicts won a change in the command of the prison by burning most of it down.

The inmates released four guards Sunday after holding them hostage in the prison yard overnight.

They had won almost everything they asked, including a promise that they would not be prosecuted for their orgy of fire, window-breaking, and smashing everything in sight.

Prison officials estimated damage at $6 million.

George W. Randall, state director of corrections, agreed to the demands, presented by six convicts representing the prison population of 1,155. The demands were presented shortly after midnight Sunday.

Randall walked into the prison yard with several reporters to talk the prisoners into releasing their hostages.

He told the prisoners there would be no reprisals.

"I've never lied to a prisoner, and I'm too old to start lying now. We won't harm anyone," he said.

Randall agreed to fire warden C. T. Gladden, 73, who had served 19 years. Gladden, ill for six weeks, was not on duty during the riot.

The riot started, apparently with no advance planning, Saturday afternoon when a small group of convicts seized the control center, the nerve center for all operations inside the walls.

That gave them control of almost all of the prison. Most of the convicts soon joined in the riot.

By their burning, the prisoners destroyed all of the prison's rehabilitation facilities, more than half of the cells, and the means of preparing food and feeding the prisoners. All of the offices of the treatment officials, such as the chaplains, sociologist and counselors, were destroyed.

The prison hospital was severely damaged. The industrial plants, which provide vocational training, were destroyed.

The damages touched off speculation that a special session of the Oregon legislature would be needed to finance reconstruction.

As soon as the hostages were released, prison guards and state police forced all of the convicts into the recreation yard. They stayed there Sunday night, because making the cells livable will take at least until late today.

One of the guards who was held in the yard said, "It was the longest 17 hours of my life."

Someone asked the guard, William Lowery, 27, if he was frightened. "Are you kidding?" he asked.

Lowery said the riots were caused because "everyone was talking about the problems and no one was doing anything about them."

Other demands which were

McCarthy Still Low-Key; Nixon Starts To 'Sprint'

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP — Richard M. Nixon staged a final sprint seeking to turn out the Republican vote, while Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy stuck to his standard low-key style in windup campaigning for Tuesday's season-opening New Hampshire presidential primary.

Nixon's final campaign stand today featured a series of brief visits to his headquarters in five cities. He set the tone at a Nashua reception Sunday night, urging Republicans to vote Tuesday, telling them:

Nixon Shows Confidence

"We're going to win. We're going to win in March and we're going to win in November. It's going to be a new day for America."

There appeared to be no way Nixon, the only major candidate among nine on the Republican ballot, could lose in New Hampshire. The real question: How big a margin can he produce over the late-starting write-in movement for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?

While Nixon was shaking hands and appealing for a big New Hampshire send-off, Rockefeller conferred in New York with more than 20 Republican leaders who urged him to run for president.

Rockefeller Studies Move

They said Rockefeller would consult with other Republicans within the next few days, and Oregon Gov. Tom McCall said the call for a draft to propel the New Yorker into the campaign was "almost irresistible."

Nixon said Rockefeller "may be closer" to presidential candidacy. He said he did not know much about the New York session—"I wasn't invited to that meeting and I didn't have it bugged."

The former vice president said that if Rockefeller becomes an active rival for the nomination "I will pledge" to campaign on issues, not on personalities. "I will not campaign against him any more than I did against Gov. (George) Romney," Nixon said.

Michigan's Romney had been Nixon's chief opponent in New Hampshire. But Romney was out of the running, knew it, and withdrew as a presidential candidate on Feb. 28.

McCarthy Challenges LBJ

McCarthy, the Minnesota senator challenging President Johnson's renomination, said if he can get 25 per cent of the vote Tuesday it will be a signal of significant criticism for administration policy on Vietnam and other issues.

"I'm hopeful, and this is not just a vague hope, that we may very well run over 30 per cent," McCarthy said.

Teachers End Long Strike At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh's high schools resume normal operations today but there was disagreement among teachers on the merits of a compromise that opened classroom doors closed for 11 days.

One group of teachers claimed the settlement was a victory for city educators, another said it was "meaningless and nothing of substance."

"I think the teachers have won a victory," said Albert Fondy, president of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers, after some 400 members of his group approved Sunday a resolution hammered out in nearly nine hours of marathon bargaining.

"They have won a right to an election," he said.

But Al Lumis, vice president of the Pittsburgh Teachers Education Association, said the settlement meant nothing.

"There is a no indication that legislation is forthcoming to allow teachers and other public employes to bargain collectively," he said.

The settlement hinged on a commitment by state legislators to press for approval of law that would allow the Board of Education to recognize a union if the teachers desired one.

The federation walked out Feb. 29 despite a court ban. Allegheny County Court Judge John Hester, who tried to avert the strike, fined some 50 pickets arrested during the strike $50. There were no jailings.

GOP Heads Are Pushing Rockefeller

Decision Sought Within Few Days On His Candidacy

NEW YORK (AP) — More than 20 top Republicans, summoned to a strategy meeting with Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller at his Fifth Avenue apartment, have urged him strongly to become "an announced and active candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination.

A spokesman for the group that included seven governors, three U.S. senators, five congressmen and Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, said Rockefeller would decide about plunging into the race after consulting with other party leaders in the next few days.

Rockefeller, who has maintained he would not be a candidate unless there was a draft, had no comment following Sunday's two-hour, closed-door strategy session.

Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon, one of those at the meeting, said he urged the New York governor to challenge former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the May 28 Oregon primary. Rockefeller has until March 22 to declare himself out of that election.

McCall said Rockefeller's candidacy was "no longer an abstraction" following the meeting. Asked if he thought it constituted a draft, McCall replied: "Well, it's almost irresistible."

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania read a brief statement to newsmen that said there was "very strong sentiment" that Rockefeller get into the race as "an announced and active candidate." Asked if all those present had endorsed Rockefeller's candidacy, Scott said the statement spoke for itself.

A written statement was not given out. Scott read from notes, which he retained. The statement said Rockefeller "will consult other party leaders in the next few days and his decision will ultimately be made by himself."

Lindsay said he believed everyone at the meeting subscribed to the statement and that he himself approved "100 per cent." It was the first known meeting between Lindsay and Rockefeller since they clashed over ways to end New York's garbage collectors strike.

The meeting came only two days before voting in the New Hampshire primary where Nixon is expected to collect a victory.

Nixon, who lives in the same building as Rockefeller, was not invited to the meeting.

Rockefeller aides said the meeting was called to discuss the state of the GOP since Gov. George Romney of Michigan who was backed by Rockefeller, withdrew from the race, leaving Nixon the sole major contender in New Hampshire.

Romney was invited but declined to attend, saying he does not engage in politics on Sunday.

Scott said the statement he read was subscribed to by Rep. John Dellenback of Oregon, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland, Gov. John Chafee of Rhode Island, former GOP national chairman Meade Alcorn and former Rep. William D. Miller of New York, Barry Goldwater's running mate in the 1964 presidential election.

Just Below DMZ

North Viet Gunners Blast Navy Ammunition Dump

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 102 enemy troops in a northern frontier battle Sunday but enemy gunners blew up tons of ammunition at a U.S. Navy base just below the eastern end of the demilitarized zone.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties were light in the eight-hour fight with an estimated 600 Communist soldiers, the eighth major encounter since Feb. 29 for government troops below the DMZ. He said the South Vietnamese captured seven suspects and 25 weapons and that their casualties were only three killed and 37 wounded.

As the men of the 2nd South Vietnamese Infantry Regiment battled five miles north of Dong Ha, North Vietnamese gunners blasted the American naval supply and repair base at the mouth of the Cua Viet River, 15 miles south of the DMZ.

Casualties Seen Light

U.S. spokesmen said casualties at the naval complex were light, but they reported numerous fires and secondary explosions in stockpiles of ammunition and other war material.

More artillery rounds, about 200 of them, landed on a South Vietnamese outpost 11 miles below the DMZ, and nearly 40 shells hit a nearby base camp of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division. No casualties or serious damage was reported at the Marine camp, and one soldier was killed at the government outpost.

For the third straight day, the Marines at besieged Khe Sanh received more than 200 rounds of rocket, artillery and mortar fire Sunday. U.S. headquarters said American casualties were light.

Air Strikes Made

The Americans countered with fighter-bomber raids against North Vietnamese gun positions inside the DMZ, and B52 saturation bombing attacks on suspected positions of enemy troops menacing Khe Sanh and Hue. The B52s also struck at enemy positions 12 miles northwest of Dak To, near the Cambodian border, and 25 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen for the first time reported a Communist truck convoy in the vicinity of Hue. They said American gunship helicopters sighted eight camouflaged trucks 15 miles southwest of Hue last Friday and destroyed all eight with rocket and machine-gun fire. Seven of the trucks were two and a half tonners and one was three quarters of a ton, the spokesmen said.

Troop Buildup Reported

Gen. William C. Westmoreland activated the new military command for South Vietnam's northernmost provinces where the Communist forces along the frontier had grown to five divisions, or about 50,000 troops.

"Their forces are formidable," Westmoreland said. "We intend to confront them."

The Communist leadership considers Thua Thien and Quang Tri provinces part of North Vietnam. I anticipate more very heavy fighting."

Program's Seen Vital To Country

Secretary Talks Before Foreign Relations Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged Congress today not to delay or abandon foreign aid because of the cost of the war in Vietnam. He argued that the aid program is vital to U.S. prosperity and security.

"We cannot find security apart from the rest of the world," he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"And in the long run, we can be neither prosperous nor safe if most other people live in squalor or if violence consumes the world around us."

Rusk Faces Questions

Rusk prepared for today's appearance before the committee expecting that he would spend hours responding to questions about the critical state of the war in Vietnam.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, is one of the most outspoken Senate critics of the Vietnam war policy, and many members of the committee also have opposed current policies.

The committee has been trying for weeks to get Rusk before it for public questioning about the war. And his appearance comes amid reports that President Johnson is considering an increase of up to 200,000 men above the 525,000 already authorized for Vietnam.

Supports Foreign Aid

But Rusk was appearing officially to urge support of the foreign aid program, and he made only a brief indirect reference to the Vietnam war.

Accord Seen In Copper's Long Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) Two of the four companies involved in the eight-month copper strike reportedly have reached an understanding with 26 unions that may resolve a major roadblock to settlement.

The New York Times said today that official sources reported the understanding reached between Phelps Dodge, Kennecott and the unions would cover mines, smelters and refineries but not lead, zinc and fabrication operations.

The Times quoted official sources as cautioning against optimism that the understanding meant the strike which has idled some 60,000 workers would end soon.

But the report did indicate the two companies may have capitulated—if only partially—on the issue that has proved the main stumbling block in negotiations.

That is the union demand for companywide contracts covering all aspects of each company's far-flung, diversified operations, with common expiration dates.

The unions, whose members received an average $3.26 an hour when the strike started, have been seeking a three-year contract with a $1 an hour overall boost.

Other firms involved in White House-ordered talks in Washington are Anaconda and American Smelting & Refining. It is presumed any settlement agreed to by one or more of the firms likely would set the mold for agreements with the others.

Lobb Lists Changes

Crucible Reorganizes, Gregg Leaves Company

Crucible Steel Co. has announced completion of a nationwide reorganization of operating divisions and some management changes, including the naming of aides to replace W. E. Gregg, executive vice president, who resigned last week.

John C. Lobb, president, explained the completion of the reorganization into six operating divisions which began last fall. Lobb said "The resulting autonomy of the divisions produces more participative management and better identification of costs and profit responsibility while eliminating much duplication of overhead."

Under the de-centralized concept, adopted last August, the functions of production purchasing, marketing, warehousing, accounting, personnel and data automation, have been transferred to the respective presidents of Crucible's newly-formed operating divisions.

The company also revealed the first significant management change to take place since Lobb's election as president last April.

The post of executive vice president, is eliminated following the resignation of Gregg.

Gregg, 54, also resigned from the Crucible board of directors and no candidates have been announced, Lobb said.

Group vice presidents Guy F. McCracken and Eugene A. March and vice president Frederick C. Langenberg, will assume the duties formerly assigned to Gregg and report directly to the president.

McCracken is named group vice president steel, and March, senior vice president—staff.

Primary responsibility for the company's steel operation will go to McCracken to whom the company's three commercial vice presidents also will report.

McCracken, 44, is a former works manager at Crucible's Midland plant. He served from 1964-66.

Casualties Seen Light

U.S. spokesmen said casualties at the naval complex were light, but they reported numerous fires and secondary explosions in stockpiles of ammunition and other war materiel.

More artillery rounds, about 200 of them, landed on a South Vietnamese outpost 11 miles below the DMZ, and nearly 40 shells hit a nearby base camp of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division. No casualties or serious damage was reported at the Marine camp, and one soldier was killed at the government outpost.

For the third straight day, the Marines at besieged Khe Sanh received more than 250 rounds of rocket, artillery and mortar fire Sunday. U.S. headquarters said American casualties were light.

Air Strikes Made

The Americans countered with fighter-bomber raids against North Vietnamese gun positions inside the DMZ, and B52 saturation bombing attacks on suspected positions of enemy troops menacing Khe Sanh and Hue. The B52s also struck at enemy positions 12 miles northwest of Dak To, near the Cambodian border, and 25 miles northeast of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen for the first time reported a Communist truck convoy in the vicinity of Hue. They said American gunship helicopters sighted eight camouflaged trucks 15 miles southwest of Hue last Friday and destroyed all eight with rocket and machine-gun fire. Seven of the trucks were two and a half tonners and one was three quarters of a ton, the spokesmen said.

Troop Buildup Reported

Gen. William C. Westmoreland activated the new military command for South Vietnam's northernmost provinces where the Communist forces along the frontier had grown to five divisions, or about 50,000 troops.

"Their forces are formidable," Westmoreland said. "We intend to confront them."

The Communist leadership considers Thua Thien and Quang Tri provinces part of North Vietnam. I anticipate more very heavy fighting."

Program's Seen Vital To Country

Secretary Talks Before Foreign Relations Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk urged Congress today not to delay or abandon foreign aid because of the cost of the war in Vietnam. He argued that the aid program is vital to U.S. prosperity and security.

"We cannot find security apart from the rest of the world," he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"And in the long run, we can be neither prosperous nor safe if most other people live in squalor or if violence consumes the world around us."

Rusk Faces Questions

Rusk prepared for today's appearance before the committee expecting that he would spend hours responding to questions about the critical state of the war in Vietnam.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, is one of the most outspoken Senate critics of the Vietnam war policy, and many members of the committee also have opposed current policies.

The committee has been trying for weeks to get Rusk before it for public questioning about the war. And his appearance comes amid reports that President Johnson is considering an increase of up to 200,000 men above the 525,000 already authorized for Vietnam.

Supports Foreign Aid

But Rusk was appearing officially to urge support of the foreign aid program, and he made only a brief indirect reference to the Vietnam war.

"Some say we should postpone or eliminate foreign aid because of the cost of our ef-

Accord Seen In Copper's Long Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) Two of the four companies involved in the eight-month copper strike reportedly have reached an understanding with 26 unions that may resolve a major roadblock to settlement.

The New York Times said today that official sources reported the understanding reached between Phelps Dodge, Kennecott and the unions would cover mines, smelters and refineries but not lead, zinc and fabrication operations.

The Times quoted official sources as cautioning against optimism that the understanding meant the strike which has idled some 60,000 workers would end soon.

But the report did indicate the two companies may have capitulated—if only partially—on the issue that has proved the main stumbling block in negotiations.

That is the union demand for companywide contracts covering all aspects of each company's far-flung, diversified operations, with common expiration dates.

The unions, whose members received an average $3.28 an hour when the strike started, have been seeking a three-year contract with a $1 an hour overall boost.

Other firms involved in White House-ordered talks in Washington are Anaconda and American Smelting & Refining. It is presumed any settlement agreed to by one or more of the firms likely would set the mold for agreements with the others.

Lobb Lists Changes

Crucible Reorganizes, Gregg Leaves Company

Crucible Steel Co. has announced completion of a nationwide reorganization of operating divisions and some management changes, including the naming of aides to replace W. E. Gregg, executive vice president, who resigned last week.

John C. Lobb, president, explained the completion of the reorganization into six operating divisions which began last fall. Lobb said "The resulting autonomy of the divisions produces more participative management and better identification of costs and profit responsibility while eliminating much duplication of overhead."

Under the de-centralized concept, adopted last August, the functions of production purchasing, marketing, warehousing, accounting, personnel and data automation, have been transferred to the respective presidents of Crucible's newly-formed operating divisions.

The company also revealed the first significant management change to take place since Lobb's election as president last April.

The post of executive vice 1967, is eliminated following the resignation of Gregg.

Gregg, 54, also resigned from the Crucible board of directors and no candidates have been announced, Lobb said.

Group vice presidents Guy F. McCracken and Eugene A. March and vice president Frederick C. Langenberg, will assume the duties formerly assigned to Gregg and report directly to the president.

McCracken is named group vice president steel, and March, senior vice president—staff.

Primary responsibility for the company's steel operation will go to McCracken to whom the company's three commercial vice presidents also will report.

McCracken, 44, is a former works manager at Crucible's Midland plant. He served from 1964-66.

Union Leader Ends His Fast

DELANO, Calif. (AP) — Labor organizer Cesar Chavez broke what he termed the "bread of social justice" Sunday with thousands of his union followers shouting "Viva!" as he ended his 25-day fast.

The farmworkers, clergymen and union leaders were joined by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D.-N.Y., in honor of Chavez' policy of nonviolence in the 2½ year-old Delano grape strike.

Chavez, 41, drawn and weary after his ordeal, appeared at a special mass of thanksgiving to the shouts of "Viva Chavez, viva Kennedy and viva la union!"

He took his first solid food since Feb. 14 at the conclusion of the mass. The symbolic portion of bread was tendered by Kennedy who told 7,000 persons gathered at the Delano City Park he was in their midst to honor "one of the most historic figures of our times."

Kennedy, who spoke the first few words of his brief remarks in Spanish, pledged to work for federal legislation for farm workers.

During the offertory of the mass, Paul Schrade, West Coast chief of the United Automobile Workers, gave Chavez and his union a $50,000 donation from the UAW. It will be used to finance construction of a united farm workers headquarters.

The 14,000-acre Guimarra Bros. Fruit Co. ranch near Delano has been a major target of organizing efforts by the union.

The ranch owners contend none of the workers is a union member or has any desire to become one.

To date Chavez has won contracts with 11 large growers in the fertile San Joaquin Valley area. Results were an increase in wages from $1.20 to $1.80 an hour and better piece work rates.

Police said the man was from Cincinnati but declined to identify him.

Seven Chiefs Are Replaced

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government today fired seven of its 44 province chiefs, including its man in Hue.

It was the biggest housecleaning so far as a result of the Communist lunar new year offensive. Earlier the government replaced two of its four politically important corps commanders.

Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa was replaced as mayor of Hue and chief of Thua Thien Province by Lt. Col. Le Van Thau, who had been assigned to the joint general staff headquarters in Saigon.

Khoa had been severely criticized by U.S. officials for hiding out in civilian clothes for seven days while the Communists overran Hue. One American official said Khoa did nothing about the wave of looting in the stricken city for 17 days and "by then everything had been stolen, sometimes twice."

It was more than three weeks after the capture of Hue before Khoa began to get the shaky government machinery moving at all.

New chiefs also were named for the provinces of Darlac, Binh Thuan, Vinh Long, An Giang, Ba Xuyen and Tuyen Duc.

A new chief also was named for Quang Duc Province, whose head man was killed in a helicopter crash recently.

Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa was replaced as mayor of Hue and chief of Thua Thien Province by Lt. Col. Le Van Than, who had been assigned to the joint general staff headquarters in Saigon.

Khoa had been severely criticized by U.S. officials for hiding out in civilian clothes for seven days while the Communists overran Hue. One American official said Khoa did nothing about the wave of looting in the stricken city for 17 days and "by then everything had been stolen, sometimes twice."

It was more than three weeks after the capture of Hue before Khoa began to get the shaky government machinery moving at all.

New chiefs also were named for the provinces of Darlac, Binh Thuan, Vinh Long, An Giang, Ba Xuyen and Tuyen Duc.

A new chief also was named for Quang Duc Province, whose head man was killed in a helicopter crash recently.

$314 Placed As Loss At Country Club

The loss in a Saturday night burglary at the East Liverpool Country Club, 435 Parkway Ext., was approximately $314, according to Manager William Warrick.

He called the sheriff's office after discovering the break-in Sunday at 9 a.m. Deputies Robert Beresford and Dave Brothers said the thief pried open a front window to enter.

Warrick told them the intruder got 20 bottles of whisky, gin and brandy, three boxes of frozen meat, seven cartons of cigarettes and two boxes of cigars.

Board Will Meet Tuesday Night

LISBON — An addition to the Title 1 program and a request for a survey of area school districts will be on the agenda for the local Board of Education Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the administration building.

The board will consider seeking federal help for another aide and $200 worth of equipment for a resource center at McKinley School.

Also under consideration will be a resolution asking the Ohio Department of Education to conduct a survey of five school districts in northern Columbiana County — Lisbon,, Leetonia, Columbiana, Fairfield - Waterford and East Palestine. The first three are exempted village districts, F-W is a local district and East Palestine is a city district. Together they make up the northeastern part of the county.

City Man Jailed In Assault Case

Joseph Moss, 40, of East Liverpool, formerly at Midland, was jailed at Beaver Sunday on a charge of forcible rape.

The charge was filed by Mrs. Bernadine Ott, wife of James Ott of East End, East Liverpool, and mother of several children.

Midland police said the incident allegedly occurred on Russell Hill Rd. in Industry Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Ott filed the charge at the Midland Borough hall.

Industry police and Pennsylvania state police at Chippewa were notified.

Mrs. Ott told officers she had come to Midland with her husband and Moss, and the latter later drove her to Industry.

Intruder Gets $100 From Coin Machines

LISBON — An intruder got approximately $100 in change from three coin-operated machines Sunday night at the Carousel, S. Market St. tavern.

Owner William Claborn notified police Sgt. Kenneth McKenzie at 7:15 a.m. today on discovering the broken machines —a juke box, pool game and cigarette dispenser.

Police said there was no sign of forced entry into the building.

They said the thief must have gotten in through an unbolted back door opening onto a parking lot. Claborn told police everything was in order when he left the tavern yesterday evening.

When Hawks Look At Doves

All over the United States, hawks are looking at doves with an appraising eye.

For the first time since Americans divided on the question of whether their militarists could scare the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese into pleading for peace, the bellicose faction realizes what the other side has been thinking about.

The question never was whether the South Vietnamese, provided they really wanted to be independent of North Vietnam, should be supported by the United States. This country always gives a helping hand to people who want to be independent.

But there are situations when desire is one thing and execution another. Hungary was one. Vietnam is another.

President Eisenhower knew this and refused to become militarily bogged down in Southeast Asia.

President Kennedy yielded to bad advice and started up the dead end street of military escalation, largely on the advice of Lyndon Baines Johnson, then vice president.

As president, Mr. Johnson went all out and involved this nation in a major war in Southeast Asia.

No one ever doubted President Johnson's good intentions. He wants to help South Vietnam be independent. He may want, also, to secure South Vietnam as an Asiatic military base for the United States in event of a future war with the Chinese People's Republic — but that's all right, too.

What is being doubted is President Johnson's military acumen and the soundness of the military judgment he is relying on in a remote crusade that has bogged down the United States in a hopeless struggle.

The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese show no signs of pleading for peace, whereas here at home there are signs that Americans, like the French, can lose patience with an endless war of attrition.

The propositions that have been used to rationalize the Asian crusade are threadbare. But one proposition never was discussed and certainly never confirmed in experience was the presumed ability of the United States to do what it would have to do to claim success in Southeast Asia.

Can it beat an undeclared enemy into abject defeat and dictate terms agreeable to the South Vietnamese — terms that would convince its own citizen-taxpayers the game was worth the candle?

Hawks now are wondering about this as much as doves as the U.S. effort goes into its eighth year of military buildup with no hope of ending the effort any time in the foreseeable future.

T-Necks

Whether or not turning turtle — the wearing of turtle neck sweaters a la the latest in male fashion trends — is socially acceptable remains a moot question in the tri-state area.

The hallowed halls of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association have barred the high-neck garb, while the exclusive Duquesne Club, a no less posh center of social decorum, is tolerant if not enthusiastic.

In East Liverpool, the turtle neck is acceptable at the Country Club, but frowned upon at the select Senate Cafe and some other centers of aristocratic standards.

A turtle neck has popped up in The Review newsroom with only a few scattered snickers and one small guffaw — that with an envious undertone.

The T-Neck is here — for how long, we are uncertain. But one thing about a tie — it hides a multitude of stains.

The 1968 Fire

Despite the tremendous damage wrought by the March 3 fire on the Diamond and E. 6th St., no one was killed nor seriously injured.

Considering the scope of the blaze and the long delay in notifying firemen, this was a remarkable stroke of good fortune.

Investigation has shown the fire had been burning some time and had been observed by several people prior to the actual alarm telephoned at 5:05 p.m.

Too many who saw the smoke and flames assumed someone else had called the fire department. Thus trained men and special equipment remained idle while the blaze spread through the crucial time period in which it could have been halted with a minimum of damage.

Had someone been trapped in the upper stories of the burning buildings, the import of this delay would have had a tragic impact on the whole community.

The fact that there was only property damage in the memorable Diamond fire of 1968 does not excuse the facts in the case.

It is not fair to any fireman, to any property-owner, to any other human not to call in an alarm when there is smoke or fire. Seconds can mean the difference of a scorched ceiling or a city block, a singed eyebrow or a row of charred bodies.

'I Will End The War!'

Guess Who's Coming . . . ?

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

From all reports, President Johnson's travel plans for the election year will be kept top secret. As a security measure there will be no advance notice as to where the President will show up next. One weekend he might appear at a Seabee base in Anchorage, Alaska, and the next weekend he could show up at a steamfitters' convention in Rochester, N.Y.

Art Buchwald

This has put a strain on everybody's weekend. There isn't a commanding officer of any U.S. base who doesn't live in fear that President Johnson will show up without notice.

While the military is prepared for any emergencies and can probably produce a decent show for the President, it may be harder for the President to fulfill his civilian speaking dates.

SUPPOSE THE President arrives in Warren, Pa., on a surprise visit.

"Marvin," he says. "Who am I going to address here?"

"Well, Mr. President, the only dinner going on now is a farewell banquet for Arleigh Shenker, who just finished up 50 years at the Houlihan Hat Co."

"That's all right. I'll talk to them about what the Great Society has done for the senior citizens in the last six years."

As they travel toward the hotel, word is flashed on ahead that the President of the United States is coming to Arleigh's retirement dinner.

Arleigh is furious. "I thought this dinner was for me."

"Now Arleigh, don't be angry. It's a great honor that the President of the United States would come to your farewell dinner," the president of the Houlihan Hat Co. says.

"Big deal. I work 50 years for the company, and finally, on the first night that you even acknowledge my existence, I get shot out of the water by the President."

"That's now way to feel, Arleigh. The President's paying you a great honor by attending your retirement dinner. Heck, he could have easily gone to Nancy Gordon's Sweet-16 party at the Holiday Inn instead."

"Well, I still think it's a lousy deal. Tomorrow morning the Warren paper will have nothing but news about President Johnson's visit, and there will be nothing in there about me."

DON'T BE silly, Arleigh. The press will report that the President attended your retirement dinner to every part of the globe. Your picture will be on the front page of every newspaper."

"Not if he brings his grandchild with him. They'll crop me out."

"Arleigh, your attitude worries me. How many guys retiring these days have the President of the United States as a speaker at their dinner?"

"Look, I had a good speech all written about the guys in the shop, and I even had a few nice words to say about you. But now no one cares what I've got to say. Why don't you just give me the watch, and I'll go home?"

"Hush, here comes the President."

The President arrives with his staff and 100 newspapermen.

He takes the speech from Marvin. "I have come to break bread tonight with my good friend, Arleigh Shenker," the President begins. "There has never been a finer, more loyal, dedicated American than Arleigh Shenker. And now in the sunset of his years . . ."

"Arleigh, what are you doing?" the president of Houlihan Hat Co. whispers anxiously.

"I'm burning my social security card."

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The stand taken by the Liverpool Township trustees, two firemen and two citizens pertaining to the assistance given to the East Liverpool Fire Dept. and the owners of the involved and threatened properties is disgusting and appalling.

It is understood that there has never been a formal agreement between the city and the township on the protection of property within the jurisdiction of the other. However, mutual assistance has been totally honored and in every instance where there has been a need, each department has been willing, and, in fact, has assisted and-or extinguished fires within the limits of the other's boundaries. This is as it should be. The one major fire occurring in the township during recent years was the Riverview Greenhouse fire to which the city sent men and equipment without any repercussions.

It appears that the Golden Rule has been forgotten: to wit: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

The tremendous amount of good will that has been generated by the willingness of neighborly assistance is being negated by the thoughtless acts of an infinitesimal minority, including the imprudent acts of elected officials. The indiscreet, inconsiderate, petty stand taken by these few reflect unfavorably the true Christian belief of the vast majority who actively participated or whose sympathies are with the East Liverpool Fire Dept. and those suffering loss.

Apparently a personal vendetta is being exploited on this occasion.

We, the firemen of both the LeCroft and Dixonville stations, want the people of Liverpool Township to know that they were never left without protection. There were men and equipment on duty at both stations to quickly respond should the occasion arise somewhere in the Township.

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The word is "Tell it like it is," and that is just what the committee looking into the civil disorders did.

As I make my rounds, the main topic is that the committee stated that America has a racist society. This statement is in disbelief of many white people. It is looked upon in awe by many black people. They didn't think the committee had the guts or soul to "tell it like it is."

Racism in America is not the South Africa style of racism — it is an American product, and America can do anything better than anyone else. American racism is a foggy menace that only reveals itself when a black man and white man collide in the fog. The riots were by black people, fed by black racism, but caused by white racism. The cry "Black Power" is a reaction to white racism, and "Burn, Baby, Burn" is a reaction against white abusive authority.

I think most white prejudice is an unconscious part of our way of life. An unconscious white racist has the same problem in reverse as a black activist. A black activist would not be a white race hater, but as he tries for the American dream, he is often used by black radicals. The white racist who is unconscious of his personal prejudices is often caught in the environment of a active racist. A race-baiting bigot can be dealt with, but a God-fearing, law-minding citizen who is practicing racism has to be educated.

I'm glad the report states that the riots were not of communist doings, although I believe that they add to any outbreak that is started. A black racist has no use for the communists because they are white, just as he has no use for Democrats or Republicans because they are white. As for the yellow-skinned communist of the Far East, it is in my opinion, just another case of unconscious racism. Sometimes it seems that America is more scared of China than Russia.

But there is hope. There are many Negroes who are not doing a thing for or against separation of our country. They don't pay attention to Martin King. They are just as scared of Rap Brown as anybody else. They go about their everyday lives and when they run into racism they complain only to God.

If the non-active Negroes could get together with the unconscious white racists, they could solve many problems with those two factions, getting along. Black racists couldn't get Black activists to riot, and white racists would not have any influence.

Our Money

The President's plan to ease the balance-of-payments threat — coming as it does under the shadow of unprecedented budget demands — raises fundamental questions.

How much of our real freedom have we delegated to government? To what extent has government, once our servant, become the master?

What have we permitted?

To use a term coined by some past alliances of politicians and economists, we have permitted our earnings and savings to be "channeled" into the "public sector."

Our government presents us with devices which, easily identified, come down to the same thing.

If we complain about inflation, which is due to an increase in the volume of money, we are told that the way to cure it is to levy more taxes. In either case we lose more control of our earnings and savings.

Inflation takes more to buy what we need or want. Higher taxes limit the amount we have left to spend.

When we protest about the tax collector's bite, our government accomplishes the same objective by playing tricks with the complicated laws, rules and regulations governing the personal and corporate income tax.

President Johnson manages to blame the American people for every fiscal fix that his extravagance creates.

When labor gets more pay, he blames both labor and management.

When a manufacturer, because labor costs so much at home or for some other reason beneficial to his stockholders, opens plant abroad, he is blamed for tipping the balance of payments.

When American travelers find they can buy things cheaper abroad, their allowances for purchases are slashed. The President, fresh from an around-the-world trip which had broad political implications, tells us that we should stay at home.

When complaints about government spending rise higher, the President and his economists point to the rise in the gross national product. They say, "Look how rich you are. We can afford to spend more."

The GNP figure is as phony a measure of our wealth as Confederate currency. It is a conglomerate aggregation. One reason it looks so big is that government spendng is one of its largest components. Another reason is that it is counted in depreciating dollars.

Every year, the President's managers propose new spending programs. Year by year, their programs pile up in number and in cost.

In 20 years government spending has increased fourfold, while the population has increased 30 per cent. A large part of the total in the new budget is chargeable to the growth of the cost of those programs beyond their original estimates.

Perhaps the reason Mr. Johnson takes this cynical view of us is that when election time comes a majority of us vote to keep our present master in office. As Kipling said:

"The burned fool's bandaged finger goes wobbling back to the fire."

Most young people don't believe in the (Vietnam) war. But most serve. I shudder to think of the cost the war is taking in the loyalty and commitment of our young. This is the biggest price we're paying.

In my view, the question is not whether the United States is sick. The question is rather whether so great a country, so complex, so numerous, caught up in immense changes, can preserve its democratic traditions — whether so many people can be a free people, and whether so great a power can remain a reasonable power.

'I Will End The War!'

Guess Who's Coming . . . ?

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

From all reports, President Johnson's travel plans for the election year will be kept top secret. As a security measure there will be no advance notice as to where the President will show up next. One weekend he might appear at a Seabee base in Anchorage, Alaska, and the next weekend he could show up at a steamfitters' convention in Rochester, N.Y.

Art Buchwald

This has put a strain on everybody's weekend. There isn't a commanding officer of any U.S. base who doesn't live in fear that President Johnson will show up without notice.

While the military is prepared for any emergencies and can probably produce a decent show for the President, it may be harder for the President to fulfill his civilian speaking dates.

SUPPOSE THE President arrives in Warren, Pa., on a surprise visit.

"Marvin," he says. "Who am I going to address here?"

"Well, Mr. President, the only dinner going on now is a farewell banquet for Arleigh Shenker, who just finished up 50 years at the Houlihan Hat Co."

"That's all right. I'll talk to them about what the Great Society has done for the senior citizens in the last six years."

As they travel toward the hotel, word is flashed on ahead that the President of the United States is coming to Arleigh's retirement dinner.

Arleigh is furious. "I thought this dinner was for me."

"Now Arleigh, don't be angry. It's a great honor that the President of the United States would come to your farewell dinner," the president of the Houlihan Hat Co. says.

"Big deal. I work 50 years for the company, and finally, on the first night that you even acknowledge my existence, I get shot out of the water by the President."

"That's now way to feel, Arleigh. The President's paying you a great honor by attending your retirement dinner. Heck, he could have easily gone to Nancy Gordon's Sweet-16 party at the Holiday Inn instead."

"Well, I still think it's a lousy deal. Tomorrow morning the Warren paper will have nothing but news about President Johnson's visit, and there will be nothing in there about me."

DON'T BE silly, Arleigh. The press will report that the President attended your retirement dinner to every part of the globe. Your picture will be on the front page of every newspaper."

"Not if he brings his grandchild with him. They'll crop me out."

"Arleigh, your attitude worries me. How many guys retiring these days have the President of the United States as a speaker at their dinner?"

"Look, I had a good speech all written about the guys in the shop, and I even had a few nice words to say about you. But now no one cares what I've got to say. Why don't you just give me the watch, and I'll go home?"

"Hush, here comes the President."

The President arrives with his staff and 100 newspapermen.

He takes the speech from Marvin. "I have come to break bread tonight with my good friend, Arleigh Shenker," the President begins. "There has never been a finer, more loyal, dedicated American than Arleigh Shenker. And now in the sunset of his years . . ."

"Arleigh, what are you doing?" the president of Houlihan Hat Co. whispers anxiously.

"I'm burning my social security card."

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The stand taken by the Liverpool Township trustees, two firemen and two citizens pertaining to the assistance given to the East Liverpool Fire Dept. and the owners of the involved and threatened properties is disgusting and appalling.

It is understood that there has never been a formal agreement between the city and the township on the protection of property within the jurisdiction of the other. However, mutual assistance has been totally honored and in every instance where there has been a need, each department has been willing, and, in fact, has assisted and-or extinguished fires within the limits of the other's boundaries. This is as it should be. The one major fire occurring in the township during recent years was the Riverview Greenhouse fire to which the city sent men and equipment without any repercussions.

It appears that the Golden Rule has been forgotten: to wit: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

The tremendous amount of good will that has been generated by the willingness of neighborly assistance is being negated by the thoughtless acts of an infinitesimal minority, including the imprudent acts of elected officials. The indiscreet, inconsiderate, petty stand taken by these few reflect unfavorably the true Christian belief of the vast majority who actively participated or whose sympathies are with the East Liverpool Fire Dept. and those suffering loss.

Apparently a personal vendetta is being exploited on this occasion.

We, the firemen of both the LaCroft and Dixonville stations, want the people of Liverpool Township to know that they were never left without protection. There were men and equipment on duty at both stations to quickly respond should the occasion arise somewhere in the Township.

FIRE CHIEF ROBERT BADGER
Officer and Men
Of The Liverpool
Township Fire Department

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

The word is "Tell it like it is," and that is just what the committee looking into the civil disorders did.

As I make my rounds, the main topic is that the committee stated that America has a racist society. This statement is in disbelief of many white people. It is looked upon in awe by many black people. They didn't think the committee had the guts or soul to "tell it like it is."

Racism in America is not the South Africa style of racism — it is an American product, and America can do anything better than anyone else. American racism is a foggy menace that only reveals itself when a black man and white man collide in the fog. The riots were by black people, fed by black racism, but caused by white racism. The cry "Black Power" is a reaction to white racism, and "Burn, Baby, Burn" is a reaction against white abusive authority.

I think most white prejudice is an unconscious part of our way of life. An unconscious white racist has the same problem in reverse as a black activist. A black activist would not be a white race hater, but as he tries for the American dream, he is often used by black radicals. The white racist who is unconscious of his personal prejudices is often caught in the environment of a active racist. A race-baiting bigot can be dealt with, but a God-fearing, law-minding citizen who is practicing racism has to be educated.

I'm glad the report states that the riots were not of communist doings, although I believe that they add to any outbreak that is started. A black racist has no use for the communists because they are white, just as he has no use for Democrats or Republicans because they are white. As for the yellow-skinned communist of the Far East, it is in my opinion, just another case of unconscious racism. Sometimes it seems that America is more scared of China than Russia.

But there is hope. There are many Negroes who are not doing a thing for or against separation of our country. They don't pay attention to Martin King. They are just as scared of Rap Brown as anybody else. They go about their everyday lives and when they run into racism they complain only to God.

If the non-active Negroes could get together with the unconscious white racists, they could solve many problems with those two factions, getting along. Black racists couldn't get Black activists to riot, and white racists would not have any influence.

Our Money

The President's plan to ease the balance-of-payments threat — coming as it does under the shadow of unprecedented budget demands — raises fundamental questions.

How much of our real freedom have we delegated to government? To what extent has government, once our servant, become the master?

What have we permitted?

To use a term coined by some past alliances of politicians and economists, we have permitted our earnings and savings to be "channeled" into the "public sector."

Our government presents us with devices which, easily identified, come down to the same thing.

If we complain about inflation, which is due to an increase in the volume of money, we are told that the way to cure it is to levy more taxes. In either case we lose more control of our earnings and savings.

Inflation takes more to buy what we need or want. Higher taxes limit the amount we have left to spend.

When we protest about the tax collector's bite, our government accomplishes the same objective by playing tricks with the complicated laws, rules and regulations governing the personal and corporate income tax.

President Johnson manages to blame the American people for every fiscal fix that his extravagance creates.

When labor gets more pay, he blames both labor and management.

When a manufacturer, because labor costs so much at home or for some other reason beneficial to his stockholders, opens plant abroad, he is blamed for tipping the balance of payments.

When American travelers find they can buy things cheaper abroad, their allowances for purchases are slashed. The President, fresh from an around-the-world trip which had broad political implications, tells us that we should stay at home.

When complaints about government spending rise higher, the President and his economists point to the rise in the gross national product. They say, "Look how rich you are. We can afford to spend more."

The GNP figure is as phony a measure of our wealth as Confederate currency. It is a conglomerate aggregation. One reason it looks so big is that government spendng is one of its largest components. Another reason is that it is counted in depreciating dollars.

Every year, the President's managers propose new spending programs. Year by year, their programs pile up in number and in cost.

In 20 years government spending has increased fourfold, while the population has increased 30 per cent. A large part of the total in the new budget is chargeable to the growth of the cost of those programs beyond their original estimates.

Perhaps the reason Mr. Johnson takes this cynical view of us is that when election time comes a majority of us vote to keep our present master in office. As Kipling said:

"The burned fool's bandaged finger goes wobbling back to the fire."

Rhodesian Government Hangs 2 More Africans

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia's white minority government today hanged two more black Africans convicted of murder but reprieved nine blacks who had been sentenced to die before Prime Minister Ian Smith declared independence in late 1965.

Four other blacks had been scheduled to be hanged today, but the government said clemency for them was still under consideration.

The execution last week of three blacks convicted of murder set off a worldwide storm of protests. The government's action today indicated it might be setting a pattern of death for persons convicted of murder and clemency for persons convicted of nonfatal terrorist crimes for which the death sentence is mandatory.

Those hanged today were Francis Chirese and Taka Jeremiah, who were sentenced to death three years ago for slaying a tribal subchief. They were accused of serving as executioners for an African nationalist party and shooting their victim as he slept with his wife.

They were hanged despite an appeal for clemency from Pope Paul VI and petitions from their attorneys.

There are more than 100 other Africans in Rhodesian prisons condemned to death, and the government is reported reviewing all cases in chronological order from the time they were sentenced. Some go back before the declaration of independence in November 1965. Thirty African nationalists who crossed into Rhodesia from Zambia are among those awaiting execution.

Smith's cabinet at a special session Sunday considered the cases of 15 condemned Africans, an official statement said, and nine sentences were commuted to various terms of imprisonment. It said four cases were still under consideration but "after due consideration it was decided ... that the law must take its course" against Chirese and Jeremiah.

The three executions last week, which were carried out despite reprieves issued by Queen Elizabeth II, brought down condemnation on Smith's government from Britain, the United States, black African nations and committees of the United Nations.

There were numerous demands that the British government take a stronger line against Rhodesia, but Prime Minister Harold Wilson made clear his government has no intention of going to war against the British settlers in the African territory.

Smith's regime said although it still considers the queen the chief of state, it did not accede to her clemency order because it was recommended by the British government instead of by Clifford Dupont, whom Smith appointed to replace the British governor of Rhodesia. The British government and the queen do not recognize Dupont as her representative.

Meanwhile, U.S. officials in Salisbury studied police reports of an attack by club-wielding Africans Sunday on a group of retired American schoolteachers touring Rhodesia. The party included two men and 16 women.

Three of the party were injured badly enough to be hospitalized. They were Gladys Long, 60, Theresa Kerbs, 72, and Frank Lawton, 75, of Wykoff, N.J.

The teachers were attacked by 10 Africans who beat them about the head and then threw stones at their bus.

Rhodesian Government Hangs 2 More Africans

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia's white minority government today hanged two more black Africans convicted of murder but reprieved nine blacks who had been sentenced to die before Prime Minister Ian Smith declared independence in late 1965.

Four other blacks had been scheduled to be hanged today, but the government said clemency for them was still under consideration.

The execution last week of three blacks convicted of murder set off a worldwide storm of protests. The government's action today indicated it might be setting a pattern of death for persons convicted of murder and clemency for persons convicted of nonfatal terrorist crimes for which the death sentence is mandatory.

Those hanged today were Francis Chiresa and Taka Jeremiah, who were sentenced to death three years ago for slaying a tribal subchief. They were accused of serving as executioners for an African nationalist party and shooting their victim as he slept with his wife.

They were hanged despite an appeal for clemency from Pope Paul VI and petitions from their attorneys.

There are more than 100 other Africans in Rhodesian prisons condemned to death, and the government is reported reviewing all cases in chronological order from the time they were sentenced. Some go back before the declaration of independence in November 1965. Thirty African nationalists who crossed into Rhodesia from Zambia are among those awaiting execution.

Smith's cabinet at a special session Sunday considered the cases of 15 condemned Africans, an official statement said, and nine sentences were commuted to various terms of imprisonment. It said four cases were still under consideration but "after due consideration it was decided ... that the law must take its course" against Chiresa and Jeremiah.

The three executions last week, which were carried out despite reprieves issued by Queen Elizabeth II, brought down condemnation on Smith's government from Britain, the United States, black African nations and committees of the United Nations.

There were numerous demands that the British government take a stronger line against Rhodesia, but Prime Minister Harold Wilson made clear his government has no intention of going to war against the British settlers in the African territory.

Smith's regime said although it still considers the queen the chief of state, it did not accede to her clemency order because it was recommended by the British government instead of by Clifford Dupont, whom Smith appointed to replace the British governor of Rhodesia. The British government and the queen do not recognize Dupont as her representative.

Meanwhile, U.S. officials in Salisbury studied police reports of an attack by club-wielding Africans Sunday on a group of retired American schoolteachers touring Rhodesia. The party included two men and 16 women.

Three of the party were injured badly enough to be hospitalized. They were Gladys Long, 60, Theresa Kerbs, 72, and Frank Lawton, 75, of Wykoff, N.J.

The teachers were attacked by 10 Africans who beat them about the head and then threw stones at their bus.

Dr. Brandstadt

If you believe that lightning never strikes twice in the same place, you should try being on hand at the Empire State Building. It is struck about 40 times a year — largely because it is so tall.

If, during an electrical storm you may be the tallest structure in which case lightning single you out for special attention. In such a situation you should run for cover or lie flat on the ground. You should not, however, seek cover under a lone tree or the tallest of a group of trees.

YOU ARE usually safe indoors during an electrical storm and, according to the National Safety Council, you need not be afraid to use the telephone, despite the fact that a 6-year-old boy in Lexington, Ky., was electrocuted while talking on the telephone.

—:—

CAREFUL INVESTIGATION showed that in this unusual accident lightning first struck an improperly grounded television antenna. It then traveled down to a window air conditioner that was running and entered the body of the boy, who was leaning against or seated very close to the device.

—:—

IF YOU ARE driving your car when an electrical storm occurs, your safest spot is inside the car. Unless the rain is so heavy as to interfere with visibility, there is no need to stop the car. Your tires are a poor conductor of electricity and will prevent any lightning that strikes your car from being grounded.

—:—

IF YOU MUST pull off the road, don't park under a tree or near a telephone pole because the lightning might cause it to fall on top of your car. If by some remote chance an overhead electric wire should fall on your car, your best bet is to remain inside it until help arrives. During this time, avoid touching any of the metal parts inside your car. If you want to summon help by sounding your horn, you should use a wooden stick or piece of plastic to press the button.

Q—Could a bloody mucous discharge from the bowel in a 60-year-old man be caused by anything but cancer?

A—Yes — ulcerative colitis, bleeding piles or amebic dysentery, to name a few of the possibilities.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Each Blames The Other

Israel And Egypt Reject New Peace Talk Efforts

JERUSALEM (AP) — Diplomats say U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring's efforts to set up Middle East peace talks appear to have broken down. Egypt and Israel accused each other of blocking a settlement.

Jarring told Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban Sunday that President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government had refused to meet with Israeli officials directly or indirectly.

Diplomatic informants in Jerusalem said Egypt had reverted to the hard line of no peace talks until after Israel pulls out of Arab lands it occupied in the June war.

Government circles here said Israel is ready to comply with any attempt by Jarring to bring the two sides together but will not give any advance pledge to give up the occupied territories.

Various sources reported late in February that Jarring was on the verge of obtaining Egyptian and Jordanian agreement to hold indirect negotiations with Israel. Then on Feb. 29 the Israeli government announced that the west bank of the Jordan River, which Israel seized from Jordan in June, was no longer considered enemy territory.

Cairo took this as an indication that the Israelis would not give up the occupied territories, and the Egyptian line hardened again. Israeli officials denied the implications which Cairo had drawn but conceded their government's timing was bad.

The semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said Sunday that Egypt rejected the proposed talks because Israel insisted that the Middle East resolution passed by the U.N. Security Council last November was "merely an agenda for negotiations with the Arabs."

The paper said the resolution was one of "definite measures" to be taken, beginning with Israeli withdrawal from territory of Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

Al Ahram said Foreign Ministry officials had explained Egypt's position to the ambassadors of the Soviet Union, Britain, France, Spain, India, Italy and Pakistan.

Violence flared again Sunday night in the Beisan Valley on the west bank of the Jordan. Three Arab saboteurs were killed in a running gun battle with Israeli troops as the Arabs fled toward the river.

Griffin, Evers Election Slated

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — White candidate Charles H. Griffin is an odds-on favorite to defeat Negro leader Charles Evers by a wide majority in a special election runoff for Congress Tuesday.

Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. for the 195,000 voters in the 12 counties of southwest Mississippi's 3rd district, represented 21 years in Washington by Gov. John Bell Williams.

Health Group Gives Report

LISBON — Few babies are born at home any more, but deaths at home are not uncommon.

The Columbiana County General Health District, which serves a population of nearly 60,000, recorded six births and 174 deaths at home in 1967.

These figures are included in the County Health Department's annual report submitted to the Board of Health and Health Advisory Council by Dr. M. K. Singer, county health commissioner.

An analysis of the 174 deaths shows 98 were men and 76 women. Sixty - five of the men were 65 or older and 61 of the women were 65 or over.

Heart failure, strokes and cancer were the leading causes of death, with 92, 39 and 17, respectvely. Pneumonia, which used to claim so many elderly people, was responsible for two deaths. Auto accidents accounted for five and other accidents for seven. There were two suicides.

The County Health Department records births and deaths occurring anywhere in the county outside the four cities which have their own departments of vital statistics.

Records in the health department at the Courthouse run from Dec. 20, 1908, to the present. Certified copies may be obtained for the statutory fee of $1 a single copy.

Unemployment Program Ready For Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Shafer administration, acting on the heels of the presidential commission's report on last summer's riots, will announce Tuesday its program to reduce unemployment in the slums.

Joseph W. Barr Jr., state secretary of community affairs, is expected to outline the program Tuesday before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Barr, according to a reliable source, will tell the committee the state plans to cooperate with private industry to get jobs for the unemployed.

The program would be tied to a statewide nonprofit corporation using public and private funds to provide preliminary and on-the-job training for the unemployed, the source said.

The administration wants to train 7,500 persons each year now classified as unemployable because they lack the necessary skills. The program would cost $700 per trainee.

Otherwise, there is little important legislation awaiting both houses, which return at 3 p.m. today.

Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said he hoped for movement of a House resolution to create a 12-member citizens commission to modernize the methods of the General Assembly.

The commission would be required to recommend its reforms within 90 days.

With last Monday's massive demonstration by 20,000 teachers as a vivid reminder of the educators' mood, House and Senate leaders classified the salary issue as the most pressing question before the General Assembly.

There was a general consensus in both chambers that it would take more than the $37.9 million set aside by the governor to satisfy the teachers.

Already the House and Senate appropriations staffs are plowing into the budget to shake more money loose.

CLEANING TIPS

From PRESSWELL

by Paul Seckman

Care and Cleaning Of Lace Garments

FABRIC FACTS . . . Lace is an open weave fabric. The more usual designs in lace are plain netting, variations in netting weave or openwork patterns of limitless variety. In adapting lace for use in garments, it may be sized to give it body or to prevent the shifting of the open weave. Lace has been usually identified with formal wear such as bridal gowns, or semiformal wear such as cocktail dresses. Informal wear such as street dresses and separates are made of lace or are lace trimmed as fashions change from time to time.

FABRIC PROBLEM . . . Because of its open weave construction and the fine yarns used, lace is susceptible to yarn snapping and fabric separation. Where the lace has been sized to give the fabric body and stiffness, the sizing increases the tendency of the yarn to snap because the sizing adds weight and brittleness to the lace yarns without giving these fine yarns extra strength. In the sizing process, improper curing may cause a degradation of the lace yarns resulting in fabric deterioration. Silk lace yarns, like all silk, is susceptible to degradation from chloride salts which are found in perspiration, many foods and liquids.

SUMMARY . . . Lace fabric garments range from unserviceable to limited serviceability. The loose weave construction and fragile fine yarns are the limiting serviceability factors. The weight and stiffness imparted by sizing does not add to the fabric serviceability. Instead, the brittleness of the sizing makes yarn snapping more likely. Improperly cured sizing is an additional fabric hazard. Lace fabric is bought for style or fashion and it is fragile.

Each Blames The Other

Israel And Egypt Reject New Peace Talk Efforts

JERUSALEM (AP) — Diplomats say U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring's efforts to set up Middle East peace talks appear to have broken down. Egypt and Israel accused each other of blocking a settlement.

Jarring told Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban Sunday that President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government had refused to meet with Israeli officials directly or indirectly.

Diplomatic informants in Jerusalem said Egypt had reverted to the hard line of no peace talks until after Israel pulls out of Arab lands it occupied in the June war.

Government circles here said Israel is ready to comply with any attempt by Jarring to bring the two sides together but will not give any advance pledge to give up the occupied territories.

Various sources reported late in February that Jarring was on the verge of obtaining Egyptian and Jordanian agreement to hold indirect negotiations with Israel. Then on Feb. 29 the Israeli government announced that the west bank of the Jordan River, which Israel seized from Jordan in June, was no longer considered enemy territory.

Cairo took this as an indication that the Israelis would not give up the occupied territories, and the Egyptian line hardened again. Israeli officials denied the implications which Cairo had drawn but conceded their government's timing was bad.

The semiofficial Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said Sunday that Egypt rejected the proposed talks because Israel insisted that the Middle East resolution passed by the U.N. Security Council last November was "merely an agenda for negotiations with the Arabs."

The paper said the resolution was one of "definite measures" to be taken, beginning with Israeli withdrawal from territory of Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

Al Ahram said Foreign Ministry officials had explained Egypt's position to the ambassadors of the Soviet Union, Britain, France, Spain, India, Italy and Pakistan.

Violence flared again Sunday night in the Beisan Valley on the west bank of the Jordan. Three Arab saboteurs were killed in a running gun battle with Israeli troops as the Arabs fled toward the river.

Griffin, Evers Election Slated

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — White candidate Charles H. Griffin is an odds-on favorite to defeat Negro leader Charles Evers by a wide majority in a special election runoff for Congress Tuesday.

Polls open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m. for the 195,000 voters in the 12 counties of southwest Mississippi's 3rd district, represented 21 years in Washington by Gov. John Bell Williams.

Griffin, 41, of Utica, No. 1 aide to Williams for 18 years, has largely kept silent, saying he has had the flu, since Evers' 33,706 votes led six white candidates in the first round of the special election Feb. 27, when 114,871 votes were cast. Griffin got 28,927.

A Negro-white split is expected in balloting. Whites have about 125,000 votes, Negroes 70,000. Voting on racial lines was in evidence in the Feb. 27 returns, in precincts and by counties.

Health Group Gives Report

LISBON — Few babies are born at home any more, but deaths at home are not uncommon.

The Columbiana County General Health District, which serves a population of nearly 60,000, recorded six births and 174 deaths at home in 1967.

These figures are included in the County Health Department's annual report submitted to the Board of Health and Health Advisory Council by Dr. M. K. Singer, county health commissioner.

An analysis of the 174 deaths shows 98 were men and 76 women. Sixty - five of the men were 65 or older and 61 of the women were 65 or over.

Heart failure, strokes and cancer were the leading causes of death, with 92, 39 and 17, respectviely. Pneumonia, which used to claim so many elderly people, was responsible for two deaths. Auto accidents accounted for five and other accidents for seven. There were two suicides.

The County Health Department records births and deaths occurring anywhere in the county outside the four cities which have their own departments of vital statistics.

Records in the health department at the Courthouse run from Dec. 20, 1908, to the present. Certiied copies may be obtained for the statutory fee of $1 a single copy.

Unemployment Program Ready For Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (AP) — The Shafer administration, acting on the heels of the presidential commission's report on last summer's riots, will announce Tuesday its program to reduce unemployment in the slums.

Joseph W. Barr Jr., state secretary of community affairs, is expected to outline the program Tuesday before the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Barr, according to a reliable source, will tell the committee the state plans to cooperate with private industry to get jobs for the unemployed.

The program would be tied to a statewide nonprofit corporation using public and private funds to provide preliminary and on-the-job training for the unemployed, the source said.

The administration wants to train 7,500 persons each year now classified as unemployable because they lack the necessary skills. The program would cost $700 per trainee.

Otherwise, there is little important legislation awaiting both houses, which return at 3 p.m. today.

Senate Majority Leader Stanley G. Stroup said he hoped for movement of a House resolution to create a 12-member citizens commission to modernize the methods of the General Assembly.

The commission would be required to recommend its reforms within 90 days.

With last Monday's massive demonstration by 20,000 teachers as a vivid reminder of the educators' mood, House and Senate leaders classified the salary issue as the most pressing question before the General Assembly.

There was a general consensus in both chambers that it would take more than the $27.9 million set aside by the governor to satisfy the teachers.

Already the House and Senate appropriations staffs are plowing into the budget to shake more money loose.

Vacant Dwelling Swept By Blaze

A one - story vacant frame house was swept by flames early Sunday morning, one of five calls answered by city firemen during the weekend.

The dwelling on Alton St., owned by William Faulk, was discovered burning about 3 a.m. by a resident of the area and the Pleasant Heights department was notified. Both Central and Heights firemen responded.

FIREMEN were on the scene about an hour and 45 minutes. Origin of the flames has not been determined. Five men with a pumper and squad truck from Central station and the Pleasant Heights pumper responded to the alarm. There were no injuries.

Two calls were answered Saturday afternoon and night. A light ballast shorted in a fixture at Fullerton's Market, 1308 Pennsylvania Ave. about 5:22 p.m., causing smoke.

Firemen from the East End station answering the call, said there was no fire, only a burning odor. They disconnected the fixture and notified an electrician. They were on the scene 15 minutes.

A ceiling light fixture caused damage to a home at 804 Chester Ave. occupied by Ralph Burson.

Firemen, who were at the scene 36 minutes, said there was damage to the ceiling in one part of the house, struck by flames before the department arrived.

KARL NORTH is the building's owner. There was no one at the home when the blaze broke out. It was discovered by one of the Burson children, who had returned from a neighbor's house to her residence for pajamas. The child discovered the fire and the department was notified.

Six men from Central and Northside stations answered the 11:18 p.m. call. Firemen said the blaze was caused by a wiring short.

Sunday, about 7:06 a.m., firemen were called to investigate smoke coming from a light fixture in a Princeton Ave. home.

Ray Richards of 938 Princeton notified the department the fixture was smoldering in the bathroom. The Northside pumper answered the call and was on the scene about 16 minutes. There was no blaze.

Sunday afternoon a work bench in the basement of a home at 1103 Oliver St. caught fire when someone apparently threw a cigarette through a window.

The home is owned by the Eddie Green Estate and is a frame dwelling.

Five men, once again from Central and Northside stations, answered the call and extinguished the flames. Before the department arrived some juveniles removed a lawnmower and boat from the area.

Firemen were called about 2:38 p.m. and were at the scene 27 minutes.

"I find it hard to accept assertions that we cannot afford to devote a fraction of one per cent of our GNP (gross national product) to building a safer and more prosperous world by helping other nations to make peaceful progress.

Development Speeding

Rusk said that in many countries needing help, economic development has been speeding up.

"If that momentum is reversed, the consequences for our prosperity and the peace of the world could be disastrous," he said.

He said the foreign aid program last year had been cut below the "minimum level necessary to sustain that momentum," and he urged the commit tee to recommend to the Senate all the funds asked by President Johnson.

Minors' Beer Party Brings Man's Arrest

A 21 - year - old Chester man is being held today in default of $200 bond, charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors in the Chester area by buying beer and wine for them.

Chester authorities identified the defendant as Randy Unzicker of George St., Chester, and said he was arrested late Saturday night in a bar on Route 30. The arrest was the result of a four - week investigation by Chester officers into the source of alcoholic beverages furnished teen-agers, authorities said.

Mayor Burton Ward and Patrolman Rex Cowey were contacted Saturday night by an individual who reported teen-agers were drinking on private property. The caller also furnished an auto license number, they said.

Officers said they halted the auto and found two teen-agers in it. Returned to the site of the alleged drinking party, they gathered up 14 beer and wine bottles, which were taken to City Hall.

Questioning of the juveniles led to the filing of charges against Unzicker and the defendant made a statement in connection with the case, officers said. Mayor Ward said Unzicker is named in four counts. With bond set at $50 on each count, he was remanded to the Brooke County Jail, where Hancock County prisoners now are being lodged because of scheduled razing of the jail in New Cumberland.

The mayor said the remaining teen-agers are being sought.

Vacant Dwelling Swept By Blaze

A one - story vacant frame house was swept by flames early Sunday morning, one of five calls answered by city firemen during the weekend.

The dwelling on Alton St., owned by William Faulk, was discovered burning about 3 a.m. by a resident of the area and the Pleasant Heights department was notified. Both Central and Heights firemen responded.

FIREMEN were on the scene about an hour and 45 minutes. Origin of the flames has not been determined. Five men with a pumper and squad truck from Central station and the Pleasant Heights pumper responded to the alarm. There were no injuries.

Two calls were answered Saturday afternoon and night. A light ballast shorted in a fixture at Fullerton's Market, 1308 Pennsylvania Ave. about 5:22 p.m., causing smoke.

Firemen from the East End station answering the call, said there was no fire, only a burning odor. They disconnected the fixture and notified an electrician. They were on the scene 15 minutes.

A ceiling light fixture caused damage to a home at 804 Chester Ave. occupied by Ralph Burson.

Firemen, who were at the scene 36 minutes, said there was damage to the ceiling in one part of the house, struck by flames before the department arrived.

KARL NORTH is the building's owner. There was no one at the home when the blaze broke out. It was discovered by one of the Burson children, who had returned from a neighbor's house to her residence for pajamas. The child discovered the fire and the department was notified.

Six men from Central and Northside stations answered the 11:18 p.m. call. Firemen said the blaze was caused by a wiring short.

Sunday, about 7:06 a.m., firemen were called to investigate smoke coming from a light fixture in a Princeton Ave. home.

Ray Richards of 938 Princeton notified the department the fixture was smoldering in the bathroom. The Northside pumper answered the call and was on the scene about 16 minutes. There was no blaze.

Sunday afternoon a work bench in the basement of a home at 1103 Oliver St. caught fire when someone apparently threw a cigarette through a window.

The home is owned by the Eddie Green Estate and is a frame dwelling.

Five men, once again from Central and Northside stations, answered the call and extinguished the flames. Before the department arrived some juveniles removed a lawnmower and boat from the area.

Firemen were called about 2:38 p.m. and were at the scene 27 minutes.

the likeliest target for a big Red drive, but recently one of the top U.S. officers in Vietnam said he now thought Hue would be the next objective.

forts to help defend freedom in Southeast Asia." he said. "But the freedom and progress of hundreds of millions of other Asians, the 250 million people in Latin America, and the 250 million people in Africa also engage our concern and are directly related to our own security and well-being.

"I find it hard to accept assertions that we cannot afford to devote a fraction of one per cent of our GNP (gross national product) to building a safer and more prosperous world by helping other nations to make peaceful progress.

Development Speeding

Rusk said that in many countries needing help, economic development has been speeding up.

"If that momentum is reversed, the consequences for our prosperity and the peace of the world could be disastrous," he said.

He said the foreign aid program last year had been cut below the "minimum level necessary to sustain that momentum," and he urged the committee to recommend to the Senate all the funds asked by President Johnson.

Minors' Beer Party Brings Man's Arrest

A 21 - year - old Chester man is being held today in default of $200 bond, charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors in the Chester area by buying beer and wine for them.

Chester authorities identified the defendant as Randy Unzicker of George St., Chester, and said he was arrested late Saturday night in a bar on Route 30. The arrest was the result of a four - week investigation by Chester officers into the source of alcoholic beverages furnished teen-agers, authorities said.

Mayor Burton Ward and Patrolman Rex Cowey were contacted Saturday night by an individual who reported teen-agers were drinking on private property. The caller also furnished an auto license number, they said.

Officers said they halted the auto and found two teen-agers in it. Returned to the site of the alleged drinking party, they gathered up 14 beer and wine bottles, which were taken to City Hall.

Questioning of the juveniles led to the filing of charges against Unzicker and the defendant made a statement in connection with the case, officers said. Mayor Ward said Unzicker is named in four counts. With bond set at $50 on each count, he was remanded to the Brooke County Jail, where Hancock County prisoners now are being lodged because of scheduled razing of the jail in New Cumberland.

The mayor said the remaining teen-agers are being sought.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I facilitate the ironing of sequin-studded blouses?

A.—Place the sequin side on a heavy turkish towel, which prevents the sequins from cutting the ironing-board cover, and also keep the tiny decorations from breaking.

Q.—How can I give warmed-over food as good a flavor as fresh-cooked?

A.—By seeing to it that the food does not come in direct contact with the heat. Place it in a double boiler and steam it.

Slick Trick With A Fence

One of the slickest tricks to come along recently is the storage fence, a great two-in-one structure that gracefully marks property lines while providing a garage for the rake and lawnmower.

It's literally a fence with an attached tool house that functions and appears as part of the fence. They're built in all shapes, sizes and styles, limited only by the home owner's imagination.

Although size is determined largely by available space, it's smart to stretch for every inch possible because a storage fence quickly becomes a favorite stashing spot for all manner of things. Even snow tires and paint supplies may sneak in.

TRY FOR A minimum three - foot depth and 12-foot length, and there will be room for virtually every piece of garden gear, wheelbarrow to sacks of fertilizer.

Inside, hooks care for the small implements and shelves take packaged pesticides and weed killers. One shelf, made of two - inch - thick planks can be built at a 30-inch height, 18 inches wide and three feet long to serve as a work bench.

Several features are basic to construction of the storage unit, including double doors that let heavy equipment roll through easily. Standard stud walls are the best choice, sheathed then covered with solid lumber siding to give contents full weather protection.

A finished interior helps, too, not only adding another layer of protection but also presenting a clean, neat appearance that inspires orderly use and care of equipment.

For a quick interior treatment, nail up rough boards — cedar, fir or pine. No finish is needed, but a coat of semi-transparent stain in a golden beige shade pleases the eye and keeps the unit's interior sunny looking.

A SLOPED, shingled roof with gutter and downspouts helps insure a tight, dry interior. For the floor, concrete should be poured over a vapor barrier.

Where to locate a storage fence? Think first of ready accessibility, but also consider its use as privacy screening along side yards or near the patio.

Style - wise, clean contemporary lines are easiest to handle and are entirely complementary to any type of house. A semi - transparent stain on resawn cedar siding and fence boards means top appearance with minimal maintenance.

Nearly any pattern works well for a storage fence. Just be sure that both storage unit and fence are either a horizontal or vertical pattern. A good one combines vertical tongue - and - groove siding with a vertical board fence that alternates 1-by-6s with 1-by-2s.

Small Cracks In A Wall Can Grow Into Big Ones

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Nothing makes a place look as though it is going to seed as quickly as a crack in the wall.

Even the smallest crack will spoil the appearance of an interior wall and a crack in the foundation will give the impression that the house may be about to tumble.

Tiny cracks are seldom due to structural defects. Normal settling plus the bumps and bruises of daily living can cause them. They are unslightly, however, and if you plan to sell your house they will turn away many a prospect.

BUT ASIDE from appearances, there is another good reason for tending to cracks quickly. Though not serious now, they can become serious through neglect. It doesn't take long to turn little ones into big ones.

Plaster is bound to develop a few hairline cracks in a new home as it settles. Older homes will develop cracks due to stresses. Fine cracks can be filled with spackling compound, a material that comes ready to use.

Larger cracks should be filled with a patching material. Ready - mix plaster is good. You just add water. Plaster of Paris can be used but is not preferred because it hardens quickly.

Chip out the loose material. Undercut the crack so that it is wider at the bottom than at the surface. This will keep the patch from pulling out. Wet down thoroughly and fill with plaster. Keep it damp for 24 hours for proper curing.

—:—

CRACKS IN basement walls should be repaired as quickly as possible to prevent seepage. Break away all loose and crumbling concrete. Again make it wider at the bottom, like an upside down "V."

Apply plenty of water to the widened crack. Then fill with a ready - mix concrete patch, the kind you just add water to. Use plenty. You can always trowel away the excess.

Cracks in wood should be sanded since dirt and wax will keep fillers from sticking. Use plastic wood or similar compounds. Overfill and then sand.

For very slight cracks or tiny dents the old reliable shellac stick will do very well. These are available in colors to match the old finish.

—:—

WOOD siding will now and then develop a slight crack. A crack in length of clapboard won't make it any less strong. It will not allow moisture to enter the house, but moisture will accumulate, keeping the board wet.

Use a putty knife to pry apart the board where the crack is. Then coat both edges with glue. Since you can't apply a clamp you will have to figure out another way to apply pressure.

One method is to drive a few nails along the underedge of the part, a few inches apart and not all the way in. Then bend up the nail. This will force up the board, pushing the edges of the crack together. When the glue is thoroughly dry, yank out the nails.

Army Official Clarifies Report On GI From Ohio

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP)—After six days in which varying reports were given on whether Army Sgt. J. Erbland, 24, was killed in action or missing, the Army notified Erbland's parents Sunday that the soldier's body had been found.

An Army spokesman from Bowling Green notified Mr. and Mrs. Erbland Tuesday that Norman had been missing in action in Vietnam since March 2. Then on Thursday, Erbland's name appeared on the list of "killed in action" released by the Defense Department to news media.

When Mr. and Mrs. Erbland tried to get clarification, an Army spokesman told them the report from Washington was erroneous and that their son's name had been placed on the wrong list.

Sunday, the Army spokesman came again to visit the Erblands. He said the body had been found and would be shipped back to this country.

Import Peril Spurs Talk Of Steel Accord

CLEVELAND (AP) — The threat of increasing steel imports is providing pressure for an early labor contract settlement in the U.S. steel industry, Steel Magazine said today. Formal bargaining will get under way in June.

The magazine said several U.S. steelmakers are offering buyers extended payment terms on strike hedge tonnage to relieve the users' concern about inventory costs and as a means of thwarting imports.

"Most consumers favor strike hedge concessions and have been seeking them for some time," said the weekly journal of metalworking. "Their position in asking such a favor has been strengthened by greater steelmaking capacity, larger mill stocks and easier availability of imports than was the case three years ago."

The magazine said the real impact of imported steel in the United States will be felt starting in April or May. The Great Lakes shipping season will be under way then and Midwest markets will become more accessible to steel shipments from abroad, it explained.

Steel said imports in January totaled 1.1 million tons, an increase of 41 per cent compared with January 1967.

"At this rate they are running about 15 per cent ahead of 1967's record of 11.5 million tons," it added. "Domestic steelmakers and importers expect the total intake this year to hit 15 million tons. During the 1965 steel strike threat period, imports spurted four million tons."

The magazine estimated last week's steel output at 2,885,000 net tons and said it was the fourth weekly production record this year.

Steel's composite on the No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap dropped 16 cents to $29.67 a gross ton.

Louis Stokes Starts Congressional Drive

CLEVELAND (AP) — Louis Stokes, one of several Democrats seeking the party's nomination in the 21st Congressional District, kicked off his campaign Sunday with a statement critical of present administration policy in Vietnam.

Stokes, 43, brother of Mayor Carl B. Stokes, said the bombing of North Vietnam must be stopped and efforts must be directed at achieving a negotiated settlement of the war.

Tips Offered On Problems In Flush Tank

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The flush tank in the very large majority of residential bathrooms differs very little from that used in the days when plumbing first moved inside.

It fills with water, which is sent rushing into the toilet bowl when a handle is pressed. And each of these tanks has a loose cover on top, so that it can be easily removed whenever a repair is needed, which seems to be more often than anything else in a house.

Most common of the annoyances resulting from trouble within the tank is the continuous dripping of water into the bowl.

After taking off the tank cover, see whether the water level is higher than the overflow, vertical tube you'll see there. If it is, water is going down that tube into the bowl.

The metal or plastic float at the end of a horizontal rod may have lost its buoyancy because it has sprung a leak.

Unscrew it from the rod and shake it to see whether there is water in it. If so, a new float is in order. If it appears to be in sound condition, bend the rod to which the float was attached. Bend it downwards, using both hands and working very carefully so as not to throw the entire tank mechanism out of alignment.

Replace the float, flush the tank and the trouble may have disappeared.

Another cause of this dripping is a defective valve at the top of the supply pipe, by which water enters the tank.

It may only need a new washer. Before you attempt to replace it, shut off the water at the valve under the tank or — if it doesn't have one — at the main shut - off valve of the house.

If, when you took off the tank cover, the water level was not above the overflow tube, but below it, the chances are that water is leaking under the rubber ball or pear - shape object at the bottom of the tank.

You will find that it screws off the vertical rod to which it is attached. The leak is caused when that ball fails to drop perfectly onto the valve seat — or the valve seat has rust or grit on it — or the ball needs replacement. The valve seat can be cleaned by rubbing it with steel wool.

If the ball needs a replacement, you can get it at any hardware store. While you're there, you should consider the possibility of getting one of the new gadgets designed to guide the rubber ball so that it drops exactly on the valve.

Be sure, if you buy one, that it can be installed easily. Many hardware stores have the inside of a flush tank on display. If so, have the dealer show you exactly how the installation is made.

Chester Church Fetes Govey For 35-Year Record

He held an exhorter's license and, with others, organized a Sunday School at New Cumberland which grew until the formation of a church there.

He joined the Church of the Nazarene and has served as teacher, superintendent and member of the official board. He is currently assistant teacher in the Men's Bible Class.

Mr. Govey was presented a Bible by the Sunday School.

Tips Offered On Problems In Flush Tank

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The flush tank in the very large majority of residential bathrooms differs very little from that used in the days when plumbing first moved inside.

It fills with water, which is sent rushing into the toilet bowl when a handle is pressed. And each of these tanks has a loose cover on top, so that it can be easily removed whenever a repair is needed, which seems to be more often than anything else in a house.

Most common of the annoyances resulting from trouble within the tank is the continuous dripping of water into the bowl.

After taking off the tank cover, see whether the water level is higher than the overflow, vertical tube you'll see there. If it is, water is going down that tube into the bowl.

The metal or plastic float at the end of a horizontal rod may have lost its buoyancy because it has sprung a leak.

Unscrew it from the rod and shake it to see whether there is water in it. If so, a new float is in order. If it appears to be in sound condition, bend the rod to which the float was attached. Bend it downwards, using both hands and working very carefully so as not to throw the entire tank mechanism out of alignment.

Replace the float, flush the tank and the trouble may have disappeared.

Another cause of this dripping is a defective valve at the top of the supply pipe, by which water enters the tank.

It may only need a new washer. Before you attempt to replace it, shut off the water at the valve under the tank or — if it doesn't have one — at the main shut - off valve of the house.

If, when you took off the tank cover, the water level was not above the overflow tube, but below it, the chances are that water is leaking under the rubber ball or pear - shape object at the bottom of the tank.

You will find that it screws off the vertical rod to which it is attached. The leak is caused when that ball fails to drop perfectly onto the valve seat — or the valve seat has rust or grit on it — or the ball needs replacement. The valve seat can be cleaned by rubbing it with steel wool.

If the ball needs a replacement, you can get it at any hardware store. While you're there, you should consider the possibility of getting one of the new gadgets designed to guide the rubber ball so that it drops exactly on the valve.

Be sure, if you buy one, that it can be installed easily. Many hardware stores have the inside of a flush tank on display. If so, have the dealer show you exactly how the installation is made.

Chester Church Fetes Govey For 35-Year Record

He held an exhorter's license and, with others, organized a Sunday School at New Cumberland which grew until the formation of a church there.

Jump Shown In Net Income At Ohio Brass

MANSFIELD, Ohio — The Ohio Brass Co. reports net income of $3,881,206, or $4.53 per share, on net sales of $60,720,155 for 1967.

In 1966, the company earned net income of $3,382,867, or $4.26 per share, on sales of $57,382,994.

Consolidated earnings were 5.9 per cent of net sales, the same percentage as 1966.

In his letter to stockholders, Chairman of the Board Roger A. Black said that he expected an estimated 10 per cent increase in sales for 1968.

"Earnings are expected to increase also," Black said. "It is, however, even more difficult than usual this year to foresee whether selective price adjustments and improved efficiencies in operations will offset higher production costs."

Commenting on shortages which have been a problem in supplying the electric utility market, Black said that the "demand - supply ratio is coming more nearly into balance—a healthy development. It is not believed that it represents a slackening of demand, but rather a more realistic appraisal of requirements and capacities."

Among the achievements of 1967, Black cited the start of production at the ceramics plant in Newell, the start of construction on a new multi-million-dollar research center and the acquisition of the Rectifier Division.

The American Red Cross collected nearly three million units of blood from donors during 1967.

Hearings Slated For 5 Cited In Narcotics Raid

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Municipal court hearings are scheduled for five of the six persons arrested in a narcotics raid at Athens Sunday.

The sixth person is a juvenile.

Police said Ravindra Shukla, 24, and his wife, Susan, 21, were charged with using a dwelling for illegal keeping, use and dispensing of narcotics.

Other identities and charges listed by police: Wayne A. Davis, 27, Cleveland, possession and sale of narcotics and carrying a concealed weapon; Arnold A. Waldstein, 19, Teaneck, N. J., possession; and Robert E. Richardson, 24, Marietta, possession.

Gas Line Explosion Rips Plant, Hurts 2

KENTON, Ohio (AP) — Two men were injured Sunday in an explosion and fire at the North American Rockwell plant here.

Officials said a gas line burst in the plant and when a worker tried to adjust the line it exploded and started a fire.

Donald Hinebaugh Sr., 64, of Huntsville, was engulfed in flames and had to be pulled away by his son, Donald Jr., 41, of Dunkirk.

Both suffered first, second and third degree burns on most parts of their body and were reported in satisfactory condition at Hardin-Memorial Hospital.

Authorities said there was extensive damage in the plant.

The plastic bottle industry expects to ship a record 4.25 to 4.5 billion plastic bottles in 1968, 17 per cent more than 1967.

No Filibuster Expected

Rights Bill Passage Seen Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Leaders, apparently assured they face no last-ditch Southern filibuster, are pushing for a quick, final vote on landmark civil rights legislation.

An overwhelming 61-19 vote Friday on the bill with its controversial open-housing provision cleared the way for final action today.

Indicating he has been promised that Southern opponents plan no further filibuster, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield scheduled prompt action on long-delayed money and Senate ethics proposals.

Senate action on a pressing supplemental appropriation that includes welfare funds for states was scheduled later today. Mansfield said he expected consideration of ethics recommendations to begin Tuesday.

Senate approval would return the civil rights bill to the House, which passed it last August as a limited measure dealing only with protection of minority groups' constitutional rights.

The Senate has added amendments that would eventually bar discrimination in 80 per cent of the nation's housing and extend Bill of Rights protection to American Indians.

It also wrote in an antiriot provision similar to a separate bill passed by the House last year.

House leaders said they hoped to bring the Senate version directly to the floor rather than send it to a House-Senate conference committee where it could become embroiled in a further stalemate.

The House could vote only to accept or reject the entire package if it were brought directly to the floor and leaders reportedly hope support of other provisions will outweigh opposition to the open-housing feature.

The House passed a more limited housing measure in 1966 but many of its supporters were defeated in the election that year.

The way for Senate enactment of the measure was cleared last Monday after seven weeks of debate and maneuvering when a 65-32 vote succeeded in shutting off debate on the fourth try.

The 19 opponents Friday included 15 Southern Democrats, two Southern Republicans and Sens. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., and John J. Williams, R-Del.

The bill's major provisions would:

—Gradually prohibit discrimination in the sale or rental of housing. By Jan. 1, 1970, it would affect all multi-unit dwellings except owner-occupied buildings with four or fewer units—and all single-family houses sold through brokers.

—Establish federal criminal penalties for interfering by force or threats with the right to vote, serve on juries, use public accommodations, attend public schools or engage in other specifically protected activities.

—Make it a federal crime to cross a state line with intent to incite a riot or to obstruct firemen or policemen engaged in suppressing a riot—or to make, transport in interstate commerce or teach how to make and use firearms, explosives and incendiary devices in riots.

—Extend to American Indians the protections of the Bill of Rights. Passed unanimously by the Senate last year, this portion has been stalled in the House Judiciary Committee.

Group Of Hardened Convicts Blamed In Moundsville Riot

MOUNDSVILLE (AP)—Prison officials think a handful of hardened convicts was responsible for last month's riot which destroyed the maximum security building at the West Virginia Penitentiary.

"There was a group of men in there who don't care for anything," said Warden Ira Coiner. "They are mixed up - troublemakers, some of them insane—all of them violent. They are the ones who did it. They are the ones who cause all our troubles."

The rioting early in the morning of Feb. 29 caused a maximum alert at the Penitentiary. Before it was over the maximum security building was destroyed by fire set by the rioters.

—:—

DIE-HARDS inside the building held out until the burning roof began falling.

"They were screaming, "We won't come out; come in and get us!" said Asst. Deputy Warden William O. Wallace.

"They were hollering things like "we're ready to die. . . we aren't coming out," Wallace said, "it was a miracle nobody was killed."

Thirty - nine convicts were kept in the maximum security building. One was injured during the rioting and another was apparently stabbed.

Wallace said he didn't think more than a dozen or 15 of the convicts actually took part in the uprising.

"There's a very curious code here among residents," he explained. "The ringleaders say 'if you're not for us, you're against us.' A man would be risking his life to stay inside his cell."

Wallace summarized the start of the riot this way:

"Several of them started raising a commotion. As the guards would run to one floor to stop it, it would start somewhere else.

"There are porcelain sinks and toilets in the cells. A man wearing heavy shoes can stand on his bunk and kick them to pieces."

Prison officials think one or more prisoners jerked metal pipe loose from the sinks and toilets and used it to pry open bars on cell doors.

Other prisoners were freed when the inmates grabbed some keys left behind when the guards were pelted with broken pieces of plumbing.

Members of the prison's string band were in maximum security for stopping at a tavern and quaffing a few beers while on a trip a few weeks ago.

The bandsmen, apparently not popular with the leaders of the riot, were left in their cells.

"The nuts in charge, I guess, were willing to leave them in their cells and let them burn to death," said guard Capt. Paul Barlow.

—:—

FORTUNATELY, somebody disagreed, and two inmates secured keys and unlocked all the cells.

The rioters took newspapers and started a fire. Mattresses, towels, sheets — anything that would burn — was tossed on.

The building's roof started burning. Every available guard was called along with firefighters.

The heat forced the convicts outside where they were met by guards armed with shotguns.

"Those fellows coming out of there didn't give a bit of trouble or say a word," Wallace said.

Damage to the building was estimated at $100,000. Prison officials won't voice their ideas on whether it should be replaced or repaired. They are afraid they might interfere with the findings of a committee appointed to investigate the cause of the riot.

The committee may discover additional circumstances and details of the riot but one thing seems fairly certain, it apparently was an offshoot of frustration that is characteristic of most prisons.

Search Continuing For Missing Bomber

PORT ISABEL (AP)—Weather hampered the Civil Air Patrol and ground parties Sunday in their search for clues in a Feb. 28 disappearance of a B52 bomber from Carswell Air Force Base.

Bits and pieces of a B52 were found Saturday on a beach on South Padre Island but fog closed in on the area Sunday, limiting search operations to the northern end of the island.

The plane disappeared from a radar screen while on a practice bombing run off Matagorda Island. Eight men were aboard the supersonic, intercontinental bomber. The Air Force said the aircraft had no nuclear weapons aboard.

Safe Carted Away

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Thieves broke into the grocery store of Gaetano Rago, 72, of West Philadelphia, and carted away a safe Sunday. Police said that inside the 300-pound safe was $15,000 in cash—Rago's savings which he had accrued over 40 years.

Fineman Hits GOP Stand On Scholarships

HARRISBURG (AP) — Refusal of House Republicans to back a resolution in support of the state scholarship program has brought a sharp rebuke from the Democratic floor leader.

Rep. Herbert Fineman, D-Phila., said in a weekend statement he was concerned the GOP leadership may be out to cut back the program.

The Democratic-sponsored resolution, introduced last week, would assure the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency that the legislature planned to appropriate $46.5 million in scholarship funds for the 1968-69 fiscal year. The amount was proposed by Gov. Shafer.

House Majority Leader Lee A. Donaldson, R-Allegheny, refused to give immediate support to the resolution, saying "something may have to be done about the entire program."

Fineman said that unless a resolution of intent is adopted, the state must await the actual appropriation of the funds before notifying students that they have been awarded scholarships.

Time was when decisions for the family were made by one person — the head of the house.

Not Today. Now such matters as insurance, investments, and property ownership are family topics of discussion. Decisions are made and carried out according to plan — a family plan. In today's world, planning is essential to fulfillment. This applies to planning ahead to meet emergencies, too.

Today, more people are looking into funeral costs and arrangements before emergencies arise. We call this pre-arrangement. It relieves others of so much responsibility and worry. It's really very simple — logical, too. We'll be glad to talk with you about it at any time. At work, or in your home, if you prefer. No obligation, of course. Please call at your convenience.

Three Mishaps Reported By Patrol Over Weekend

A 1955 sedan operated by a Columbiana youth was demolished this morning in one of three mishaps over the weekend reported by the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

The sedan, driven by William H. Matevich, 18, left Route 170, a half-mile south of East Palestine at 12:15 a.m., hit an embankment, went across to the west side and continued over the embankment into some small trees, officers reported.

The patrol said the auto, northbound, went off the road on a curve and traveled 286 feet out of control.

Matevich was cited for "speeding for conditions." He complained of injuries, but was not treated.

Both cars were damaged in a mishap on Route 7, a half-mile north of Route 46, Sunday at 8:55 a.m., officers reported.

A 1965 coach, operated by Jill A. Fullerton, 22, of Columbiana was damaged on the left rear and a 1960 sedan driven by Jesse G. Zirot, 46, of Negley received moderate damage to the right front as a result of the accident.

Officers said the mishap occurred when the Fullerton Auto, westbound on Metz Rd., pulled onto Route 7 into the path of the northbound Zirot auto and was struck in the rear.

The Fullerton car, forced out of control, struck six newspaper boxes, before it was brought back under control.

Fullerton was cited for failure to halt for a stop sign.

An area woman was injured and her auto damaged in a one-car mishap on Route 170 Sunday at 6:05 p.m.

Treated at City Hospital was Esther G. Gamble, 47, of the Y. and O. Rd. for lacerations of the left cheek and multiple contusions and bruises.

Officers said the mishap occurred when the northbound 1961 sedan went off the road onto the berm about 2 miles north of Route 30. The auto then struck the guardrail, damaging two posts.

The car was damaged moderately on the right front, officers reported.

Hancock Area Lions' Groups Spur Guatemala School Fund

Lions Clubs in District 29-L of West Virginia, including those in Hancock County, are advancing plans to help build two schools in Guatemala.

The Chester and New Cumberland clubs already have made contributions and a fund-raising project is being prepared by the Newell group.

Moundsville, Wheeling and New Martinsville clubs are among others in the area who have joined in the program.

District 29-L covers 15 counties and includes 47 clubs with some 1,700 members. J. Albert Logston of Newell, is district governor.

A portion of the Newell club's proceeds from its planned project will be donated to the schools, for which $1,031 already has been raised in the district, Logston said.

The school construction project was approved during a meeting of the district governor's cabinet, with members voting to raise $2,500. It will be part of the club's Care Program, called "Operation Amigo."

When the goal is reached, two buildings, each housing 50 children, will be built. Each building will have two classrooms, teachers' living quarters, warehouse space and latrine facilities. They will be constructed of clay blocks and wood, with the villages providing the sites and unskilled labor. One school will be built in San Manuel and one in Colonia el Progresso.

The district Lions will work in cooperation with the Guatemalan Lions District 3. When the buildings are completed a plaque will be placed on them reading: "Built by West Virginia Lions District 29-L." Meanwhile, progress reports will be sent to the district clubs.

This is the first project of its kind undertaken by a group of West Virginia Lions.

London Reports Panic Buying

Latest Gold Rush Being Studied

LONDON (AP) — The gold rush subsided on the London market today following the announcement by the seven-nation gold pool that it would keep the price at $35 an ounce. But on the Zurich market the initial demand appeared to be only slightly below that of Friday.

One Zurich banker said the gold pool's announcement "does not seem to have had the desired effect, as far as we can judge at this time."

The pound jumped to $2.3980 on the London foreign exchange market, after closing Friday at 2.39225, its lowest level.

At the daily gold fixing in London, at which representatives of the major dealers balance the demand for gold against the supply and set the price, turnover of less than 10 tons was anticipated.

Dealers said that despite the drop in demand for gold, there was no active selling by speculators who have built up hoards of the metal since the devaluation of the pound in November.

The consensus among London dealers was that the gold pool's action was sufficient to halt speculators but was not far-reaching enough to shake out sellers yet.

Frankfurt banks reported the demand for gold there had subsided but pointed out that Monday is normally a quiet day for gold trading.

"We expect to get a better idea of the trend at midweek," a spokesman for one leading German bank said.

The Frankfurt dealers reported both the U.S. dollar and the pound showed slight improvement.

The gold barometer of confidence in the dollar has been showing storm signals since March 1. Last Friday the demand on the London market reached panic proportions, 60 to 80 tons. Normally only 4 to 6 tons are traded in a day.

Calm Seen Shortly

Leading bullion dealers said Sunday night the statement by the United States and the other six members of the international gold pool should restore calm, although it might take a day or so.

Issued after a private meeting at the Bank or International Settlements in Basel, Switzerland, a communique reaffirmed the determination of the seven governments to continue selling gold at $35 an ounce. The members of the pool are the United States, Britain, Italy, Belgium, West Germany, the Netherlands and Switzerland. They meet demand from their reserves when no newly mined gold is available from South Africa.

William McChesney Martin, chairman of the U.S. Federal Reserve Board, had flown to Basel to get the statement of continued support. A similar pledge by the gold pool in Frankfurt last Nov. 26 and another by Martin and U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler on Dec. 16 stopped gold-rushes then.

Small Nation Troubled

The Basel statement was designed to quiet fears that the gold pool might break up because some of the smaller nations, particularly Belgium, are fearful that they can not continue supplying their quota of gold to the dealers in London. France has already dropped out for political reasons.

Martin beamed as he told newsmen he was very satisfied. But neither the bullion dealers in London, nor the gold speculators and hoarders they supply feel the United States can hold out for long.

The underlying cause of uncertainty is the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments. President Johnson's New Year restrictions on U.S. private investment abroad damped down fears for the dollar. But after the Viet Cong offensive in February caused expectations of further escalation in the Vietnam war, European bankers, economists and gold hoarders reckoned that the increasing cost of the war would eat up the saving resulting from Johnson's restrictions.

Gold buyers usually deal secretly through banks or open agents, but it is not hard to figure out where the gold goes and why, by following traditional patterns and piecing together reports on the gold trade.

Probably the largest single hoard lies in the Arab states of the Middle East, where dollars pour in as oil royalties. U.S. Treasury officials have been trying to wean the oil shieks away from gold for years.

Gold is also smuggled into India and Pakistan in motorized dhows, most of them sailing from Dubai on the Persian Gulf. That tiny sheikdom is the third largest buyer of gold on the London market. Rich Indians hold vast quantities.

Europe's middle classes have always hoarded gold as a hedge against war, inflation and currency collapse. Gold is a good bet to a Frenchman who has seen the franc devalued 14 times since World War I. But the Paris gold market handles only about 10 per cent of London's turnover, and far less than Zurich, which supplies the oil sheiks.

In Germany, Belgium and Switzerland, solid businessmen feel safer with a small proportion of their company's assets in gold.

The continental European with some savings has no central investment market available to him like Wall Street, which provides Americans a hedge against inflation while their savings grow with the economy.

In Spain, where uncertainty about the political future will continue until the people find out what comes after Gen. Francisco Franco, gold hoarding is increasing at the fastest rate in Europe and now is estimated at $20 million a year.

William McChesney Martin, chairman of the U.S. Federal Reserve Board, had flown to Basel to get the statement of continued support. A similar pledge by the gold pool in Frankfurt last Nov. 26 and another by Martin and U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler on Dec. 16 stopped gold-rushes then.

Small Nation Troubled

The Basel statement was designed to quiet fears that the gold pool might break up because some of the smaller nations, particularly Belgium, are fearful that they can not continue supplying their quota of gold to the dealers in London. France has already dropped out for political reasons.

Martin beamed as he told newsmen he was very satisfied. But neither the bullion dealers in London, nor the gold speculators and hoarders they supply feel the United States can hold out for long.

The underlying cause of uncertainty is the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments. President Johnson's New Year restrictions on U.S. private investment abroad damped down fears for the dollar. But after the Viet Cong offensive in February caused expectations of further escalation in the Vietnam war, European bankers, economists and gold hoarders reckoned that the increasing cost of the war would eat up the saving resulting from Johnson's restrictions.

Gold buyers usually deal secretly through banks or open agents, but it is not hard to figure out where the gold goes and why, by following traditional patterns and piecing together reports on the gold trade.

Probably the largest single hoard lies in the Arab states of the Middle East, where dollars pour in as oil royalties. U.S. Treasury officials have been trying to wean the oil shieks away from gold for years.

Gold is also smuggled into India and Pakistan in motorized dhows, most of them sailing from Dubai on the Persian Gulf. That tiny sheikdom is the third largest buyer of gold on the London market. Rich Indians hold vast quantities.

Europe's middle classes have always hoarded gold as a hedge against war, inflation and currency collapse. Gold is a good bet to a Frenchman who has seen the franc devalued 14 times since World War I. But the Paris gold market handles only about 10 per cent of London's turnover, and far less than Zurich, which supplies the oil sheiks.

In Germany, Belgium and Switzerland, solid businessmen feel safer with a small proporion of their company's assets in gold.

The continental European with some savings has no central investment market available to him like Wall Street, which provides Americans a hedge against inflation while their savings grow with the economy.

In Spain, where uncertainty about the political future will continue until the people find out what comes after Gen. Francisco Franco, gold hoarding is increasing at the fastest rate in Europe and now is estimated at $20 million a year.

McCarthy Expected To Visit In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Democratic Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota may bring his presidential campaign to Ohio next month, according to a group backing his candidacy in the Buckeye State.

"He hasn't made any definite commitments about coming to Ohio but we would like to get him here the last week in April," reported Dr. Martin Seltzer, a coordinator for Ohio Democrats for McCarthy.

Seltzer discussed the possibility following a meeting Sunday of leaders representing the five Ohio congressional districts in which McCarthy will have stand-in candidates on the May primary ballot.

Late April possibly could be fitted into the Senators schedule and "we'll know in a week," Seltzer reported.

McCarthy has allowed delegate candidates for him to be entered in the 2nd, 3rd, 12th, 13th and 22nd districts. Campaign offices are in the process of being opened at Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Cleveland and Elyria-Lorain.

"Right now we have I would say something on the order of 300 to 500 workers in every district at this point," according to Seltzer, a metallurgist at Battelle Memorial Institute here.

He said the McCarthy campaign is expected to blossom in Ohio next month. Door-to-door campaigns will be launched in the five districts to raise funds and drum up support for the senator.

7 Past Masters Are Among 82 At Grange Meeting

LISBON — Seven past masters were among the 82 who attended Saturday night's meeting of the Guilford Grange.

Butler Grange brought the traveling certificate to Guilford, which in turn will take it to the Salem Grange next Friday.

Mrs. Bernice Arter, master, presided.

Members of the Butler Grange also provided the program, "March Varieties." It included: Group singing; reading, Mrs. Joanne Mercer; recitation, Camille Wood; playlet, "Major Operations," Robert, George and Gertie Walton and Oliver Conser; piano solo, Merle Mercer; reading, Lowell Whinnery; vocal solo, Florence Ward, with Mercer at the piano; balloon stunt, Nancy Conser; reading, Esther Whinnery, and group singing.

The hall was decorated in a St. Patrick's theme by Mrs. Elden Whinnery, Mrs. Joe Mattevi and Miss Beulah Sell.

Lunch was served by the host grange.

Vietnam Policy Hit By Ohio Legislator

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Barry Goldwater would have been impeached had he been elected president and had the same Vietnam policy as President Johnson, says Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio.

Ayres told the Oregon Young Republican Federation in Portland Saturday that impeachment proceedings probably would have been initiated by Democrats.

Lowest temperature recorded in continental United States was 69.7 degrees below zero, at Roger Pass, Mont., Jan. 20, 1954.

OSU And Iowa Tie; N. Carolina In NCAA, Duke In NIT

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

If you think the two-handed set shot no longer has a place in basketball, you haven't seen Jim Burke of Marquette in action.

Burke sunk two long shots in the last 2:18 at Kent State Saturday night to carry the Warriors to a 72-71 win over Bowling Green in an NCAA first round game. Marquette trailed 71-68 when Burke connected on his first shot and his second long one with 1:40 to go was the last tally of the game. The Falcons had numerous chances to score after that, but couldn't put the ball in the basket.

Marquette was led by George Thompson, a 6-2 junior from Brooklyn, who lives up to the words of his coach, Al McGuire. "Thompson jumps like he's 6-6", McGuire has said. Marquette has a front line of 6-5, 6-3, 6-2, shorter than some high school teams, but the Warriors are 22-5. No high school team has a player like Thompson, however, who not only jumps but handles the ball, drives and shoots in a fantastic manner. He poured in 33 points Saturday night, 20 in the first half.

Walt Piatkowski, a sure pro prospect, paced the losers with 27. At 6-8 with a great outside shot, the Toledo product has a great future as a cornerman in the pros. He can also hold his own on the boards, but the Marquette leapers outrebounded the 6-9, 6-8, 6-5 front line of BG by a substantial margin.

Surprisingly, there were more fans from Marquette than from Bowling Green, though there was a sizeable delegation from the Ohio school. The fans enjoyed the by-play between the two mascots, the pin-headed Falcon and the huge-headed Warrior with a fixed leer.

The first game of the doubleheader, won by East Tennessee State 79-69 over Florida State, didn't offer much except Harley (Skeeter) Swift of East Tennessee. His mesomorphic body seems more suited to football, but he didn't get the nickname Skeeter by blocking and tackling. He impressed the crowd with his moves, passes and shooting and led all scorers with 22 points.

DENNY WILLIAMS, head grid coach at Follansbee, will coach the West Virginia team in the Ohio-West Virginia clash set for early June at Island Stadium in Wheeling. Harold (Toad) Mercer of Barnesville is head coach of the Ohio team. The game will pit Eastern Ohio senior gridders against their West Virginia panhandle counterparts.

THE "RON WILLIAMS All-Stars" will take on the Pittsburgh Steelers in a preliminary to the Pipers-Anaheim Amigos clash at Steubenville next Monday, but Williams will be able to play only if his West Virginia team is eliminated in the first round of the NIT. Sure to play are Al Salvadori of South Carolina and Garrett Ford, WVU grid star, while Norman Holmes and Dave Reaser of the Mountaineers will join Williams if possible. Members of the Steelers team are Jim Bradshaw, Jim (Cannonball) Butler, John Hilton, Dick Hoak, Ken Kortas, Paul Martha, Ben McGee, Bill Nelson, Lloyd Voss, Marv Woodson and Bob Jeter.

DENNY RIBANT, former Pirate pitcher now with Detroit, was ejected from an exhibition game Saturday because of the new rule, designed to curb spitballs, that prevents a pitcher from going to his mouth. Ribant drew a warning before the ejection.

Duke, stalled for a couple of days, finally completed the National Invitation Tournament field, and now that they are in, the Blue Devils hope for a fast getaway.

But the NCAA, already speeding along with one weekend of play completed, still is waiting for its last team only three days before this weekend's regionals when its tournament tempo really quickens.

Either Iowa or Ohio State will be the last team to qualify for the NCAA field when they meet Tuesday night on a neutral court at Purdue to break a tie for the Big Ten title and decide the automatic bid to the tournament.

Tournament officials took their time filling the NIT field. Not influenced by Duke's 12-10 loss to stalling North Carolina State Friday night in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament, the officials waited until North Carolina bombed State 87-50 Saturday night for the title and then took the Blue Devils over runner-up State.

Duke, one of the favorites, helps open the NIT Thursday night against Oklahoma City, 20-6, a team that averages 90 points per contest.

Marshall, 17-7, and St. Peter's, N.J., 21-2, another pair of hot-shot clubs, play the first game of the opening doubleheader with the first round of the 16-team field to be completed Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night with twinbills.

Iowa missed one chance at the title last Saturday night by losing to Michigan 71-70 at home after failing to make up a 16-point deficit.

Regardless of the outcome of the Iowa-Ohio State playoff, the winner is not expected to survive the regional at Lexington, Ky., in which fourth-ranked Kentucky is favored.

The Big Ten representative meets East Tennessee, 19-6, which got this far by beating Florida State 79-69 at Kent, Ohio, last Saturday.

Marquette, 22-5, after nudging Bowling Green 71-70 at Kent, takes on Kentucky in the second game at Lexington Friday night.

Houston, top-ranked at 29-0, is favored to handle ninth-ranked Louisville, 20-6, Friday night at Wichita, Kan., and then beat the winner of the meeting between Texas Christian, 14-10, and Kansas State 19-7.

Houston got through the first round with a 94-76 victory over Chicago Loyola at Salt Lake City last Saturday night as Elvin Hayes hit 49 points and took in 27 rebounds. Kansas State clinched the Big Eight title at home that night with a 49-47 decision over Oklahoma State.

UCLA, No. 2, is the choice at Albuquerque, N.M. The Bruins, 25-1, open against New Mexico State, 22-5, with New Mexico, No. 7 at 23-3, opposing Santa Clara, 22-3, in the other game there Friday night.

New Mexico State ousted Weber State 68-57 at Salt Lake City while Santa Clara won the WCAC title by whipping California Loyola 77-62.

The East regional at Raleigh, N.C., is wide open as Columbia, No. 8 at 22-4, takes on Davidson, No. 10, at 23-4, and St. Bonaventure, No. 3 at 23-0, collides with North Carolina, No. 5, at 25-3.

Columbia reached the regional by routing LaSalle 83-69 before Davidson overcame St. John's, N.Y., 79-70, last Saturday afternoon at College Park, Md. The Bonnies eliminated Boston College 102-93 at Kingston, R.I.

The winners Friday night play Saturday night for the right to the semifinals Friday, March 22 at Los Angeles with the finals there Saturday, March 23.

The NIT first round continues Friday night when Kansas, 19-7, meets Temple, 19-8, and Villanova, 18-8, takes on Wyoming, 18-8.

On Saturday, Army, 20-4, opposes Notre Dame, 18-8, and Bradley, 19-8, meets Long Island U., 21-1, in the afternoon before Fordham, 17-7, clashes with Duquesne, 18-6, and Dayton, 17-9, meets West Virginia, 19-8, at night.

The quarter-finals are next Monday and Tuesday, the semifinals Thursday, March 21, and the final Saturday, March 23.

The small colleges started today with Guilford, N.C., 25-4, top-seeded in the 32-team, week-long NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

In the NCAA small college division, Indiana State, Evansville, Trinity, Tex., Ashland, Cheyney State, Nevada Southern, Kentucky Wesleyan, and American International made it to the quarter-finals this weekend at Evansville, Ind., after victories last Saturday.

Wings Top Bruins 7-5

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Sid Abel had nothing to worry about. Everybody knows lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

Abel's Detroit Red Wings had blown a 4-0 lead and lost a shattering 7-5 National Hockey League game to Toronto Saturday night. So naturally, when they pulled a repeat performance and frittered away a 5-0 bulge against Boston Sunday, Abel still wasn't too shook up.

Not much.

The Wings steadied themselves behind relief goalie Roger Crozier and used third-period goals by Jimmy Peters and Frank Mahovlich for a 7-5 victory to climax a nightmarish weekend for Abel.

In other Sunday action, Bill Flett's last-minute goal gave Los Angeles a 4-3 victory over New York, Philadelphia blanked Minnesota 2-0, Chicago shut out Toronto 4-0 and St. Louis nipped Oakland 1-0.

In Saturday's other games, New York tied Minnesota 1-1, Montreal shut out Chicago 5-0, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 3-1 and St. Louis dropped Oakland 3-1.

It took the Wings just 28 minutes to rush into the 5-0 lead against Boston with Alex Delvecchio scoring twice and Gordie Howe, Pete Stemkowski and Bruce MacGregor getting one each.

But the Bruins staged a furious rally that tied the score with five goals in nine minutes of the second period. Ted Green started the surge at 11:29 and in rapid succession John McKenzie, Tommy Williams, Ken Hodge and Glen Sather hit. Sather's goal came with Boston short a man.

Abel brought Crozier in for the third period and the Wings held the Bruins off until Peters scored with six minutes left.

76ers Clinch East Title, Hannum May Leave Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association remains in Philadelphia for the third consecutive year—but 76er Coach Alex Hannum isn't saying whether he'll be back for another try.

The 76ers, defending NBA champions, clinched the crown Sunday afternoon with a 119-108 victory over the New York Knicks and Cincinnati knocked off second-place Boston 137-111, eliminating the Celtics. Philadelphia has a 7½ game edge, with a 57-18 record. Boston is 50-26 in the 82-game schedule.

In other games, Sunday, Detroit beat St. Louis 133-121, Baltimore bombed Los Angeles 118-89 and San Francisco turned back Seattle 118-112.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis tripped Chicago 115-109, Seattle got by San Diego 115-111 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 137-132 in overtime.

The 76ers apparently didn't expect to clinch Sunday, as the dressing room was bare of champagne, with only soda pop in sight as a happy Hannum went around shaking hands with his players and murmuring "great, just great. We did it again.

Hannum answered reports that he would leave the 76ers after the playoffs to go to another club by saying, "I'm complimented that my name has been mentioned for another job. I have not resigned here. My contract is up at the end of the season and I will negotiate with the 76ers or possibly somebody else.

"Right now I'm extremely happy and am thinking only of the 76ers and the playoffs. That's all that's on my mind right now. Let's just wait and see what happens."

What happened Sunday was a big second-period for Philadelphia, triggered by Hal Greer and Bill Cunningham, sending the 76ers from a 27-25 lead after one quarter to a 50-33 margin midway in the second.

Greer chipped in 13 of his 28 points and Cunningham 10 of his 18 in the spurt.

The Knicks, trailing by 29 points, 98-69, entering the final period gave a sellout crowd of 19,500 an exciting finish as they got to within 113-107 with 1½ minutes left before Wilt Chamberlain put the clamps to the bid.

Chamberlain poured in Philly's last six points to ice the verdict.

Dickinson Wins Doral Golf Title

MIAMI (AP) — Gardner Dickinson says he has "kicked away about 50 tournaments" in his 17 years on the golf trail, and he almost put the boot to another one when he finished the Doral Open Sunday with a bogey and double bogey.

But young Tom Weiskopf, with a chance to capitalize on Dickinson's ragged finish, showed that he, too, can kick away the golden opportunities in the clinch.

Surging from three strokes behind to tie Dickinson in a dramatic stretch run, Weiskopf blew it with a closing pair of bogeys and his 40-year-old foe walked away with the $20,000 top prize.

"I hate a finish like that," said a dead-panned Dickinson, "but I've got the check in my pocket."

The dramatic last-round duel, starting with the two men in a deadlock, was so tense that Weiskopf posted five bogeys and Dickinson three bogeys and a double bogey. It was the worst round of the tournament for both of them.

Dickinson wound up with a par 72 for a 13-under-par 275. Weiskopf took a 74 for 276.

Weiskopf, who missed a 10-foot putt at the 18th that would have thrown the match into a sudden-death playoff, had the satisfaction of taking over the lead in the 1968 money-winning race.

His $12,000 check ran his bankroll to $52,546 and shoved him ahead of Canadian George Knudson, who failed to survive the 36-hole cut here following consecutive victories at Phoenix and Tucson.

Killy will stop off in New York en route to two more World Cup events at Aspen, Colo. and Heavenly Valley, Calif.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The business of district championships now settled, 16 teams in each class set their sights today on regional crowns in their quest for Ohio high school basketball championships.

Regional tournaments this week at eight sites will determine the field of four Class AA and four Class A quintets that will battle for the coveted titles at St. John Arena, March 22-23.

Actual competition opens Wednesday for some of the combatants and runs through Saturday with AA action slated at Kent, Toledo - Bowling Green, Columbus and Cincinnati and small school matches ticketed for Canton, Bowling Green, Athens and Troy.

Top - ranked Columbus East (20-0) heads the Sweet 16 clubs into regional play with a Wednesday engagement against rugged Zanesville (20-2).

Coach Bob Hart's Tigers are favored to emerge as the Columbus regional king and go on to their third state championship. East socked Columbus West 81-64 Saturday to continue its title drive.

There were some upsets in Saturday's district finals. Columbus Linden McKinley, the 1967 king, was sidelined by tall and ambitious Newark 66 - 58 thus assuring new champions in both divisions.

Class A titlist Strasburg fell by the wayside earlier in district competition.

Other victims included third-ranked Cleveland East, an 80 62 loser to Euclid; unbeaten Brookfield, which fell to Hubbard, 65-55; Dayton Chaminade, the 1966 winner but a 77 - 66 loser to Dayton Roth and Toledo Libbey, which absorbed its third heartbreaking setback to Toledo Central, 59-58.

In Class A, top-ranked Northwestern of Wayne County and No. 2 Western (Pike) continued on their merry way. Northwestern ousted Badger 43-25 Friday and Western eliminated Zane Trace (Ross) 74-65 Saturday.

Fourth-ranked Convoy Crestview survived a 68 - 67 scare from Oakwood; two - time king Dixie escaped with a 67-64 triumph over lightly - regarded Twin Valley North; rugged Mansfield St. Peter got by Wynford 57-55 and Springfield Local clipped Avon 85-72 handing Avon its first loss in 21 games.

On paper, a risky projection might find these clubs emerging as regional champs with a spot in the state tournament:

Northwest—Toledo Central in AA; Mansfield St. Pete in A.

Northeast—Canton McKinley and Northwestern.

Southwest — Cincinnati Elder and Dixie.

Central—Columbus East and Western (Southeast).

But anything could happen at this stage. Columbus East and Western (Pike) are the only teams that still sport unblemished records.

Marietta, with a 15-8 mark, has the most unimpressive log in AA while Lincoln Heights, with a 12-10 record, has adopted a Cinderella role.

Joe Nuxhall's Father Dies In Hamilton

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Orville Nuxhall, father of former Cincinnati Reds pitcher Joe Nuxhall, died Sunday night in Mercy Hospital of an apparent heart attack.

Conigliaro's Eye Normal As Red Sox Score 14 Runs

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It looks like Boston's Tony Conigliaro is seeing just one baseball again — and seeing it well — and that should give American League pitchers some unpleasant visions about the upcoming baseball season.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder was hit on the left temple by a pitch from Jack Hamilton of California last Aug. 18 and he did not return for the remainder of the season or the World Series because of double vision.

But Conigliaro showed he is regaining his batting eye by cracking a single and double and hitting the ball hard in his only other at-bat as the Red Sox trounced Oakland 14-4 in an exhibition game Sunday at Winter Haven, Fla.

The Red Sox, who banged out 20 hits, broke the game open in the first inning by scoring six runs off Bob Rodriquez. George Scott contributed two triples to the Boston attack.

The new spitball rule continued to give pitcher trouble. This time two Chicago hurlers were ejected for touching their hands to their mouths in the Cubs' 3-1 loss to California.

Starter Frank Reberger was ejected in the second inning, and reliever Dean Burn was given the thumb an inning later. Each was given one warning by umpire Emmett Ashford.

There were three extra inning games Sunday. Two ended in ties, and both involved New York clubs.

The New York Mets tied St. Louis 1-1 in 14 innings, and the New York Yankees and Baltimore battled to a 7-7 standoff in 13 innings.

St. Louis scored in the sixth inning when Phil Gagliano reached third when Don Wilkinson misjudged his fly to left field and came home on Dick Simpson's single. The Mets tied it in the eighth on singles by Bud Harrelson, Ed Kranepool and Jerry Morales.

Brooks Robinson drove in five Baltimore runs with two homers and a double. Mike Hegan knocked in two Yankee runs with a pair of singles and kept Baltimore from winning in the bottom of the 10th by making a diving stop at first base of a ball hit by Dave Johnson.

In other exhibition action, Cincinnati beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1, Minnesota edged Detroit 5-4 in 10 innings, Philadelphia outslugged Pittsburgh 7-6 and Cleveland nipped San Francisco 5-4, Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 4-0. The Houston-Washington game was called off.

Don Pavletich was the key to Cincinnati's victory, pounding consecutive home runs. Leo Cardenas also homered for the Reds. Outfielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench both left the Reds for two weeks active duty with an Army Reserve unit.

Minnesota gained its victory when rookie first baseman Bill Hahn drilled a two-out single with the bases loaded in the 10th inning. Harmon Killebrew hit a solo homer for Minnesota, and Jim Northrup clouted one for Detroit.

Tony Taylor singled home Denny Doyle, who tripled in the ninth inning for Philadelphia's victory. Pittsburgh had tied it in the top of the inning when Jose Pagan smacked his second homer of the game. Cookie Rojas, Philadelphia's jack-of-all-positions, ended his holdout by coming to terms.

Cleveland got all of its five runs in the fourth inning off Mike McCormick and then held off San Francisco which scored three times in the ninth.

Los Angeles' new shortstop, Zoilo Versalles who came from Minnesota, drove in two runs and started three double plays for the Dodgers.

If you think the two-handed set shot no longer has a place in basketball, you haven't seen Jim Burke of Marquette in action.

Burke sunk two long shots in the last 2:18 at Kent State Saturday night to carry the Warriors to a 72-71 win over Bowling Green in an NCAA first round game. Marquette trailed 71-68 when Burke connected on his first shot and his second long one with 1:40 to go was the last tally of the game. The Falcons had numerous chances to score after that, but couldn't put the ball in the basket.

Marquette was led by George Thompson, a 6-2 junior from Brooklyn, who lives up to the words of his coach, Al McGuire. "Thompson jumps like he's 6-6", McGuire has said. Marquette has a front line of 6-5, 6-3, 6-2, shorter than some high school teams, but the Warriors are 22-5. No high school team has a player like Thompson, however, who not only jumps but handles the ball, drives and shoots in a fantastic manner. He poured in 33 points Saturday night, 20 in the first half.

Walt Piatkowski, a sure pro prospect, paced the losers with 27. At 6-8 with a great outside shot, the Toledo product has a great future as a cornerman in the pros. He can also hold his own on the boards, but the Marquette leapers outrebounded the 6-9, 6-8, 6-5 front line of BG by a substantial margin.

Surprisingly, there were more fans from Marquette than from Bowling Green, though there was a sizeable delegation from the Ohio school. The fans enjoyed the by-play between the two mascots, the pin-headed Falcon and the huge-headed Warrior with a fixed leer.

The first game of the doubleheader, won by East Tennessee State 79-69 over Florida State, didn't offer much except Harley (Skeeter) Swift of East Tennessee. His mesomorphic body seems more suited to football, but he didn't get the nickname Skeeter by blocking and tackling. He impressed the crowd with his moves, passes and shooting and led all scorers with 22 points.

DENNY WILLIAMS, head grid coach at Follansbee, will coach the West Virginia team in the Ohio-West Virginia clash set for early June at Island Stadium in Wheeling. Harold (Toad) Mercer of Barnesville is head coach of the Ohio team. The game will pit Eastern Ohio senior gridders against their West Virginia panhandle counterparts.

THE "RON WILLIAMS All-Stars" will take on the Pittsburgh Steelers in a preliminary to the Pipers-Anaheim Amigos clash at Steubenville next Monday, but Williams will be able to play only if his West Virginia team is eliminated in the first round of the NIT. Sure to play are Al Salvadori of South Carolina and Garrett Ford, WVU grid star, while Norman Holmes and Dave Reaser of the Mountaineers will join Williams if possible. Members of the Steelers team are Jim Bradshaw, Jim (Cannonball) Butler, John Hilton, Dick Hoak, Ken Kortas, Paul Martha, Ben McGee, Bill Nelson, Lloyd Voss, Marv Woodson and Bob Jeter.

DENNY RIBANT, former Pirate pitcher now with Detroit, was ejected from an exhibition game Saturday because of the new rule, designed to curb spitballs, that prevents a pitcher from going to his mouth. Ribant drew a warning before the ejection.

Duke, stalled for a couple of days, finally completed the National Invitation Tournament field, and now that they are in, the Blue Devils hope for a fast getaway.

But the NCAA, already speeding along with one weekend of play completed, still is waiting for its last team only three days before this weekend's regionals when its tournament tempo really quickens.

In other Sunday action, Bill Flett's last-minute goal gave Los Angeles a 4-3 victory over New York, Philadelphia blanked Minnesota 2-0, Chicago shut out Toronto 4-0 and St. Louis nipped Oakland 1-0.

In Saturday's other games, New York tied Minnesota 1-1, Montreal shut out Chicago 5-0, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 3-1 and St. Louis dropped Oakland 3-1.

It took the Wings just 28 minutes to rush into the 5-0 lead against Boston with Alex Delvecchio scoring twice and Gordie Howe, Pete Stemkowski and Bruce MacGregor getting one each.

But the Bruins staged a furious rally that tied the score with five goals in nine minutes of the second period. Ted Green started the surge at 11:29 and in rapid succession John McKenzie, Tommy Williams, Ken Hodge and Glen Sather hit. Sather's goal came with Boston short a man.

Abel brought Crozier in for the third period and the Wings held the Bruins off until Peters scored with six minutes left.

76ers Clinch East Title, Hannum May Leave Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association remains in Philadelphia for the third consecutive year—but 76er Coach Alex Hannum isn't saying whether he'll be back for another try.

The 76ers, defending NBA champions, clinched the crown Sunday afternoon with a 119-108 victory over the New York Knicks and Cincinnati knocked off second-place Boston 137-111, eliminating the Celtics. Philadelphia has a 7½ game edge, with a 57-18 record. Boston is 50-26 in the 82-game schedule.

In other games, Sunday, Detroit beat St. Louis 133-121, Baltimore bombed Los Angeles 118-89 and San Francisco turned back Seattle 118-112.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis tripped Chicago 115-109, Seattle got by San Diego 115-111 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 137-132 in overtime.

The 76ers apparently didn't expect to clinch Sunday, as the dressing room was bare of champagne, with only soda pop in sight as a happy Hannum went around shaking hands with his players and murmuring "great, just great. We did it again.

Hannum answered reports that he would leave the 76ers after the playoffs to go to another club by saying, "I'm complimented that my name has been mentioned for another job. I have not resigned here. My contract is up at the end of the season and I will negotiate with the 76ers or possibly somebody else.

"Right now I'm extremely happy and am thinking only of the 76ers and the playoffs. That's all that's on my mind right now. Let's just wait and see what happens."

What happened Sunday was a big second-period for Philadelphia, triggered by Hal Greer and Bill Cunningham, sending the 76ers from a 27-25 lead after one quarter to a 50-33 margin midway in the second.

Greer chipped in 13 of his 28 points and Cunningham 10 of his 18 in the spurt.

The Knicks, trailing by 29 points, 98-69, entering the final period gave a sellout crowd of 19,500 an exciting finish as they got to within 113-107 with 1½ minutes left before Wilt Chamberlain put the clamps to the bid.

Chamberlain poured in Philly's last six points to ice the verdict.

Dickinson Wins Doral Golf Title

MIAMI (AP) — Gardner Dickinson says he has "kicked away about 50 tournaments" in his 17 years on the golf trail, and he almost put the boot to another one when he finished the Doral Open Sunday with a bogey and double bogey.

But young Tom Weiskopf, with a chance to capitalize on Dickinson's ragged finish, showed that he, too, can kick away the golden opportunities in the clinch.

Surging from three strokes behind to tie Dickinson in a dramatic stretch run, Weiskopf blew it with a closing pair of bogeys and his 40-year-old foe walked away with the $20,000 top prize.

"I hate a finish like that," said a dead-panned Dickinson, "but I've got the check in my pocket."

The dramatic last-round duel, starting with the two men in a deadlock, was so tense that Weiskopf posted five bogeys and Dickinson three bogeys and a double bogey. It was the worst round of the tournament for both of them.

Dickinson wound up with a par 72 for a 13-under-par 275. Weiskopf took a 74 for 276.

Weiskopf, who missed a 10-foot putt at the 18th that would have thrown the match into a sudden-death playoff, had the satisfaction of taking over the lead in the 1968 money-winning race.

His $12,000 check ran his bankroll to $52,546 and shoved him ahead of Canadian George Knudson, who failed to survive the 36-hole cut here following consecutive victories at Phoenix and Tucson.

Inconsistent Giants Try Again

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have everything but consistency.

Manager Herman Franks and club officials are trying this spring to plug that gap with physical conditioning.

If several key performers, mainly Willie Mays and Juan Marichal, had been available all last season, says Franks, the Giants could have won the National League pennant instead of finishing second 10½ games behind St. Louis.

The Giants held third most of June, slipped to fifth in July, and stayed in second or third through August.

Under the direction of physiotherapist Bert Gustafson, the Giants have worked hard, running three miles a day while in Case Grande.

They didn't get down to serious baseball until arriving in Phoenix to begin the Cactus League schedule.

"They joked they were going to take up a collection to send me home," said Gustafson, who is 55 but looks 40, "but several told me it helped.

"Strength and stamina have much to do with injuries. Unlike most athletes, baseball players use bursts of strength — running, hitting and throwing — and then they cool off. The muscles get stiff and tear."

Muscle pulls could be lessened by beginning spring training running without cleats and not on grass, says Gustafson.

What's good for Carl Yastrzemski is good for the Giants, said Gustafson, so the Giants spent $5,000 installing a small gym at Candelstick Park. Yastrzemski attributed the improvement in his performance to strenuous physical conditioning in the off season.

Mays, who had his poorest season last year since joining the Giants in 1951, says he's "ready to go," and feels like playing "10 more years."

Mays, who will be 37 May 6, hit .263 with 22 homers and 70 runs batted in while playing 141 games. The center fielder, whose 564 career homers is topped only by Babe Ruth's 714, had some early season injuries. Then he was hospitalized with the flu for a week in July, a month in which he hit only one homer.

Marichal, 29, reported on time this spring and says he is ready to regain the form which helped him win at least 20 games for four straight years.

Last season he reported late, pitched only once after straining a hamstring muscle on Aug. 4 and finished 14-10.

Jim Davenport, 34, with back and leg ailments, played 124 games and hit .275. He worked with Gustafson before spring training began and is apparently recovered.

Davenport, who played with Mays and 1967 Cy Young Award winner Mike McCormick on the first Giant team in San Francisco in 1958, has taken over third with Jim Ray Hart moving to left field.

The return of Davenport to third and the acquisition of Ron Hunt gives the Giants better defense in the infield, says Franks. And Hart, who hit .289 with 26 homers and 99 RBI, likes left better.

The Giants have won only one pennant in San Francisco, in 1962, but during the past 10 years they have the best National League record with 887 victories compared with Los Angeles' 876.

Pipers Close In On Crown

By The Associated Press

Connie Hawkins and Chico Vaughn turned on their magical scoring touch and presto. . .New Jersey disappeared and Pittsburgh's magic number shrunk to two.

Hawkins scored 36 points and Vaughn 25 as the Pipers mauled the Americans 122-106 at home Sunday night in the American Basketball Association for a three-game lead over Minnesota in the Eastern Division.

The Pipers, with four games left, now need any combination of two victories or two Muskies losses to win the title.

Hawkins dunked a basket to break a 75-all tie and New Jersey, trying to hang on for the fourth and final playoff spot in the East, never caught up.

New Orleans had its Western Division title hopes delayed when the Bucs dropped a 113-105 decision to visiting Indiana while Dallas edged host Anaheim 112-110 and Houston belted Oakland 122-94 at Houston in other games.

Indiana, which trounced New Jersey 120-99 Saturday night, broke away from an 85-83 lead entering the last quarter and Jimmy Rayl scored six points in the last minute to clinch the victory. Roger Brown finished with 32 points for Indiana.

New Orleans now leads Denver by only three games despite the Rockets' 107-102 loss to Kentucky Saturday night.

Dallas, which halted Pittsburgh 129-109 Saturday night, moved a half game back of Denver when Charles Beasley hit two free throws with four seconds left against Anaheim, eliminating the Amigos from the playoffs.

The Chaparrals had to make up a 105-96 deficit with 3:39 left.

Houston, all but wrapping up the fourth playoff spot in the West, hit its first 10 shots from the field in the second half to break away from a 49-44 halftime lead. Art Becker had 25 points, but the Oaks' Jim Hadnot took scoring honors with 33.

U.S. Skiers Win Most National Championships

SEATTLE (AP) — All the U.S. titles but two were in the hands of the natives today. After Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., and Judy Nagle of Enumclaw, Wash., won Sunday's slalom competition to wind up the 1968 National Alpine Ski Championships.

The exceptions were the men's downhill and combined crowns, which went to Scott Henderson, 34-year-old Canadian star from Banff, Alta.

Most of the ski riders who competed in the three-day event on Crystal Mountain, 76 miles southeast of Seattle, left immediately for Aspen, Colo. to compete in the Roche Cup Races.

Winning both slalom and combined championships for the feminine side of the snow scramble, 16-year-old Miss Nagle typifies the youth movement taking command in U.S. Alpine skiing.

Ann Black, 18, of Seattle won the women's downhill on opening day and Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Vt., also 18, took Saturday's giant slalom.

Chaffee's victory made it two straight for the Denver University graduate who had triumphed the day before in the giant slalom. "I love this country," said the 23-year-old Vermonter whose dismal 49th in the downhill kept him from winning the combined title along with his others.

Henderson had scored second in the giant slalom and was fourth in the slalom behind Jere Elliott of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and defending champion Jim Huega of Tahoe City, Calif.

Charleston Favored In W. Virginia

By The Associated Press

After some 25 weeks of hardwood action, West Virginia's high school basketball tournament field has narrowed to 12 teams which will battle for state championship honors in three classes Thursday through Saturday.

Top - ranked and unbeaten Charleston High has to be considered the Class-AAA favorite with third - ranked Beckley picked as runnerup.

Charleston scored a 57-51 victory over second - ranked Williamson Saturday night for the Region 4 championship. And Beckley edged Herbert Hoover 83-79 in Region 3.

The Mountain Lions take on Wheeling Friday afternoon and Beckley meets Martinsburg Friday night in Class-AAA first-round games.

Wheeling advanced to the state tournament on a 77-72 victory over Parkersburg in Region 1, and Martinsburg overpowered Lewis County 89-49 in Region 2.

Mullens gets the nod in Class-AA tournament play. Paced by junior guard Mike D'Antoni, Mullens boasts a 21-3 record, including a regular season split with triple-A power Beckley.

An unknown quantity in the Class-AA field is Charles Town. Owner of a 24-0 record, the Eastern Panhandle team went almost unnoticed until late in the season.

Mullens is matched against Charles Town Thursday night, while Ceredo-Kenova is paired against St. Marys in an afternoon game.

In Class-A action, Marlinton faces Fort Ashby Friday afternoon, prior to the Charleston-Wheeling triple-A game, and Barrackville plays Harts Friday night before Beckley and Martinsburg square off.

Marlinton and Barrackville are expected to advance to the finals Saturday afternoon, with Marlinton the championship choice on the strength of a 20-3 record.

St. Francis Wins State Swimming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toledo St. Francis, holding a slim lead in the final event, won the 400-yard freestyle relay in near-record time to clinch its second straight team title in the State High School Swimming and Diving Championships Saturday.

The Toledo team was just ahead of Upper Arlington by eight points going into the 400 but Tom Blank, Phil Johnson, Dyke Edwards and Bill Murtaught were clocked at 3:22.4, just .4 seconds off the meet record, to clinch the title for St. Francis.

The winners racked up a total of 152 points followed by Upper Arlington's 136.33. Cuyahoga Falls was third with 93.

Team scoring: Toledo St. Francis 152; Upper Arlington 136.33; Cuyahoga Falls 93; Lakewood 78; Kent State 71; Canton McKinley 71; Fairview Park 63; Akron Firestone 61.66; Cincinnati Western Hills 53; Cleveland Heights 51; Cleveland Shaw 53.5; Cleveland Brush 42; Cincinnati Princeton 31; Findlay 28.5; Shaker Heights 27; Sandusky 23.16; Mentor 22; Worthington 19; Berea 19; Columbus Academy 16.

Miami Wins Mid-America Swim Title

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Miami of Ohio beat off stubborn efforts by host Ohio University Saturday to clinch its second straight Mid-American Conference swimming crown.

Miami piled up 149½ points during the three - day meet while the Bobcats settled for the runner-up spot with 114½ points as the Redskins claimed nine of the 18 events while Ohio U. won five.

Big stars of the meet were Miami's John Russell and Bob Shaw and Ohio's Neil Wade.

Three records were broken Saturday, including Shaw's top time of 47.5 in the 100 - yard freestyle. During the meet Shaw won three events, tied one record and set two others.

Russell earlier won the 100 and 200-yard butterfly and the 200 individual medley to set two records.

Wade turned in a 2:16.8 to set a new MAC mark Saturday in the 200-yard breaststroke. He earlier won the 100.

In the 400-yard medley relay, Neil Krueger, Dave Solomon, Tony Saridakis and Wade were clocked at 3:39.2 to give the Bobcats another event.

Piniella, Vidal Lead Indian Win

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Indians' 5-4 exhibition victory over the San Francisco Giants Sunday was a moist affair, and some of the moisture was on Sonny Siebert's pitching fingers —despite Sonny's best efforts at breaking the habit.

The habit of licking his fingers, that is.

National League Umpire Chris Pelakoudas reminded Siebert of the new rule after the first pitch, but Siebert had trouble remembering. His teammates on the bench spotted him moistening his fingers six times in one inning alone.

"I've just got to concentrate on breaking that habit," said Sonny.

He gave up one run; Bob Allen allowed only one hit in two innings, and knuckleballer Bob Tiefenauer set the Giants down in order in the sixth. Orlando Pena blanked the Giants for two frames but got in trouble in the ninth, when San Francisco picked up three runs.

The Indians scored all their runs in the fifth. Lou Piniella knocked in two runs with a single, and another rookie, Jose Vidal, followed with a mighty three-run homer.

E. Liverpool Wins Jaycee Hoop Title

The East Liverpool number one team won the District 20 Jaycee basketball championships at the Memorial Auditorium Saturday by downing Lisbon 56-33.

Jack Reynolds paced the winners with 21, while Bob Campbell added 16 and Jack Vodrey 10. Dowd had 21 for the losers.

East Liverpool nipped Wellsville in their first game 48-46, then topped East Palestine 58-48 to gain the final. Lisbon opened with a 33-25 win over Columbiana and then decisioned East Liverpool number two 41-34. Eight teams were entered in the single elimination tournament.

Campbell was chairman of the tournament. The winner does not advance to any larger tournament.

Tay Baker Wants Cincy To Join MAC

CINCINNATI (AP) — Basketball coach Tay Baker feels that the University of Cincinnati should make a break with the Missouri Valley Conference and rejoin the Mid-American Conference.

And he said the switch from the prestigious basketball world of the MVC would not hurt UC basketball.

He said the MAC offers "a total athletic program . . . natural rivalries . . . geographical nearness . . . and at least two long-time traditional UC rivalries, Miami University and Ohio University."

Baker, piloting UC cagers since 1965, and other MVC coaches reportedly are disenchanted with what they believe is a lack of the MVC's overall direction, that it refuses to make all schools patricipate in all sports and emphasize them equally.

Rose, Bench Doing Active Reserve Stint

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati Reds right fielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench are undergoing two weeks active reserve duty with the U.S. Army, club officials announced Sunday. The two are scheduled to return to spring training at Tampa on March 25.

Zanesville Rally Downs Purple Riders

Zanesville, trailing 37-36 going into the final period, tallied eight points while holding Martins Ferry scoreless for 3:58 and went on to a 62-48 win in the Steubenville AA basketball district finals Saturday night.

John Simpson, Zanesville's all state tackle, scored the first two baskets of the period, with Mike Painter and Bob Welcher adding one each before Dave Reasbeck broke the spell with a pair of fouls. Painter and Welcher had 19 each to lead the winners, while Reasbeck had 14 to pace Martins Ferry. Clarence Hill and Sam Twardoski each added 13 for the losers.

Zanesville faces unbeaten Columbus East in regional play Wednesday.

The Preakness, middle jewel in racing's triple crown, will be run this year on May 18.

Waterford Sets Mutuel 1-Day Record

The largest single-day mutuel handle in the history of Waterford Park was recorded Saturday as 7,185 fans wagered $623,944.

It also was the first time on a single day program that the mutuel wagering passed the $600,000 mark. The previous high for an afternoon of racing was set on opening day of 1967 when $598,000 was wagered by 8,000 fans.

Large figures in wagering were not the only orbiting digits. The seventh race perfecta returned $1,178.80 after the combination of 10 and 3 finished first and second to produce the big return. There were 33 winning tickets sold on the 10-3 combo. The winner was Boots Bush, a son of the famous Bushwacker. Ridden by jockey Lanny Kress, Boots Bush charged to the finish line ahead of Larkster and paid an even $100 to win. Larksters' place was $7.

Don Pavletich Homers Twice In Red Win

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds exploded for three home runs Sunday, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 3-1, in exhibition baseball.

Big Guns for the Reds was catcher Don Pavletich whose two homers in the fourth and sixth innings came after Leo Cardenas supplied Cincinnati with its first homer in the third.

The victory went to Bob Lee who allowed the White Sox their only run. He filled the bases on balls during the fourth inning and Dwayne Josephson scored on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly.

Inconsistent Giants Try Again

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have everything but consistency.

Manager Herman Franks and club officials are trying this spring to plug that gap with physical conditioning.

If several key performers, mainly Willie Mays and Juan Marichal, had been available all last season, says Franks, the Giants could have won the National League pennant instead of finishing second 10½ games behind St. Louis.

The Giants held third most of June, slipped to fifth in July, and stayed in second or third through August.

Under the direction of physiotherapist Bert Gustafson, the Giants have worked hard, running three miles a day while in Case Grande.

They didn't get down to serious baseball until arriving in Phoenix to begin the Cactus League schedule.

"They joked they were going to take up a collection to send me home," said Gustafson, who is 55 but looks 40, "but several told me it helped.

"Strength and stamina have much to do with injuries. Unlike most athletes, baseball players use bursts of strength — running, hitting and throwing — and then they cool off. The muscles get stiff and tear."

Muscle pulls could be lessened by beginning spring training running without cleats and not on grass, says Gustafson.

What's good for Carl Yastrzemski is good for the Giants, said Gustafson, so the Giants spent $5,000 installing a small gym at Candelstick Park. Yastrzemski attributed the improvement in his performance to strenuous physical conditioning in the off season.

Mays, who had his poorest season last year since joining the Giants in 1951, says he's "ready to go," and feels like playing "10 more years."

Mays, who will be 37 May 6, hit .263 with 22 homers and 70 runs batted in while playing 141 games. The center fielder, whose 564 career homers is topped only by Babe Ruth's 714, had some early season injuries. Then he was hospitalized with the flu for a week in July, a month in which he hit only one homer.

Marichal, 29, reported on time this spring and says he is ready to regain the form which helped him win at least 20 games for four straight years.

Last season he reported late, pitched only once after straining a hamstring muscle on Aug. 4 and finished 14-10.

Jim Davenport, 34, with back and leg ailments, played 124 games and hit .275. He worked with Gustafson before spring training began and is apparently recovered.

Davenport, who played with Mays and 1967 Cy Young Award winner Mike McCormick on the first Giant team in San Francisco in 1958, has taken over third with Jim Ray Hart moving to left field.

The return of Davenport to third and the acquisition of Ron Hunt gives the Giants better defense in the infield, says Franks. And Hart, who hit .289 with 26 homers and 99 RBI, likes left better.

The Giants have won only one pennant in San Francisco, in 1962, but during the past 10 years they have the best National League record with 887 victories compared with Los Angeles' 876.

Pipers Close In On Crown

By The Associated Press

Connie Hawkins and Chico Vaughn turned on their magical scoring touch and presto. . .New Jersey disappeared and Pittsburgh's magic number shrunk to two.

Hawkins scored 36 points and Vaughn 25 as the Pipers mauled the Americans 122-106 at home Sunday night in the American Basketball Association for a three-game lead over Minnesota in the Eastern Division.

The Pipers, with four games left, now need any combination of two victories or two Muskies losses to win the title.

Hawkins dunked a basket to break a 75-all tie and New Jersey, trying to hang on for the fourth and final playoff spot in the East, never caught up.

New Orleans had its Western Division title hopes delayed when the Bucs dropped a 113-105 decision to visiting Indiana while Dallas edged host Anaheim 112-110 and Houston belted Oakland 122-94 at Houston in other games.

Indiana, which trounced New Jersey 120-99 Saturday night, broke away from an 85-83 lead entering the last quarter and Jimmy Rayl scored six points in the last minute to clinch the victory. Roger Brown finished with 32 points for Indiana.

New Orleans now leads Denver by only three games despite the Rockets' 107-102 loss to Kentucky Saturday night.

Dallas, which halted Pittsburgh 129-109 Saturday night, moved a half game back of Denver when Charles Beasley hit two free throws with four seconds left against Anaheim, eliminating the Amigos from the playoffs.

The Chaparrals had to make up a 105-96 deficit with 3:39 left.

Houston, all but wrapping up the fourth playoff spot in the West, hit its first 10 shots from the field in the second half to break away from a 49-44 halftime lead. Art Becker had 25 points, but the Oaks' Jim Hadnot took scoring honors with 33.

U.S. Skiers Win Most National Championships

SEATTLE (AP) — All the U.S. titles but two were in the hands of the natives today. After Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., and Judy Nagle of Enumclaw, Wash., won Sunday's slalom competition to wind up the 1968 National Alpine Ski Championships.

The exceptions were the men's downhill and combined crowns, which went to Scott Henderson, 34-year-old Canadian star from Banff, Alta.

Most of the ski riders who competed in the three-day event on Crystal Mountain, 76 miles southeast of Seattle, left immediately for Aspen, Colo. to compete in the Roche Cup Races.

Winning both slalom and combined championships for the feminine side of the snow scramble, 16-year-old Miss Nagle typifies the youth movement taking command in U.S. Alpine skiing.

Ann Black, 18, of Seattle won the women's downhill on opening day and Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Vt., also 18, took Saturday's giant slalom.

Chaffee's victory made it two straight for the Denver University graduate who had triumphed the day before in the giant slalom. "I love this country," said the 23-year-old Vermonter whose dismal 49th in the downhill kept him from winning the combined title along with his others.

Henderson had scored second in the giant slalom and was fourth in the slalom behind Jere Elliott of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and defending champion Jim Huega of Tahoe City, Calif.

Charleston Favored In W. Virginia

By The Associated Press

After some 25 weeks of hardwood action, West Virginia's high school basketball tournament field has narrowed to 12 teams which will battle for state championship honors in three classes Thursday through Saturday.

Top - ranked and unbeaten Charleston High has to be considered the Class-AAA favorite with third - ranked Beckley picked as runnerup.

Charleston scored a 57-51 victory over second - ranked Williamson Saturday night for the Region 4 championship. And Beckley edged Herbert Hoover 83-79 in Region 3.

The Mountain Lions take on Wheeling Friday afternoon and Beckley meets Martinsburg Friday night in Class-AAA first-round games.

Wheeling advanced to the state tournament on a 77-72 victory over Parkersburg in Region 1, and Martinsburg overpowered Lewis County 89-49 in Region 2.

Mullens gets the nod in Class-AA tournament play. Paced by junior guard Mike D'Antoni, Mullens boasts a 21-3 record, including a regular season split with triple-A power Beckley.

An unknown quantity in the Class-AA field is Charles Town. Owner of a 24-0 record, the Eastern Panhandle team went almost unnoticed until late in the season.

Mullens is matched against Charles Town Thursday night, while Ceredo-Kenova is paired against St. Marys in an afternoon game.

In Class-A action, Marlinton faces Fort Ashby Friday afternoon, prior to the Charleston-Wheeling triple-A game, and Barrackville plays Harts Friday night before Beckley and Martinsburg square off.

Marlinton and Barrackville are expected to advance to the finals Saturday afternoon, with Marlinton the championship choice on the strength of a 20-3 record.

St. Francis Wins State Swimming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toledo St. Francis, holding a slim lead in the final event, won the 400-yard freestyle relay in near-record time to clinch its second straight team title in the State High School Swimming and Diving Championships Saturday.

The Toledo team was just ahead of Upper Arlington by eight points going into the 400 but Tom Blank, Phil Johnson, Dyke Edwards and Bill Murtaught were clocked at 3:22.4, just .4 seconds off the meet record, to clinch the title for St. Francis.

The winners racked up a total of 152 points followed by Upper Arlington's 136.33. Cuyahoga Falls was third with 93.

Team scoring: Toledo St. Francis 152; Upper Arlington 136.33; Cuyahoga Falls 93; Lakewood 78; Kent State 71; Canton McKinley 71; Fairview Park 63; Akron Firestone 61.66; Cincinnati Western Hills 53; Cleveland Heights 51; Cleveland Shaw 53.5; Cleveland Brush 42; Cincinnati Princeton 31; Findlay 28.5; Shaker Heights 27; Sandusky 23.16; Mentor 22; Worthington 19; Berea 19; Columbus Academy 16.

Miami Wins Mid-America Swim Title

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Miami of Ohio beat off stubborn efforts by host Ohio University Saturday to clinch its second straight Mid-American Conference swimming crown.

Miami piled up 149½ points during the three - day meet while the Bobcats settled for the runner-up spot with 114½ points as the Redskins claimed nine of the 18 events while Ohio U. won five.

Big stars of the meet were Miami's John Russell and Bob Shaw and Ohio's Neil Wade.

Three records were broken Saturday, including Shaw's top time of 47.5 in the 100 - yard freestyle. During the meet Shaw won three events, tied one record and set two others.

Russell earlier won the 100 and 200-yard butterfly and the 200 individual medley to set two records.

Wade turned in a 2:16.8 to set a new MAC mark Saturday in the 200-yard breaststroke. He earlier won the 100.

In the 400-yard medley relay, Neil Krueger, Dave Solomon, Tony Saridakis and Wade were clocked at 3:39.2 to give the Bobcats another event.

Bowling Green came in third during the meet with 75½ points and Kent State was right behind with 66½. Western Michigan got 50 points.

E. Liverpool Wins Jaycee Hoop Title

The East Liverpool number one team won the District 20 Jaycee basketball championships at the Memorial Auditorium Saturday by downing Lisbon 56-33.

Jack Reynolds paced the winners with 21, while Bob Campbell added 16 and Jack Vodrey 10. Dowd had 21 for the losers.

East Liverpool nipped Wellsville in their first game 48-46, then topped East Palestine 58-48 to gain the final. Lisbon opened with a 33-25 win over Columbiana and then decisioned East Liverpool number two 41-34. Eight teams were entered in the single elimination tournament.

Campbell was chairman of the tournament. The winner does not advance to any larger tournament.

Tay Baker Wants Cincy To Join MAC

CINCINNATI (AP) — Basketball coach Tay Baker feels that the University of Cincinnati should make a break with the Missouri Valley Conference and rejoin the Mid-American Conference.

And he said the switch from the prestigious basketball world of the MVC would not hurt UC basketball.

He said the MAC offers "a total athletic program . . . natural rivalries . . . geographical nearness . . . and at least two long-time traditional UC rivalries, Miami University and Ohio University."

Baker, piloting UC cagers since 1965, and other MVC coaches reportedly are disenchanted with what they believe is a lack of the MVC's overall direction, that it refuses to make all schools patriciate in all sports and emphasize them equally.

Rose, Bench Doing Active Reserve Stint

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati Reds right fielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench are undergoing two weeks active reserve duty with the U.S. Army, club officials announced Sunday. The two are scheduled to return to spring training at Tampa on March 25.

Zanesville Rally Downs Purple Riders

Zanesville, trailing 37-36 going into the final period, tallied eight points while holding Martins Ferry scoreless for 3:58 and went on to a 62-48 win in the Steubenville AA basketball district finals Saturday night.

John Simpson, Zanesville's all state tackle, scored the first two baskets of the period, with Mike Painter and Bob Welcher adding one each before Dave Reasbeck broke the spell with a pair of fouls. Painter and Welcher had 19 each to lead the winners, while Reasbeck had 14 to pace Martins Ferry. Clarence Hill and Sam Twardoski each added 13 for the losers.

Zanesville faces unbeaten Columbus East in regional play Wednesday.

The Preakness, middle jewel in racing's triple crown, will be run this year on May 18.

Piniella, Vidal Lead Indian Win

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Indians' 5-4 exhibition victory over the San Francisco Giants Sunday was a moist affair, and some of the moisture was on Sonny Siebert's pitching fingers —despite Sonny's best efforts at breaking the habit.

The habit of licking his fingers, that is.

National League Umpire Chris Pelakoudas reminded Siebert of the new rule after the first pitch, but Siebert had trouble remembering. His teammates on the bench spotted him moistening his fingers six times in one inning alone.

"I've just got to concentrate on breaking that habit," said Sonny.

He gave up one run; Bob Allen allowed only one hit in two innings, and knuckleballer Bob Tiefenauer set the Giants down in order in the sixth. Orlando Pena blanked the Giants for two frames but got in trouble in the ninth, when San Francisco picked up three runs.

The Indians scored all their runs in the fifth. Lou Piniella knocked in two runs with a single, and another rookie, Jose Vidal, followed with a mighty three-run homer.

Waterford Sets Mutuel 1-Day Record

The largest single-day mutuel handle in the history of Waterford Park was recorded Saturday as 7,185 fans wagered $623,944.

It also was the first time on a single day program that the mutuel wagering passed the $600,000 mark. The previous high for an afternoon of racing was set on opening day of 1967 when $598,000 was wagered by 8,800 fans.

Large figures in wagering were not the only orbiting digits. The seventh race perfecta returned $1,178.80 after the combination of 10 and 3 finished first and second to produce the big return. There were 33 winning tickets sold on the 10-3 combo. The winner was Boots Bush, a son of the famous Bushwacker. Ridden by jockey Lanny Kress, Boots Bush charged to the finish line ahead of Larkster and paid an even $100 to win. Larksters' place was $7.

Don Pavletich Homers Twice In Red Win

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds exploded for three home runs Sunday, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 3-1, in exhibition baseball.

Big Guns for the Reds was catcher Don Pavletich whose two homers in the fourth and sixth innings came after Leo Cardenas supplied Cincinnati with its first homer in the third.

The victory went to Bob Lee who allowed the White Sox their only run. He filled the bases on balls during the fourth inning and Dwayne Josephson scored on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly.

If you think the two-handed set shot no longer has a place in basketball, you haven't seen Jim Burke of Marquette in action.

Burke sunk two long shots in the last 2:18 at Kent State Saturday night to carry the Warriors to a 72-71 win over Bowling Green in an NCAA first round game. Marquette trailed 71-68 when Burke connected on his first shot and his second long one with 1:40 to go was the last tally of the game. The Falcons had numerous chances to score after that, but couldn't put the ball in the basket.

Marquette was led by George Thompson, a 6-2 junior from Brooklyn, who lives up to the words of his coach, Al McGuire. "Thompson jumps like he's 6-6", McGuire has said. Marquette has a front line of 6-5, 6-3, 6-2, shorter than some high school teams, but the Warriors are 22-5. No high school team has a player like Thompson, however, who not only jumps but handles the ball, drives and shoots in a fantastic manner. He poured in 33 points Saturday night, 20 in the first half.

Walt Piatkowski, a sure pro prospect, paced the losers with 27. At 6-8 with a great outside shot, the Toledo product has a great future as a cornerman in the pros. He can also hold his own on the boards, but the Marquette leapers outrebounded the 6-9, 6-8, 6-5 front line of BG by a substantial margin.

Surprisingly, there were more fans from Marquette than from Bowling Green, though there was a sizeable delegation from the Ohio school. The fans enjoyed the by-play between the two mascots, the pin-headed Falcon and the huge-headed Warrior with a fixed leer.

The first game of the doubleheader, won by East Tennessee State 79-69 over Florida State, didn't offer much except Harley (Skeeter) Swift of East Tennessee. His mesomorphic body seems more suited to football, but he didn't get the nickname Skeeter by blocking and tackling. He impressed the crowd with his moves, passes and shooting and led all scorers with 22 points.

DENNY WILLIAMS, head grid coach at Follansbee, will coach the West Virginia team in the Ohio-West Virginia clash set for early June at Island Stadium in Wheeling. Harold (Toad) Mercer of Barnesville is head coach of the Ohio team. The game will pit Eastern Ohio senior gridders against their West Virginia panhandle counterparts.

THE "RON WILLIAMS All-Stars" will take on the Pittsburgh Steelers in a preliminary to the Pipers-Anaheim Amigos clash at Steubenville next Monday, but Williams will be able to play only if his West Virginia team is eliminated in the first round of the NIT. Sure to play are Al Salvadori of South Carolina and Garrett Ford, WVU grid star, while Norman Holmes and Dave Reaser of the Mountaineers will join Williams if possible. Members of the Steelers team are Jim Bradshaw, Jim (Cannonball) Butler, John Hilton, Dick Hoak, Ken Kortas, Paul Martha, Ben McGee, Bill Nelson, Lloyd Voss, Marv Woodson and Bob Jeter.

DENNY RIBANT, former Pirate pitcher now with Detroit, was ejected from an exhibition game Saturday because of the new rule, designed to curb spitballs, that prevents a pitcher from going to his mouth. Ribant drew a warning before the ejection.

Duke, stalled for a couple of days, finally completed the National Invitation Tournament field, and now that they are in, the Blue Devils hope for a fast getaway.

But the NCAA, already speeding along with one weekend of play completed, still is waiting for its last team only three days before this weekend's regionals when its tournament tempo really quickens.

Either Iowa or Ohio State will be the last team to qualify for the NCAA field when they meet Tuesday night on a neutral court at Purdue to break a tie for the Big Ten title and decide the automatic bid to the tournament.

Tournament officials took their time filling the NIT field. Not influenced by Duke's 12-10 loss to stalling North Carolina State Friday night in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament, the officials waited until North Carolina bombed State 87-50 Saturday night for the title and then took the Blue Devils over runner-up State.

Duke, one of the favorites, helps open the NIT Thursday night against Oklahoma City, 20-6, a team that averages 90 points per contest.

Marshall, 17-7, and St. Peter's, N.J., 21-2, another pair of hot-shot clubs, play the first game of the opening doubleheader with the first round of the 16-team field to be completed Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night with twinbills.

Iowa missed one chance at the title last Saturday night by losing to Michigan 71-70 at home after failing to make up a 16-point deficit.

Regardless of the outcome of the Iowa-Ohio State playoff, the winner is not expected to survive the regional at Lexington, Ky., in which fourth-ranked Kentucky is favored.

The Big Ten representative meets East Tennessee, 19-6, which got this far by beating Florida State 79-69 at Kent, Ohio, last Saturday.

Marquette, 22-5, after nudging Bowling Green 71-70 at Kent, takes on Kentucky in the second game at Lexington Friday night.

Houston, top-ranked at 29-0, is favored to handle ninth-ranked Louisville, 20-6, Friday night at Wichita, Kan., and then beat the winner of the meeting between Texas Christian, 14-10, and Kansas State 19-7.

Houston got through the first round with a 94-76 victory over Chicago Loyola at Salt Lake City last Saturday night as Elvin Hayes hit 49 points and took in 27 rebounds. Kansas State clinched the Big Eight title at home that night with a 49-47 decision over Oklahoma State.

UCLA, No. 2, is the choice at Albuquerque, N.M. The Bruins, 25-1, open against New Mexico State, 22-5, with New Mexico, No. 7 at 23-3, opposing Santa Clara, 22-3, in the other game there Friday night.

New Mexico State ousted Weber State 68-57 at Salt Lake City while Santa Clara won the WCAC title by whipping California Loyola 77-62.

The East regional at Raleigh, N.C., is wide open as Columbia, No. 8 at 22-4, takes on Davidson, No. 10, at 23-4, and St. Bonaventure, No. 3 at 23-0, collides with North Carolina, No. 5, at 25-3.

Columbia reached the regional by routing LaSalle 83-69 before Davidson overcame St. John's, N.Y., 79-70, last Saturday afternoon at College Park, Md. The Bonnies eliminated Boston College 102-93 at Kingston, R.I.

The winners Friday night play Saturday night for the right to the semifinals Friday, March 22 at Los Angeles with the finals there Saturday, March 23.

The NIT first round continues Friday night when Kansas, 19-7, meets Temple, 19-8, and Villanova, 18-8, takes on Wyoming, 18-8.

On Saturday, Army, 20-4, opposes Notre Dame, 18-8, and Bradley, 19-8, meets Long Island U., 21-1, in the afternoon before Fordham, 17-7, clashes with Duquesne, 18-6, and Dayton, 17-9, meets West Virginia, 19-8, at night.

The quarter-finals are next Monday and Tuesday, the semifinals Thursday, March 21, and the final Saturday, March 23.

The small colleges started today with Guilford, N.C., 25-4, top-seeded in the 32-team, week-long NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

In the NCAA small college division, Indiana State, Evansville, Trinity, Tex., Ashland, Cheyney State, Nevada Southern, Kentucky Wesleyan, and American International made it to the quarter-finals this weekend at Evansville, Ind., after victories last Saturday.

Wings Top Bruins 7-5

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Sid Abel had nothing to worry about. Everybody knows lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

Abel's Detroit Red Wings had blown a 4-0 lead and lost a shattering 7-5 National Hockey League game to Toronto Saturday night. So naturally, when they pulled a repeat performance and frittered away a 5-0 bulge against Boston Sunday, Abel still wasn't too shook up.

Not much.

The Wings steadied themselves behind relief goalie Roger Crozier and used third-period goals by Jimmy Peters and Frank Mahovlich for a 7-5 victory to climax a nightmarish weekend for Abel.

In other Sunday action, Bill Flett's last-minute goal gave Los Angeles a 4-3 victory over New York, Philadelphia blanked Minnesota 2-0, Chicago shut out Toronto 4-0 and St. Louis nipped Oakland 1-0.

In Saturday's other games, New York tied Minnesota 1-1, Montreal shut out Chicago 5-0, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 3-1 and St. Louis dropped Oakland 3-1.

It took the Wings just 28 minutes to rush into the 5-0 lead against Boston with Alex Delvecchio scoring twice and Gordie Howe, Pete Stemkowski and Bruce MacGregor getting one each.

But the Bruins staged a furious rally that tied the score with five goals in nine minutes of the second period. Ted Green started the surge at 11:29 and in rapid succession John McKenzie, Tommy Williams, Ken Hodge and Glen Sather hit. Sather's goal came with Boston short a man.

Abel brought Crozier in for the third period and the Wings held the Bruins off until Peters scored with six minutes left.

76ers Clinch East Title, Hannum May Leave Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association remains in Philadelphia for the third consecutive year—but 76er Coach Alex Hannum isn't saying whether he'll be back for another try.

The 76ers, defending NBA champions, clinched the crown Sunday afternoon with a 119-108 victory over the New York Knicks and Cincinnati knocked off second-place Boston 137-111, eliminating the Celtics. Philadelphia has a 7½ game edge, with a 57-18 record. Boston is 50-26 in the 82-game schedule.

In other games, Sunday, Detroit beat St. Louis 133-121, Baltimore bombed Los Angeles 118-89 and San Francisco turned back Seattle 118-112.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis tripped Chicago 115-109, Seattle got by San Diego 115-111 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 137-132 in overtime.

The 76ers apparently didn't expect to clinch Sunday, as the dressing room was bare of champagne, with only soda pop in sight as a happy Hannum went around shaking hands with his players and murmuring "great, just great. We did it again.

Hannum answered reports that he would leave the 76ers after the playoffs to go to another club by saying, "I'm complimented that my name has been mentioned for another job. I have not resigned here. My contract is up at the end of the season and I will negotiate with the 76ers or possibly somebody else.

"Right now I'm extremely happy and am thinking only of the 76ers and the playoffs. That's all that's on my mind right now. Let's just wait and see what happens."

What happened Sunday was a big second-period for Philadelphia, triggered by Hal Greer and Bill Cunningham, sending the 76ers from a 27-25 lead after one quarter to a 50-33 margin midway in the second.

Greer chipped in 13 of his 28 points and Cunningham 10 of his 18 in the spurt.

The Knicks, trailing by 29 points, 98-69, entering the final period gave a sellout crowd of 19,500 an exciting finish as they got to within 113-107 with 1½ minutes left before Wilt Chamberlain put the clamps to the bid.

Chamberlain poured in Philly's last six points to ice the verdict.

Conigliaro's Eye Normal As Red Sox Score 14 Runs

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It looks like Boston's Tony Conigliario is seeing just one baseball again — and seeing it well — and that should give American League pitchers some unpleasant visions about the upcoming baseball season.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder was hit on the left temple by a pitch from Jack Hamilton of California last Aug. 18 and he did not return for the remainder of the season or the World Series because of double vision.

But Conigliaro showed he is regaining his batting eye by cracking a single and double and hitting the ball hard in his only other at-bat as the Red Sox trounced Oakland 14-4 in an exhibition game Sunday at Winter Haven, Fla.

The Red Sox, who banged out 20 hits, broke the game open in the first inning by scoring six runs off Bob Rodriquez. George Scott contributed two triples to the Boston attack.

The new spitball rule continued to give pitcher trouble. This time two Chicago hurlers were ejected for touching their hands to their mouths in the Cubs' 3-1 loss to California.

Starter Frank Reberger was ejected in the second inning, and reliever Dean Burn was given the thumb an inning later. Esch was given one warning by umpire Emmett Ashford.

There were three extra inning games Sunday. Two ended in ties, and both involved New York clubs.

The New York Mets tied St. Louis 1-1 in 14 innings, and the New York Yankees and Baltimore battled to a 7-7 standoff in 13 innings.

St. Louis scored in the sixth inning when Phil Gagliano reached third when Don Wilkinson misjudged his fly to left field and came home on Dick Simpson's single. The Mets tied it in the eighth on singles by Bud Harrelson, Ed Kranepool and Jerry Morales.

Brooks Robinson drove in five Baltimore runs with two homers and a double. Mike Hegan knocked in two Yankee runs with a pair of singles and kept Baltimore from winning in the bottom of the 10th by making a diving stop at first base of a ball hit by Dave Johnson.

In other exhibition action, Cincinnati beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1, Minnesota edged Detroit 5-4 in 10 innings, Philadelphia outslugged Pittsburgh 7-6 and Cleveland nipped San Francisco 5-4, Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 4-0. The Houston-Washington game was called off.

Don Pavletich was the key to Cincinnati's victory, pounding consecutive home runs. Leo Cardenas also homered for the Reds. Outfielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench both left the Reds for two weeks active duty with an Army Reserve unit.

Minnesota gained its victory when rookie first baseman Bill Hahn drilled a two-out single with the bases loaded in the 10th inning. Harmon Killebrew hit a solo homer for Minnesota, and Jim Northrup clouted one for Detroit.

Tony Taylor singled home Denny Doyle, who tripled in the ninth inning for Philadelphia's victory. Pittsburgh had tied it in the top of the inning when Jose Pagan smacked his second homer of the game. Cookie Rojas, Philadelphia's jack-of-all-positions, ended his holdout by coming to terms.

Cleveland got all of its five runs in the fourth inning off Mike McCormick and then held off San Francisco which scored three times in the ninth.

Los Angeles' new shortstop, Zoilo Versalles who came from Minnesota, drove in two runs and started three double plays for the Dodgers.

Cleve. East, Brookfield, Linden McKinley Upset

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The business of district championships now settled, 16 teams in each class set their sights today on regional crowns in their quest for Ohio high school basketball championships.

Regional tournaments this week at eight sites will determine the field of four Class AA and four Class A quintets that will battle for the coveted titles at St. John Arena, March 22-23.

Actual competition opens Wednesday for some of the combatants and runs through Saturday with AA action slated at Kent, Toledo - Bowling Green, Columbus and Cincinnati and small school matches ticketed for Canton, Bowling Green, Athens and Troy.

Top - ranked Columbus East (20-0) heads the Sweet 16 clubs into regional play with a Wednesday engagement against rugged Zanesville (20-2).

Coach Bob Hart's Tigers are favored to emerge as the Columbus regional king and go on to their third state championship. East socked Columbus West 81-64 Saturday to continue its title drive.

There were some upsets in Saturday's district finals. Columbus Linden McKinley, the 1967 king, was sidelined by tall and ambitous Newark 66 - 58 thus assuring new champions in both divisions.

Class A titlist Strasburg fell by the wayside earlier in district competition.

Other victims included third-ranked Cleveland East, an 80 62 loser to Euclid; unbeaten Brookfield, which fell to Hubbard, 65-55; Dayton Chaminade, the 1966 winner but a 77 - 66 loser to Dayton Roth and Toledo Libbey, which absorbed its third heartbreaking setback to Toledo Central, 59-58.

In Class A, top-ranked Northwestern of Wayne County and No. 2 Western (Pike) continued on their merry way. Northwestern ousted Badger 43-25 Friday and Western eliminated Zane Trace (Ross) 74-65 Saturday.

Fourth-ranked Convoy Crestview survived a 68 - 67 scare from Oakwood; two - time king Dixie escaped with a 67-64 triumph over lightly - regarded Twin Valley North; rugged Mansfield St. Peter got by Wynford 57-55 and Springfield Local clipped Avon 85-72 handing Avon its first loss in 21 games.

On paper, a risky projection might find these clubs emerging as regional champs with a spot in the state tournament:

Northwest—Toledo Central in AA; Mansfield St. Pete in A.

Northeast—Canton McKinley and Northwestern.

Southwest — Cincinnati Elder and Dixie.

Central—Columbus East and Western (Southeast).

But anything could happen at this stage. Columbus East and Western (Pike) are the only teams that still sport unblemished records.

Marietta, with a 15-8 mark, has the most unimpressive log in AA while Lincoln Heights, with a 12-10 record, has adopted a Cinderella role.

Dickinson Wins Doral Golf Title

MIAMI (AP) — Gardner Dickinson says he has "kicked away about 50 tournaments" in his 17 years on the golf trail, and he almost put the boot to another one when he finished the Doral Open Sunday with a bogey and double bogey.

But young Tom Weiskopf, with a chance to capitalize on Dickinson's ragged finish, showed that he, too, can kick away the golden opportunities in the clinch.

Surging from three strokes behind to tie Dickinson in a dramatic stretch run, Weiskopf blew it with a closing pair of bogeys and his 40-year-old foe walked away with the $20,000 top prize.

"I hate a finish like that," said a dead-panned Dickinson, "but I've got the check in my pocket."

The dramatic last-round duel, starting with the two men in a deadlock, was so tense that Weiskopf posted five bogeys and Dickinson three bogeys and a double bogey. It was the worst round of the tournament for both of them.

Dickinson wound up with a par 72 for a 13-under-par 275. Weiskopf took a 74 for 276.

Weiskopf, who missed a 10-foot putt at the 18th that would have thrown the match into a sudden-death playoff, had the satisfaction of taking over the lead in the 1968 money-winning race.

His $12,000 check ran his bankroll to $52,546 and shoved him ahead of Canadian George Knudson, who failed to survive the 36-hole cut here following consecutive victories at Phoenix and Tucson.

Killy Strengthens Skiing 1st Place

Killy will stop off in New York en route to two more World Cup events at Aspen, Colo. and Heavenly Valley, Calif.

Marshall, 17-7, and St. Peter's, N.J., 21-2, another pair of hot-shot clubs, play the first game of the opening doubleheader with the first round of the 16-team field to be completed Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night with twinbills.

Iowa missed one chance at the title last Saturday night by losing to Michigan 71-70 at home after failing to make up a 16-point deficit.

Regardless of the outcome of the Iowa-Ohio State playoff, the winner is not expected to survive the regional at Lexington, Ky., in which fourth-ranked Kentucky is favored.

The Big Ten representative meets East Tennessee, 19-6, which got this far by beating Florida State 79-69 at Kent, Ohio, last Saturday.

Marquette, 22-5, after nudging Bowling Green 71-70 at Kent, takes on Kentucky in the second game at Lexington Friday night.

Houston, top-ranked at 29-0, is favored to handle ninth-ranked Louisville, 20-6, Friday night at Wichita, Kan., and then beat the winner of the meeting between Texas Christian, 14-10, and Kansas State 19-7.

Houston got through the first round with a 94-76 victory over Chicago Loyola at Salt Lake City last Saturday night as Elvin Hayes hit 49 points and took in 27 rebounds. Kansas State clinched the Big Eight title at home that night with a 49-47 decision over Oklahoma State.

UCLA, No. 2, is the choice at Albuquerque, N.M. The Bruins, 25-1, open against New Mexico State, 22-5, with New Mexico, No. 7 at 23-3, opposing Santa Clara, 22-3, in the other game there Friday night.

New Mexico State ousted Weber State 68-57 at Salt Lake City while Santa Clara won the WCAC title by whipping California Loyola 77-62.

The East regional at Raleigh, N.C., is wide open as Columbia, No. 8 at 22-4, takes on Davidson, No. 10, at 23-4, and St. Bonaventure, No. 3 at 23-0, collides with North Carolina, No. 5, at 25-3.

Columbia reached the regional by routing LaSalle 83-69 before Davidson overcame St. John's, N.Y., 79-70, last Saturday afternoon at College Park, Md. The Bonnies eliminated Boston College 102-93 at Kingston, R.I.

The winners Friday night play Saturday night for the right to the semifinals Friday, March 22 at Los Angeles with the finals there Saturday, March 23.

The NIT first round continues Friday night when Kansas, 19-7, meets Temple, 19-8, and Villanova, 18-8, takes on Wyoming, 18-8.

On Saturday, Army, 20-4, opposes Notre Dame, 18-8, and Bradley, 19-8, meets Long Island U., 21-1, in the afternoon before Fordham, 17-7, clashes with Duquesne, 18-6, and Dayton, 17-9, meets West Virginia, 19-8, at night.

The quarter-finals are next Monday and Tuesday, the semifinals Thursday, March 21, and the final Saturday, March 23.

The small colleges started today with Guilford, N.C., 25-4, top-seeded in the 32-team, week-long NAIA tourney at Kansas City.

In the NCAA small college division, Indiana State, Evansville, Trinity, Tex., Ashland, Cheyney State, Nevada Southern, Kentucky Wesleyan, and American International made it to the quarter-finals this weekend at Evansville, Ind., after victories last Saturday.

Cleve. East, Brookfield, Linden McKinley Upset

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The business of district championships now settled, 16 teams in each class set their sights today on regional crowns in their quest for Ohio high school basketball championships.

Regional tournaments this week at eight sites will determine the field of four Class AA and four Class A quintets that will battle for the coveted titles at St. John Arena, March 22-23.

Actual competition opens Wednesday for some of the combatants and runs through Saturday with AA action slated at Kent, Toledo - Bowling Green, Columbus and Cincinnati and small school matches ticketed for Canton, Bowling Green, Athens and Troy.

Top - ranked Columbus East (20-0) heads the Sweet 16 clubs into regional play with a Wednesday engagement against rugged Zanesville (20-2).

Coach Bob Hart's Tigers are favored to emerge as the Columbus regional king and go on to their third state championship. East socked Columbus West 81-64 Saturday to continue its title drive.

There were some upsets in Saturday's district finals. Columbus Linden McKinley, the 1967 king, was sidelined by tall and ambitoius Newark 66 - 58 thus assuring new champions in both divisions.

Class A titlist Strasburg fell by the wayside earlier in district competition.

Other victims included third-ranked Cleveland East, an 80 62 loser to Euclid; unbeaten Brookfield, which fell to Hubbard, 65-55; Dayton Chaminade, the 1966 winner but a 77 - 66 loser to Dayton Roth and Toledo Libbey, which absorbed its third heartbreaking setback to Toledo Central, 59-58.

In Class A, top-ranked Northwestern of Wayne County and No. 2 Western (Pike) continued on their merry way. Northwestern ousted Badger 43-25 Friday and Western eliminated Zane Trace (Ross) 74-65 Saturday.

Fourth-ranked Convoy Crestview survived a 68 - 67 scare from Oakwood; two - time king Dixie escaped with a 67-64 triumph over lightly - regarded Twin Valley North; rugged Mansfield St. Peter got by Wynford 57-55 and Springfield Local clipped Avon 85-72 handing Avon its first loss in 21 games.

On paper, a risky projection might find these clubs emerging as regional champs with a spot in the state tournament:

Northwest—Toledo Central in AA; Mansfield St. Pete in A.

Northeast—Canton McKinley and Northwestern.

Southwest — Cincinnati Elder and Dixie.

Central—Columbus East and Western (Southeast).

But anything could happen at this stage. Columbus East and Western (Pike) are the only teams that still sport unblemished records.

Marietta, with a 15-8 mark, has the most unimpressive log in AA while Lincoln Heights, with a 12-10 record, has adopted a Cinderella role.

Conigliaro's Eye Normal As Red Sox Score 14 Runs

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

It looks like Boston's Tony Conigliario is seeing just one baseball again — and seeing it well — and that should give American League pitchers some unpleasant visions about the upcoming baseball season.

The slugging Red Sox outfielder was hit on the left temple by a pitch from Jack Hamilton of California last Aug. 18 and he did not return for the remainder of the season or the World Series because of double vision.

But Conigliaro showed he is regaining his batting eye by cracking a single and double and hitting the ball hard in his only other at-bat as the Red Sox trounced Oakland 14-4 in an exhibition game Sunday at Winter Haven, Fla.

The Red Sox, who banged out 20 hits, broke the game open in the first inning by scoring six runs off Bob Rodriquez. George Scott contributed two triples to the Boston attack.

The new spitball rule continued to give pitcher trouble. This time two Chicago hurlers were ejected for touching their hands to their mouths in the Cubs' 3-1 loss to California.

Starter Frank Reberger was ejected in the second inning, and reliever Dean Burn was given the thumb an inning later. Each was given one warning by umpire Emmett Ashford.

There were three extra inning games Sunday. Two ended in ties, and both involved New York clubs.

The New York Mets tied St. Louis 1-1 in 14 innings, and the New York Yankees and Baltimore battled to a 7-7 standoff in 13 innings.

St. Louis scored in the sixth inning when Phil Gagliano reached third when Don Wilkinson misjudged his fly to left field and came home on Dick Simpson's single. The Mets tied it in the eighth on singles by Bud Harrelson, Ed Kranepool and Jerry Morales.

Brooks Robinson drove in five Baltimore runs with two homers and a double. Mike Hegan knocked in two Yankee runs with a pair of singles and kept Baltimore from winning in the bottom of the 10th by making a diving stop at first base of a ball hit by Dave Johnson.

In other exhibition action, Cincinnati beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1, Minnesota edged Detroit 5-4 in 10 innings, Philadelphia outslugged Pittsburgh 7-6 and Cleveland nipped San Francisco 5-4, Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 4-0. The Houston-Washington game was called off.

Don Pavletich was the key to Cincinnati's victory, pounding consecutive home runs. Leo Cardenas also homered for the Reds. Outfielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench both left the Reds for two weeks active duty with an Army Reserve unit.

Minnesota gained its victory when rookie first baseman Bill Hahn drilled a two-out single with the bases loaded in the 10th inning. Harmon Killebrew hit a solo homer for Minnesota, and Jim Northrup clouted one for Detroit.

Tony Taylor singled home Denny Doyle, who tripled in the ninth inning for Philadelphia's victory. Pittsburgh had tied it in the top of the inning when Jose Pagan smacked his second homer of the game. Cookie Rojas, Philadelphia's jack-of-all-positions, ended his holdout by coming to terms.

Cleveland got all of its five runs in the fourth inning off Mike McCormick and then held off San Francisco which scored three times in the ninth.

Los Angeles' new shortstop, Zoilo Versalles who came from Minnesota, drove in two runs and started three double plays for the Dodgers.

Wings Top Bruins 7-5

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Coach Sid Abel had nothing to worry about. Everybody knows lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

Abel's Detroit Red Wings had blown a 4-0 lead and lost a shattering 7-5 National Hockey League game to Toronto Saturday night. So naturally, when they pulled a repeat performance and frittered away a 5-0 bulge against Boston Sunday, Abel still wasn't too shook up.

Not much.

The Wings steadied themselves behind relief goalie Roger Crozier and used third-period goals by Jimmy Peters and Frank Mahovlich for a 7-5 victory to climax a nightmarish weekend for Abel.

In other Sunday action, Bill Flett's last-minute goal gave Los Angeles a 4-3 victory over New York, Philadelphia blanked Minnesota 2-0, Chicago shut out Toronto 4-0 and St. Louis nipped Oakland 1-0.

In Saturday's other games, New York tied Minnesota 1-1, Montreal shut out Chicago 5-0, Pittsburgh stopped Los Angeles 3-1 and St. Louis dropped Oakland 3-1.

It took the Wings just 28 minutes to rush into the 5-0 lead against Boston with Alex Delvecchio scoring twice and Gordie Howe, Pete Stemkowski and Bruce MacGregor getting one each.

But the Bruins staged a furious rally that tied the score with five goals in nine minutes of the second period. Ted Green started the surge at 11:29 and in rapid succession John McKenzie, Tommy Williams, Ken Hodge and Glen Sather hit. Sather's goal came with Boston short a man.

Abel brought Crozier in for the third period and the Wings held the Bruins off until Peters scored with six minutes left.

76ers Clinch East Title, Hannum May Leave Club

NEW YORK (AP) — The Eastern Division title of the National Basketball Association remains in Philadelphia for the third consecutive year—but 76er Coach Alex Hannum isn't saying whether he'll be back for another try.

The 76ers, defending NBA champions, clinched the crown Sunday afternoon with a 119-108 victory over the New York Knicks and Cincinnati knocked off second-place Boston 137-111, eliminating the Celtics. Philadelphia has a 7½ game edge, with a 57-18 record. Boston is 50-26 in the 82-game schedule.

In other games, Sunday, Detroit beat St. Louis 133-121, Baltimore bombed Los Angeles 118-89 and San Francisco turned back Seattle 118-112.

In Saturday's action, St. Louis tripped Chicago 115-109, Seattle got by San Diego 115-111 and Los Angeles nipped San Francisco 137-132 in overtime.

The 76ers apparently didn't expect to clinch Sunday, as the dressing room was bare of champagne, with only soda pop in sight as a happy Hannum went around shaking hands with his players and murmuring "great, just great. We did it again.

Hannum answered reports that he would leave the 76ers after the playoffs to go to another club by saying, "I'm complimented that my name has been mentioned for another job. I have not resigned here. My contract is up at the end of the season and I will negotiate with the 76ers or possibly somebody else.

"Right now I'm extremely happy and am thinking only of the 76ers and the playoffs. That's all that's on my mind right now. Let's just wait and see what happens."

What happened Sunday was a big second-period for Philadelphia, triggered by Hal Greer and Bill Cunningham, sending the 76ers from a 27-25 lead after one quarter to a 50-33 margin midway in the second.

Greer chipped in 13 of his 28 points and Cunningham 10 of his 18 in the spurt.

The Knicks, trailing by 29 points, 98-69, entering the final period gave a sellout crowd of 19,500 an exciting finish as they got to within 113-107 with 1½ minutes left before Wilt Chamberlain put the clamps to the bid.

Chamberlain poured in Philly's last six points to ice the verdict.

Dickinson Wins Doral Golf Title

MIAMI (AP) — Gardner Dickinson says he has "kicked away about 50 tournaments" in his 17 years on the golf trail, and he almost put the boot to another one when he finished the Doral Open Sunday with a bogey and double bogey.

But young Tom Weiskopf, with a chance to capitalize on Dickinson's ragged finish, showed that he, too, can kick away the golden opportunities in the clinch.

Surging from three strokes behind to tie Dickinson in a dramatic stretch run, Weiskopf blew it with a closing pair of bogeys and his 40-year-old foe walked away with the $20,000 top prize.

"I hate a finish like that," said a dead-panned Dickinson, "but I've got the check in my pocket."

The dramatic last-round duel, starting with the two men in a deadlock, was so tense that Weiskopf posted five bogeys and Dickinson three bogeys and a double bogey. It was the worst round of the tournament for both of them.

Dickinson wound up with a par 72 for a 13-under-par 275. Weiskopf took a 74 for 276.

Weiskopf, who missed a 10-foot putt at the 18th that would have thrown the match into a sudden-death playoff, had the satisfaction of taking over the lead in the 1968 money-winning race.

His $12,000 check ran his bankroll to $52,546 and shoved him ahead of Canadian George Knudson, who failed to survive the 36-hole cut here following consecutive victories at Phoenix and Tucson.

Inconsistent Giants Try Again

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have everything but consistency.

Manager Herman Franks and club officials are trying this spring to plug that gap with physical conditioning.

If several key performers, mainly Willie Mays and Juan Marichal, had been available all last season, says Franks, the Giants could have won the National League pennant instead of finishing second 10½ games behind St. Louis.

The Giants held third most of June, slipped to fifth in July, and stayed in second or third through August.

Under the direction of physiotherapist Bert Gustafson, the Giants have worked hard, running three miles a day while in Case Grande.

They didn't get down to serious baseball until arriving in Phoenix to begin the Cactus League schedule.

"They joked they were going to take up a collection to send me home," said Gustafson, who is 55 but looks 40, "but several told me it helped.

"Strength and stamina have much to do with injuries. Unlike most athletes, baseball players use bursts of strength — running, hitting and throwing — and then they cool off. The muscles get stiff and tear."

Muscle pulls could be lessened by beginning spring training running without cleats and not on grass, says Gustafson.

What's good for Carl Yastrzemski is good for the Giants, said Gustafson, so the Giants spent $5,000 installing a small gym at Candelstick Park. Yastrzemski attributed the improvement in his performance to strenuous physical conditioning in the off season.

Mays, who had his poorest season last year since joining the Giants in 1951, says he's "ready to go," and feels like playing "10 more years."

Mays, who will be 37 May 6, hit .263 with 22 homers and 70 runs batted in while playing 141 games. The center fielder, whose 564 career homers is topped only by Babe Ruth's 714, had some early season injuries. Then he was hospitalized with the flu for a week in July, a month in which he hit only one homer.

Marichal, 29, reported on time this spring and says he is ready to regain the form which helped him win at least 20 games for four straight years.

Last season he reported late, pitched only once after straining a hamstring muscle on Aug. 4 and finished 14-10.

Jim Davenport, 34, with back and leg ailments, played 124 games and hit .275. He worked with Gustafson before spring training began and is apparently recovered.

Davenport, who played with Mays and 1967 Cy Young Award winner Mike McCormick on the first Giant team in San Francisco in 1958, has taken over third with Jim Ray Hart moving to left field.

The return of Davenport to third and the acquisition of Ron Hunt gives the Giants better defense in the infield, says Franks. And Hart, who hit .289 with 26 homers and 99 RBI, likes left better.

The Giants have won only one pennant in San Francisco, in 1962, but during the past 10 years they have the best National League record with 887 victories compared with Los Angeles' 876.

Pipers Close In On Crown

By The Associated Press

Connie Hawkins and Chico Vaughn turned on their magical scoring touch and presto. . .New Jersey disappeared and Pittsburgh's magic number shrunk to two.

Hawkins scored 36 points and Vaughn 25 as the Pipers mauled the Americans 122-106 at home Sunday night in the American Basketball Association for a three-game lead over Minnesota in the Eastern Division.

The Pipers, with four games left, now need any combination of two victories or two Muskies losses to win the title.

Hawkins dunked a basket to break a 75-all tie and New Jersey, trying to hang on for the fourth and final playoff spot in the East, never caught up.

New Orleans had its Western Division title hopes delayed when the Bucs dropped a 113-105 decision to visiting Indiana while Dallas edged host Anaheim 112-110 and Houston belted Oakland 122-94 at Houston in other games.

Indiana, which trounced New Jersey 120-99 Saturday night, broke away from an 85-83 lead entering the last quarter and Jimmy Rayl scored six points in the last minute to clinch the victory. Roger Brown finished with 32 points for Indiana.

New Orleans now leads Denver by only three games despite the Rockets' 107-102 loss to Kentucky Saturday night.

Dallas, which halted Pittsburgh 129-109 Saturday night, moved a half game back of Denver when Charles Beasley hit two free throws with four seconds left against Anaheim, eliminating the Amigos from the playoffs.

The Chaparrals had to make up a 105-96 deficit with 3:39 left.

Houston, all but wrapping up the fourth playoff spot in the West, hit its first 10 shots from the field in the second half to break away from a 49-44 halftime lead. Art Becker had 25 points, but the Oaks' Jim Hadnot took scoring honors with 33.

U.S. Skiers Win Most National Championships

SEATTLE (AP) — All the U.S. titles but two were in the hands of the natives today. After Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., and Judy Nagle of Enumclaw, Wash., won Sunday's slalom competition to wind up the 1968 National Alpine Ski Championships.

The exceptions were the men's downhill and combined crowns, which went to Scott Henderson, 34-year-old Canadian star from Banff, Alta.

Most of the ski riders who competed in the three-day event on Crystal Mountain, 76 miles southeast of Seattle, left immediately for Aspen, Colo. to compete in the Roche Cup Races.

Winning both slalom and combined championships for the feminine side of the snow scramble, 16-year-old Miss Nagle typifies the youth movement taking command in U.S. Alpine skiing.

Ann Black, 18, of Seattle won the women's downhill on opening day and Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Vt., also 18, took Saturday's giant slalom.

Chaffee's victory made it two straight for the Denver University graduate who had triumphed the day before in the giant slalom. "I love this country," said the 23-year-old Vermonter whose dismal 49th in the downhill kept him from winning the combined title along with his others.

Henderson had scored second in the giant slalom and was fourth in the slalom behind Jere Elliott of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and defending champion Jim Huega of Tahoe City, Calif.

Charleston Favored In W. Virginia

By The Associated Press

After some 25 weeks of hardwood action, West Virginia's high school basketball tournament field has narrowed to 12 teams which will battle for state championship honors in three classes Thursday through Saturday.

Top - ranked and unbeaten Charleston High has to be considered the Class-AAA favorite with third - ranked Beckley picked as runnerup.

Charleston scored a 57-51 victory over second - ranked Williamson Saturday night for the Region 4 championship. And Beckley edged Herbert Hoover 83-79 in Region 3.

The Mountain Lions take on Wheeling Friday afternoon and Beckley meets Martinsburg Friday night in Class-AAA first-round games.

Wheeling advanced to the state tournament on a 77-72 victory over Parkersburg in Region 1, and Martinsburg overpowered Lewis County 89-49 in Region 2.

Mullens gets the nod in Class-AA tournament play. Paced by junior guard Mike D'Antoni, Mullens boasts a 21-3 record, including a regular season split with triple-A power Beckley.

An unknown quantity in the Class-AA field is Charles Town. Owner of a 24-0 record, the Eastern Panhandle team went almost unnoticed until late in the season.

Mullens is matched against Charles Town Thursday night, while Ceredo-Kenova is paired against St. Marys in an afternoon game.

In Class-A action, Marlinton faces Fort Ashby Friday afternoon, prior to the Charleston-Wheeling triple-A game, and Barrackville plays Harts Friday night before Beckley and Martinsburg square off.

Marlinton and Barrackville are expected to advance to the finals Saturday afternoon, with Marlinton the championship choice on the strength of a 20-3 record.

E. Liverpool Wins Jaycee Hoop Title

The East Liverpool number one team won the District 20 Jaycee basketball championships at the Memorial Auditorium Saturday by downing Lisbon 56-33.

Jack Reynolds paced the winners with 21, while Bob Campbell added 16 and Jack Vodrey 10. Dowd had 21 for the losers.

East Liverpool nipped Wellsville in their first game 48-46, then topped East Palestine 58-48 to gain the final. Lisbon opened with a 33-25 win over Columbiana and then decisioned East Liverpool number two 41-34. Eight teams were entered in the single elimination tournament.

Campbell was chairman of the tournament. The winner does not advance to any larger tournament.

Tay Baker Wants Cincy To Join MAC

CINCINNATI (AP) — Basketball coach Tay Baker feels that the University of Cincinnati should make a break with the Missouri Valley Conference and rejoin the Mid-American Conference.

And he said the switch from the prestigious basketball world of the MVC would not hurt UC basketball.

He said the MAC offers "a total athletic program . . . natural rivalries . . . geographical nearness . . . and at least two long-time traditional UC rivalries, Miami University and Ohio University."

Baker, piloting UC cagers since 1965, and other MVC coaches reportedly are disenchanted with what they believe is a lack of the MVC's overall direction, that it refuses to make all schools patricipate in all sports and emphasize them equally.

Rose, Bench Doing Active Reserve Stint

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati Reds right fielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench are undergoing two weeks active reserve duty with the U.S. Army, club officials announced Sunday. The two are scheduled to return to spring training at Tampa on March 25.

St. Francis Wins State Swimming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toledo St. Francis, holding a slim lead in the final event, won the 400-yard freestyle relay in near-record time to clinch its second straight team title in the State High School Swimming and Diving Championships Saturday.

The Toledo team was just ahead of Upper Arlington by eight points going into the 400 but Tom Blank, Phil Johnson, Dyke Edwards and Bill Murtaught were clocked at 3:22.4, just .4 seconds off the meet record, to clinch the title for St. Francis.

The winners racked up a total of 152 points followed by Upper Arlington's 136.33. Cuyahoga Falls was third with 93.

Miami Wins Mid-America Swim Title

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Miami of Ohio beat off stubborn efforts by host Ohio University Saturday to clinch its second straight Mid-American Conference swimming crown.

Miami piled up 149½ points during the three - day meet while the Bobcats settled for the runner-up spot with 114½ points as the Redskins claimed nine of the 18 events while Ohio U. won five.

Big stars of the meet were Miami's John Russell and Bob Shaw and Ohio's Neil Wade.

Three records were broken Saturday, including Shaw's top time of 47.5 in the 100 - yard freestyle. During the meet Shaw won three events, tied one record and set two others.

Russell earlier won the 100 and 200-yard butterfly and the 200 individual medley to set two records.

Wade turned in a 2:16.8 to set a new MAC mark Saturday in the 200-yard breaststroke. He earlier won the 100.

In the 400-yard medley relay, Neil Krueger, Dave Solomon, Tony Saridakis and Wade were clocked at 3:39.2 to give the Bobcats another event.

Piniella, Vidal Lead Indian Win

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Indians' 5-4 exhibition victory over the San Francisco Giants Sunday was a moist affair, and some of the moisture was on Sonny Siebert's pitching fingers —despite Sonny's best efforts at breaking the habit.

The habit of licking his fingers, that is.

National League Umpire Chris Pelakoudas reminded Siebert of the new rule after the first pitch, but Siebert had trouble remembering. His teammates on the bench spotted him moistening his fingers six times in one inning alone.

"I've just got to concentrate on breaking that habit," said Sonny.

He gave up one run; Bob Allen allowed only one hit in two innings, and knuckleballer Bob Tiefenauer set the Giants down in order in the sixth. Orlando Pena blanked the Giants for two frames but got in trouble in the ninth, when San Francisco picked up three runs.

The Indians scored all their runs in the fifth. Lou Piniella knocked in two runs with a single, and another rookie, Jose Vidal, followed with a mighty three-run homer.

Zanesville Rally Downs Purple Riders

Zanesville, trailing 37-36 going into the final period, tallied eight points while holding Martins Ferry scoreless for 3:58 and went on to a 62-48 win in the Steubenville AA basketball district finals Saturday night.

John Simpson, Zanesville's all state tackle, scored the first two baskets of the period, with Mike Painter and Bob Welcher adding one each before Dave Reasbeck broke the spell with a pair of fouls. Painter and Welcher had 19 each to lead the winners, while Reasbeck had 14 to pace Martins Ferry. Clarence Hill and Sam Twardoski each added 13 for the losers.

Zanesville faces unbeaten Columbus East in regional play Wednesday.

The Preakness, middle jewel in racing's triple crown, will be run this year on May 18.

Waterford Sets Mutuel 1-Day Record

The largest single-day mutuel handle in the history of Waterford Park was recorded Saturday as 7,185 fans wagered $623,944.

It also was the first time on a single day program that the mutuel wagering passed the $600,000 mark. The previous high for an afternoon of racing was set on opening day of 1967 when $598,000 was wagered by 8,800 fans.

Large figures in wagering were not the only orbiting digits. The seventh race perfecta returned $1,178.80 after the combination of 10 and 3 finished first and second to produce the big return. There were 33 winning tickets sold on the 10-3 combo. The winner was Boots Bush, a son of the famous Bushwacker. Ridden by jockey Lanny Kress, Boots Bush charged to the finish line ahead of Larkster and paid an even $100 to win. Larksters' place was $7.

Don Pavletich Homers Twice In Red Win

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds exploded for three home runs Sunday, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 3-1, in exhibition baseball.

Big Guns for the Reds was catcher Don Pavletich whose two homers in the fourth and sixth innings came after Leo Cardenas supplied Cincinnati with its first homer in the third.

The victory went to Bob Lee who allowed the White Sox their only run. He filled the bases on balls during the fourth inning and Dwayne Josephson scored on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly.

Inconsistent Giants Try Again

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have everything but consistency.

Manager Herman Franks and club officials are trying this spring to plug that gap with physical conditioning.

If several key performers, mainly Willie Mays and Juan Marichal, had been available all last season, says Franks, the Giants could have won the National League pennant instead of finishing second 10½ games behind St. Louis.

The Giants held third most of June, slipped to fifth in July, and stayed in second or third through August.

Under the direction of physiotherapist Bert Gustafson, the Giants have worked hard, running three miles a day while in Case Grande.

They didn't get down to serious baseball until arriving in Phoenix to begin the Cactus League schedule.

"They joked they were going to take up a collection to send me home," said Gustafson, who is 55 but looks 40, "but several told me it helped.

"Strength and stamina have much to do with injuries. Unlike most athletes, baseball players use bursts of strength — running, hitting and throwing — and then they cool off. The muscles get stiff and tear."

Muscle pulls could be lessened by beginning spring training running without cleats and not on grass, says Gustafson.

What's good for Carl Yastrzemski is good for the Giants, said Gustafson, so the Giants spent $5,000 installing a small gym at Candelstick Park. Yastrzemski attributed the improvement in his performance to strenuous physical conditioning in the off season.

Mays, who had his poorest season last year since joining the Giants in 1951, says he's "ready to go," and feels like playing "10 more years."

Mays, who will be 37 May 6, hit .263 with 22 homers and 70 runs batted in while playing 141 games. The center fielder, whose 564 career homers is topped only by Babe Ruth's 714, had some early season injuries. Then he was hospitalized with the flu for a week in July, a month in which he hit only one homer.

Marichal, 29, reported on time this spring and says he is ready to regain the form which helped him win at least 20 games for four straight years.

Last season he reported late, pitched only once after straining a hamstring muscle on Aug. 4 and finished 14-10.

Jim Davenport, 34, with back and leg ailments, played 124 games and hit .275. He worked with Gustafson before spring training began and is apparently recovered.

Davenport, who played with Mays and 1967 Cy Young Award winner Mike McCormick on the first Giant team in San Francisco in 1958, has taken over third with Jim Ray Hart moving to left field.

The return of Davenport to third and the acquisition of Ron Hunt gives the Giants better defense in the infield, says Franks. And Hart, who hit .289 with 26 homers and 99 RBI, likes left better.

The Giants have won only one pennant in San Francisco, in 1962, but during the past 10 years they have the best National League record with 887 victories compared with Los Angeles' 876.

Pipers Close In On Crown

By The Associated Press

Connie Hawkins and Chico Vaughn turned on their magical scoring touch and presto. . .New Jersey disappeared and Pittsburgh's magic number shrunk to two.

Hawkins scored 36 points and Vaughn 25 as the Pipers mauled the Americans 122-106 at home Sunday night in the American Basketball Association for a three-game lead over Minnesota in the Eastern Division.

The Pipers, with four games left, now need any combination of two victories or two Muskies losses to win the title.

Hawkins dunked a basket to break a 75-all tie and New Jersey, trying to hang on for the fourth and final playoff spot in the East, never caught up.

New Orleans had its Western Division title hopes delayed when the Bucs dropped a 113-105 decision to visiting Indiana while Dallas edged host Anaheim 112-110 and Houston belted Oakland 122-94 at Houston in other games.

Indiana, which trounced New Jersey 120-99 Saturday night, broke away from an 85-83 lead entering the last quarter and Jimmy Rayl scored six points in the last minute to clinch the victory. Roger Brown finished with 32 points for Indiana.

New Orleans now leads Denver by only three games despite the Rockets' 107-102 loss to Kentucky Saturday night.

Dallas, which halted Pittsburgh 129-109 Saturday night, moved a half game back of Denver when Charles Beasley hit two free throws with four seconds left against Anaheim, eliminating the Amigos from the playoffs.

The Chaparrals had to make up a 105-96 deficit with 3:39 left.

Houston, all but wrapping up the fourth playoff spot in the West, hit its first 10 shots from the field in the second half to break away from a 49-44 halftime lead. Art Becker had 25 points, but the Oaks' Jim Hadnot took scoring honors with 33.

U.S. Skiers Win Most National Championships

SEATTLE (AP) — All the U.S. titles but two were in the hands of the natives today. After Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., and Judy Nagle of Enumclaw, Wash., won Sunday's slalom competition to wind up the 1968 National Alpine Ski Championships.

The exceptions were the men's downhill and combined crowns, which went to Scott Henderson, 34-year-old Canadian star from Banff, Alta.

Most of the ski riders who competed in the three-day event on Crystal Mountain, 76 miles southeast of Seattle, left immediately for Aspen, Colo. to compete in the Roche Cup Races.

Winning both slalom and combined championships for the feminine side of the snow scramble, 16-year-old Miss Nagle typifies the youth movement taking command in U.S. Alpine skiing.

Ann Black, 18, of Seattle won the women's downhill on opening day and Marilyn Cochran of Richmond, Vt., also 18, took Saturday's giant slalom.

Chaffee's victory made it two straight for the Denver University graduate who had triumphed the day before in the giant slalom. "I love this country," said the 23-year-old Vermonter whose dismal 49th in the downhill kept him from winning the combined title along with his others.

Henderson had scored second in the giant slalom and was fourth in the slalom behind Jere Elliott of Steamboat Springs, Colo., and defending champion Jim Huega of Tahoe City, Calif.

Charleston Favored In W. Virginia

By The Associated Press

After some 25 weeks of hardwood action, West Virginia's high school basketball tournament field has narrowed to 12 teams which will battle for state championship honors in three classes Thursday through Saturday.

Top - ranked and unbeaten Charleston High has to be considered the Class-AAA favorite with third - ranked Beckley picked as runnerup.

Charleston scored a 57-51 victory over second - ranked Williamson Saturday night for the Region 4 championship. And Beckley edged Herbert Hoover 83-79 in Region 3.

The Mountain Lions take on Wheeling Friday afternoon and Beckley meets Martinsburg Friday night in Class-AAA first-round games.

Wheeling advanced to the state tournament on a 77-72 victory over Parkersburg in Region 1, and Martinsburg overpowered Lewis County 89-49 in Region 2.

Mullens gets the nod in Class-AA tournament play. Paced by junior guard Mike D'Antoni, Mullens boasts a 21-3 record, including a regular season split with triple-A power Beckley.

An unknown quantity in the Class-AA field is Charles Town. Owner of a 24-0 record, the Eastern Panhandle team went almost unnoticed until late in the season.

Mullens is matched against Charles Town Thursday night, while Ceredo-Kenova is paired against St. Marys in an afternoon game.

In Class-A action, Marlinton faces Fort Ashby Friday afternoon, prior to the Charleston-Wheeling triple-A game, and Barrackville plays Harts Friday night before Beckley and Martinsburg square off.

Marlinton and Barrackville are expected to advance to the finals Saturday afternoon, with Marlinton the championship choice on the strength of a 20-3 record.

St. Francis Wins State Swimming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Toledo St. Francis, holding a slim lead in the final event, won the 400-yard freestyle relay in near-record time to clinch its second straight team title in the State High School Swimming and Diving Championships Saturday.

The Toledo team was just ahead of Upper Arlington by eight points going into the 400 but Tom Blank, Phil Johnson, Dyke Edwards and Bill Murtaught were clocked at 3:22.4, just .4 seconds off the meet record, to clinch the title for St. Francis.

The winners racked up a total of 152 points followed by Upper Arlington's 136.33. Cuyahoga Falls was third with 93.

Miami Wins Mid-America Swim Title

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Miami of Ohio beat off stubborn efforts by host Ohio University Saturday to clinch its second straight Mid-American Conference swimming crown.

Miami piled up 149½ points during the three - day meet while the Bobcats settled for the runner-up spot with 114½ points as the Redskins claimed nine of the 18 events while Ohio U. won five.

Big stars of the meet were Miami's John Russell and Bob Shaw and Ohio's Neil Wade.

Three records were broken Saturday, including Shaw's top time of 47.5 in the 100 - yard freestyle. During the meet Shaw won three events, tied one record and set two others.

Russell earlier won the 100 and 200-yard butterfly and the 200 individual medley to set two records.

Wade turned in a 2:16.8 to set a new MAC mark Saturday in the 200-yard breaststroke. He earlier won the 100.

In the 400-yard medley relay, Neil Krueger, Dave Solomon, Tony Saridakis and Wade were clocked at 3:39.2 to give the Bobcats another event.

Bowling Green came in third during the meet with 75½ points and Kent State was right behind with 66½. Western Michigan got 50 points.

E. Liverpool Wins Jaycee Hoop Title

The East Liverpool number one team won the District 20 Jaycee basketball championships at the Memorial Auditorium Saturday by downing Lisbon 56-33.

Jack Reynolds paced the winners with 21, while Bob Campbell added 16 and Jack Vodrey 10. Dowd had 21 for the losers.

East Liverpool nipped Wellsville in their first game 48-46, then topped East Palestine 58-48 to gain the final. Lisbon opened with a 33-25 win over Columbiana and then decisioned East Liverpool number two 41-34. Eight teams were entered in the single elimination tournament.

Campbell was chairman of the tournament. The winner does not advance to any larger tournament.

Tay Baker Wants Cincy To Join MAC

CINCINNATI (AP) — Basketball coach Tay Baker feels that the University of Cincinnati should make a break with the Missouri Valley Conference and rejoin the Mid-American Conference.

And he said the switch from the prestigious basketball world of the MVC would not hurt UC basketball.

He said the MAC offers "a total athletic program . . . natural rivalries . . . geographical nearness . . . and at least two long-time traditional UC rivalries, Miami University and Ohio University."

Baker, piloting UC cagers since 1965, and other MVC coaches reportedly are disenchanted with what they believe is a lack of the MVC's overall direction, that it refuses to make all schools patriciate in all sports and emphasize them equally.

Rose, Bench Doing Active Reserve Stint

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Cincinnati Reds right fielder Pete Rose and catcher John Bench are undergoing two weeks active reserve duty with the U.S. Army, club officials announced Sunday. The two are scheduled to return to spring training at Tampa on March 25.

Zanesville Rally Downs Purple Riders

Zanesville, trailing 37-36 going into the final period, tallied eight points while holding Martins Ferry scoreless for 3:58 and went on to a 62-48 win in the Steubenville AA basketball district finals Saturday night.

John Simpson, Zanesville's all state tackle, scored the first two baskets of the period, with Mike Painter and Bob Welcher adding one each before Dave Reasbeck broke the spell with a pair of fouls. Painter and Welcher had 19 each to lead the winners, while Reasbeck had 14 to pace Martins Ferry. Clarence Hill and Sam Twardoski each added 13 for the losers.

Zanesville faces unbeaten Columbus East in regional play Wednesday.

The Preakness, middle jewel in racing's triple crown, will be run this year on May 18.

Piniella, Vidal Lead Indian Win

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Indians' 5-4 exhibition victory over the San Francisco Giants Sunday was a moist affair, and some of the moisture was on Sonny Siebert's pitching fingers —despite Sonny's best efforts at breaking the habit.

The habit of licking his fingers, that is.

National League Umpire Chris Pelakoudas reminded Siebert of the new rule after the first pitch, but Siebert had trouble remembering. His teammates on the bench spotted him moistening his fingers six times in one inning alone.

"I've just got to concentrate on breaking that habit," said Sonny.

He gave up one run; Bob Allen allowed only one hit in two innings, and knuckleballer Bob Tiefenauer set the Giants down in order in the sixth. Orlando Pena blanked the Giants for two frames but got in trouble in the ninth, when San Francisco picked up three runs.

The Indians scored all their runs in the fifth. Lou Piniella knocked in two runs with a single, and another rookie, Jose Vidal, followed with a mighty three-run homer.

Waterford Sets Mutuel 1-Day Record

The largest single-day mutuel handle in the history of Waterford Park was recorded Saturday as 7,185 fans wagered $623,944.

It also was the first time on a single day program that the mutuel wagering passed the $600,000 mark. The previous high for an afternoon of racing was set on opening day of 1967 when $598,000 was wagered by 8,800 fans.

Large figures in wagering were not the only orbiting digits. The seventh race perfecta returned $1,178.80 after the combination of 10 and 3 finished first and second to produce the big return. There were 33 winning tickets sold on the 10-3 combo. The winner was Boots Bush, a son of the famous Bushwacker. Ridden by jockey Lanny Kress, Boots Bush charged to the finish line ahead of Larkster and paid an even $100 to win. Larksters' place was $7.

Don Pavletich Homers Twice In Red Win

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds exploded for three home runs Sunday, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 3-1, in exhibition baseball.

Big Guns for the Reds was catcher Don Pavletich whose two homers in the fourth and sixth innings came after Leo Cardenas supplied Cincinnati with its first homer in the third.

The victory went to Bob Lee who allowed the White Sox their only run. He filled the bases on balls during the fourth inning and Dwayne Josephson scored on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's sacrifice fly.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

No Doting Mother Beth

Beth Brickell wants you to know she is considerably different from the wife and mother (Ellen Wedloe) she plays in CBS-TV's "Gentle Ben" series.

Hal Humphrey

One of the ways she convinced me was showing up for an interview wearing a miniskirt, high leather boots, a polka-dot shirt and a hair-do with a "fall" below her shoulders.

"I'd never played a mother or wife before this, nor would I ever have gotten the part if I'd shown up for the audition dressed like this," admits the sexy-looking Beth.

-:-

FOR THE "Gentle Gen" audition she wore blue-jeans, a sweater which she describes as a "1940s-type" and short hair.

"I really didn't feel the part of a mother and wife, but Lee Strasberg, whom I had studied under at Actors Studio, told me to just be myself. Oh, yes, and I went to see 40 minutes of the movie 'Gentle Giant,' which was really the pilot for this 'Gentle Gen' series," Beth recalls.

Beth also says she wouldn't have taken the role of Ellen Wedloe if Dennis Weaver was not to play her husband, Tom.

"I KNEW the type of show Dennis would insist on, and that it wouldn't be just a bear show. Also, a bear isn't like a dog. There's only so much you can do with a bear."

Beth throws out hints that there are other things the mother in "Gentle Ben" can do besides the dishes. Like one day she suggested to the director that she could be playing marbles with her TV son, Mark (Clint Howard).

"I'm a modern wife, after all. When the series started they had me in mid-knee-length dresses, but now I've got them talked into 3 inches above the knee. I also had to tell them that high heels are old-fashioned now, so next season I won't wear them. My hair will be longer, too.

-:-

BETH WAS a journalism major at the University of Arkansas (her home town is Camden, Ark., and she worked as women's page editor on the Shreveport (La.) Times and as a news reporter for the Arizona Daily Star at Tuson.

After a graduate course at Edinburgh for her B.A. degree, Beth toured Europe and ran out of money so she got a job in Rome teaching shorthand and typing.

"At this point I thought I wanted to be in our government's foreign service, but then I asked myself what would be the highest goal I could reach that way, and the answer was ambassador," says Beth.

-:-

SHE WENT BACK to New York and did some stock and joined Actors Studio and got a role in a revival of "The Women," which opened out of New York but never hit Broadway. The play by Claire Booth Luce was too dated, and Mrs. Luce refused to rewrite it.

"Then I came to Hollywood in the summer of 1966 and did my first TV, and one night I was at a party at Henry Mancini's, who'd won an Oscar for his music in films. I held that Oscar in my hand and right then I knew I wanted to be an actress and have as my goal an Oscar of my own," says Beth.

Right then we lost an ambassador, but gained another actress who is as ambitious and starry-eyed as any who've come along this well-trodden path.

WE ALSO LOST a shrewd businesswoman. In New York she imported furniture (wall systems) from Spain and was doing right well selling them, until the business got too big and she didn't want to begin hiring people.

At this point in her acting career it's inconceivable to Beth that another season as Ellen Wedloe in "Gentle Ben" could type-cast her as at least a semi-countrified woman to a point where producers couldn't see her as anything else.

"Don't be silly," she says. "All producers can't be that way."

Just the same, I think it's a good idea for her to wear miniskirts and boots and long hair whenever she isn't washing those dishes for Tom and Mark and Gentle Ben.

Forest Fires Hit Southern W. Va.

CHARLESTON (AP) —The weekend rains have eased the forest fire threat; but not before blazes destroyed more than 1,000 acres of timberland.

A State Forestry Division spokesman said only mop-up operations are left of the more 50 fires that struck in southern West Virginia during the weekend.

Most of the fires were the result of careless trash burning the Forestry Division spokesman said. He warned against letting fires go untended.

Kanawha County suffered worst from the fires. Sixteen separate blazes were reported in Kanawha during a two-day period. Lincoln County reported 12 fires, Wayne seven and Cabell four.

The principals of today's insurance business can be traced back into ancient history. The Phoenicians, Greeks, and Romans of early times carried on certain types of insurance, including shipping insurance, and sickness and death insurance.

Steering Defect Cited When Auto Goes Onto Lawn

A steering defect was blamed for a mishap early Sunday morning in which an auto veered off Park Way 150 feet north of Rubicon St. and snapped off three small trees on the lawn at the home of Charles J. Bosco of Park Way, police reported.

James Albert Jackson, 20, of 324 Haywood St. told Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon he was driving north at 45 to 50 miles an hour at 1:32 a.m. and was rounding the turn near Rubicon St. when the steering mechanism failed on his 1963 four-door sedan. The car traveled about 110 feet after leaving the roadway, officers said.

A broken A-frame apparently caused the car to go out of control, officers said. Faulty tie rods also may have contributed to the mishap, police reported.

Another mishap timed at 4 p.m. Saturday in a private parking lot off Apple Alley damaged a 1968 model station wagon driven by Robert A. Emmerling, 18, of 1333 Fairmont St. and a 1967 four-door sedan operated by Charles A. Hartt of 420 Florida Ave., Chester, police said. Emmerling was pulling onto the lot from E. 5th St. and Hartt was backing out of a parking spot, officers reported.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A two-alarm fire caused extensive damage early today to the A. E. Liles Laundry on Columbus' West Side.

Fire officials said the fire apparently was a case of arson in connection with burglary. Police arrested a man three blocks from the scene shortly after the fire was discovered.

Officers said the man, identified as Richard Allen Biles, 21, of Columbus, was charged with being a suspicious person.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

No Doting Mother Beth

Beth Brickell wants you to know she is considerably different from the wife and mother (Ellen Wedloe) she plays in CBS-TV's "Gentle Ben" series.

Hal Humphrey

One of the ways she convinced me was showing up for an interview wearing a miniskirt, high leather boots, a polka-dot shirt and a hair-do with a "fall" below her shoulders.

"I'd never played a mother or wife before this, nor would I ever have gotten the part if I'd shown up for the audition dressed like this," admits the sexy-looking Beth.

-:-

FOR THE "Gentle Gen" audition she wore blue-jeans, a sweater which she describes as a "1940s-type" and short hair.

"I really didn't feel the part of a mother and wife, but Lee Strasberg, whom I had studied under at Actors Studio, told me to just be myself. Oh, yes, and I went to see 40 minutes of the movie 'Gentle Giant,' which was really the pilot for this 'Gentle Gen' series," Beth recalls.

Beth also says she wouldn't have taken the role of Ellen Wedloe if Dennis Weaver was not to play her husband, Tom.

"I KNEW the type of show Dennis would insist on, and that it wouldn't be just a bear show. Also, a bear isn't like a dog. There's only so much you can do with a bear."

Beth throws out hints that there are other things the mother in "Gentle Ben" can do besides the dishes. Like one day she suggested to the director that she could be playing marbles with her TV son, Mark (Clint Howard).

"I'm a modern wife, after all. When the series started they had me in mid-knee-length dresses, but now I've got them talked into 3 inches above the knee. I also had to tell them that high heels are old-fashioned now, so next season I won't wear them. My hair will be longer, too.

-:-

BETH WAS a journalism major at the University of Arkansas (her home town is Camden, Ark., and she worked as women's page editor on the Shreveport (La.) Times and as a news reporter for the Arizona Daily Star at Tuson.

After a graduate course at Edinburgh for her B.A. degree, Beth toured Europe and ran out of money so she got a job in Rome teaching shorthand and typing.

"At this point I thought I wanted to be in our government's foreign service, but then I asked myself what would be the highest goal I could reach that way, and the answer was ambassador," says Beth.

-:-

SHE WENT BACK to New York and did some stock and joined Actors Studio and got a role in a revival of "The Women," which opened out of New York but never hit Broadway. The play by Claire Booth Luce was too dated, and Mrs. Luce refused to rewrite it.

"Then I came to Hollywood in the summer of 1966 and did my first TV, and one night I was at a party at Henry Mancini's, who'd won an Oscar for his music in films. I held that Oscar in my hand and right then I knew I wanted to be an actress and have as my goal an Oscar of my own," says Beth.

Right then we lost an ambassador, but gained another actress who is as ambitious and starry-eyed as any who've come along this well-trodden path.

WE ALSO LOST a shrewd businesswoman. In New York she imported furniture (wall systems) from Spain and was doing right well selling them, until the business got too big and she didn't want to begin hiring people.

At this point in her acting career it's inconceivable to Beth that another season as Ellen Wedloe in "Gentle Ben" could type-cast her as at least a semi-countrified woman to a point where producers couldn't see her as anything else.

"Don't be silly," she says. "All producers can't be that way."

Just the same, I think it's a good idea for her to wear miniskirts and boots and long hair whenever she isn't washing those dishes for Tom and Mark and Gentle Ben.

Forest Fires Hit Southern W. Va.

CHARLESTON (AP) —The weekend rains have eased the forest fire threat; but not before blazes destroyed more than 1,000 acres of timberland.

A State Forestry Division spokesman said only mop-up operations are left of the more 50 fires that struck in southern West Virginia during the weekend.

Most of the fires were the result of careless trash burning the Forestry Division spokesman said. He warned against letting fires go untended.

Kanawha County suffered worst from the fires. Sixteen separate blazes were reported in Kanawha during a two-day period. Lincoln County reported 12 fires, Wayne seven and Cabell four.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife works in an office and I work in a plant. We used to take the same bus to and from town and it worked out fine.

A few months ago Wilma's boss decided to stagger the quitting time so there wouldn't be a crush at 5 p.m. and now she takes an earlier bus. She's always home when I get there.

Last night I left work 20 minutes early because I had a bad backache. When the bus stopped at Wilma's corner she boarded with a good-looking, well-built guy. They seemed to be having a great time, laughing and joking.

When Wilma saw me she got red in the face and introduced me. I recognized the plaid shirt he was wearing because I had ironed it.

Wilma has been bringing home this fellow's shirts for months — said they belonged to some orphan kid she wanted to help out. Wilma does all the washing in the family and I do the ironing because I was a presser in the Navy.

When we got home I got mad and told her I wasn't ironing any more of the "orphan's" shirts. She called me a jealous fool and acted highly insulted. What do you make of this? — MANNY.

Dear Manny: Just when I think I've heard everything I get a letter like yours. This is indeed a new wrinkle — one that Wilma ought to iron out.

She sounds like a big-hearted girl, but I think in the interest of peace and tranquility the "orphan" should consider drip-dry shirts or carry his laundry to a commercial place.

He's A Pill

Dear Ann: A member of our family must take several pills before and after meals. This man is educated and refined.

He insists that other members of the family adhere strictly to certain rules of etiquette, yet he brings his medicine to the table, lines up the bottles and makes a production of popping the pills into his mouth and swallowing several gulps of water to "wash things down."

Don't you feel that taking medicine is a personal matter and should be done in private? Why would a person want an audience? May we hear from you? —BELOW THE SALT.

-:-

Dear B.: A person who has to bring his medicine to the table and doctor himself in full view of the family is obviously desperate for attention. I feel sorry for him. And you should, too.

Fiddling Around

Dear Ann: I'm 15 years old and play the violin well. I practice six hours a day.

My Numero Uno also plays the violin well. He's two chairs ahead of me in the school orchestra. The problem is the girl who sits next to him. She doesn't practice nearly as much as I but she's a better violinist. I just burn when I see them sitting side by side. . .him turning the pages for her.

The music contest tryouts start soon. If I get an excellent and she gets superior, I'll die. Please tell me what to do. I'm cracking up. — MISS NERVOUS WRECK.

Dear Miss: If you practice six hours a day you are working as hard as you can — or should. If the doll next to Numero Uno is a better violinist, and doesn't practice nearly as much as you, she is undoubtedly gifted — and you can't beat that.

Do your best, honey, then forget it. Angels can do no more.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Union Plans Expansion In Hospital Field

CLEVELAND (AP) — Now that Building Service and Maintenance Union Local 47 has won recognition at St. Luke's Hospital, the union will seek to organize employes in other hospitals, according to Joseph E. Murphy, local president.

He told union members at a meeting Sunday that if another union moves into the private hospital field that union will "have a fight ahead of it."

Murphy apparently referred to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, which has contracts at three Cuyahoga County hospitals and has opened an organizing drive at four private hospitals.

Some 200 cheering strikers voted unanimously Sunday to accept an agreement worked out by their negotiators with the St. Luke's Hospital board ending an 11-month strike.

The agreement provides recognition of Local 47 as bargaining agent for some 400 non-professional employes. The union gave the hospital a pledge that there will be no future work stoppages for any reason.

Negotiations on wages and working conditions are to start next week.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My wife works in an office and I work in a plant. We used to take the same bus to and from town and it worked out fine.

A few months ago Wilma's boss decided to stagger the quitting time so there wouldn't be a crush at 5 p.m. and now she takes an earlier bus. She's always home when I get there.

Last night I left work 20 minutes early because I had a bad backache. When the bus stopped at Wilma's corner she boarded with a good-looking, well-built guy. They seemed to be having a great time, laughing and joking.

When Wilma saw me she got red in the face and introduced me. I recognized the plaid shirt he was wearing because I had ironed it.

Wilma has been bringing home this fellow's shirts for months — said they belonged to some orphan kid she wanted to help out. Wilma does all the washing in the family and I do the ironing because I was a presser in the Navy.

When we got home I got mad and told her I wasn't ironing any more of the "orphan's" shirts. She called me a jealous fool and acted highly insulted. What do you make of this? — MANNY.

Dear Manny: Just when I think I've heard everything I get a letter like yours. This is indeed a new wrinkle — one that Wilma ought to iron out.

She sounds like a big-hearted girl, but I think in the interest of peace and tranquility the "orphan" should consider drip-dry shirts or carry his laundry to a commercial place.

He's A Pill

Dear Ann: A member of our family must take several pills before and after meals. This man is educated and refined.

He insists that other members of the family adhere strictly to certain rules of etiquette, yet he brings his medicine to the table, lines up the bottles and makes a production of popping the pills into his mouth and swallowing several gulps of water to "wash things down."

Don't you feel that taking medicine is a personal matter and should be done in private? Why would a person want an audience? May we hear from you? —BELOW THE SALT.

-:-

Dear B.: A person who has to bring his medicine to the table and doctor himself in full view of the family is obviously desperate for attention. I feel sorry for him. And you should, too.

Fiddling Around

Dear Ann: I'm 15 years old and play the violin well. I practice six hours a day.

My Numero Uno also plays the violin well. He's two chairs ahead of me in the school orchestra. The problem is the girl who sits next to him. She doesn't practice nearly as much as I but she's a better violinist. I just burn when I see them sitting side by side. . .him turning the pages for her.

The music contest tryouts start soon. If I get an excellent and she gets superior, I'll die. Please tell me what to do. I'm cracking up. — MISS NERVOUS WRECK.

Dear Miss: If you practice six hours a day you are working as hard as you can — or should. If the doll next to Numero Uno is a better violinist, and doesn't practice nearly as much as you, she is undoubtedly gifted — and you can't beat that.

Do your best, honey, then forget it. Angels can do no more.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Union Plans Expansion In Hospital Field

CLEVELAND (AP) — Now that Building Service and Maintenance Union Local 47 has won recognition at St. Luke's Hospital, the union will seek to organize employes in other hospitals, according to Joseph E. Murphy, local president.

He told union members at a meeting Sunday that if another union moves into the private hospital field that union will "have a fight ahead of it."

Murphy apparently referred to the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, which has contracts at three Cuyahoga County hospitals and has opened an organizing drive at four private hospitals.

Some 200 cheering strikers voted unanimously Sunday to accept an agreement worked out by their negotiators with the St. Luke's Hospital board ending an 11-month strike.

The agreement provides recognition of Local 47 as bargaining agent for some 400 nonprofessional employes. The union gave the hospital a pledge that there will be no future work stoppages for any reason.

Negotiations on wages and working conditions are to start next week.

Junior Editors Quiz on SATURN

QUESTION: What are Saturn's rings composed of and how did they get there?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Billions of tiny particles, probably the size of gravel, make up Saturn's rings, which circle the planet as a flat disc about 10 miles thick. Saturn is an extremely cold planet, with a temperature of perhaps 250 degrees below zero. Some astronomers believe the particles in the rings are ice, which helps to explain why they reflect so much of the sun's light. Other authorities think rock fragments may be included. How the rings came about is another mystery. Some astronomers believe they represent the fragments of a moon which once circled Saturn. Because it came too close to the planet's gravitational pull, it broke into many fragments. Another theory holds that the rings are comprised of matter leftover when the planet originally formed. Saturn is of very light material; so light, it would float if there was water to float in—an idea symbolized by the impossible picture at lower right. Saturn has nine known moons—a tenth has just been sighted by astronomers. One of these, Titan, is the only moon in our solar system known to have an atmosphere.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: This is strictly for fresh, green bean lovers. There's nothing like 'em when they are cooked with bacon grease, ham hock, etc. We all know that.

But while I was snapping one night, it dawned on me that nearly every meal the Chinese prepare has a delicious dish of something sweet and sour. So when I was ready to cook the two pounds of fresh beans, I tried something new.

I put in one level tablespoon of sugar and one tablespoon of vinegar to the water I had covered them with. Then I added one chopped onion.

After cooking them the usual time. . .you talk about something lush. . .

HELOISE.

P.S. Twice since then I didn't have any fresh green beans in the house, so I opened a can of WHOLE green beans and added the same things. They were just about as tasty as the fresh ones.

The one thing that you all are gonna ask is, what did I do with the water that came in the can of beans?

I poured it off! I held the can under the faucet and rinsed off the beans before adding fresh water and the above ingredients.

Sure is different.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Recently while packing to return from a short trip, I needed something to put my dirty golf shoes in to keep them from touching other things in the suitcase.

My hostess gave me some aluminum foil to use.

It fitted closely — right to the shape of the shoes, taking up a minimum of room in my suitcase.

M. D. J.

One could use bread wrappers, too.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I buy a few rubber fruit jar rings and attach them to the back of my furniture to hold my electric cords in place and off the floor.

Using these, there is no danger of a metal catch or holder causing a worn spot in the cord which might cause a short or a fire.

OLD - TIMER.

DEAR HELOISE: I have a helpful hint for mothers with babies.

Playpens are usually low and child in, or take him out of the pen, she has to bend over.

Buy a piece of thick plywood of a size to fit the playpen bottom and four table legs, eight or 10 inches high. Screw the legs onto the corners of the playwood.

Set the play pen on the "table" you have made.

This will raise the playpen and mother doesn't have to bend so low to pick up baby. Also, he is high enough so he can see out the window.

This works perfectly and helps both mother and baby.

ANDREA RIDILLA.

DEAR HELOISE: When I fix hot dogs and meat sauce, I always put the sauce in a double boiler.

My husband suggested putting the hot dogs in the bottom pan with the water.

It worked perfectly and the dogs and sauce were ready at the same time.

MRS. L. B. GRIFFIN.

DEAR HELOISE: I use plain, common, laundry starch and make it into a thick paste (by when a mother goes to put her adding a little water) and use it as a silver polish to clean my silver.

Just rub this on with a damp cloth and let it stand a minute or two and then rub dry. Sure is quick, inexpensive and easy.

BUDGETEER.

It works.

Retirement Pictured As New Way Of Life

CHICAGO (AP) — "The question of proper retirement age is not settled and probably never will be to the satisfaction of everyone," said Arthur R. Weed, retirement consultant to a senior citizens group.

In a survey of 75 large companies, it was found that 79 per cent normally retire employes at 65, although only 47 per cent of the firms polled made retirement at that age mandatory.

Thirteen per cent of the companies set no retirement date. The remaining 8 per cent have chosen some other age between 61 and 70.

Weed estimates that a person retiring at 65 will live another 15 years.

His advice to the Chicago Commission for Senior Citizens is that an effective retirement plan means preparing for a whole new life instead of thinking of retirement as a vacation.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR FOLKS: This is strictly for fresh, green bean lovers. There's nothing like 'em when they are cooked with bacon grease, ham hock, etc. We all know that.

But while I was snapping one night, it dawned on me that nearly every meal the Chinese prepare has a delicious dish of something sweet and sour. So when I was ready to cook the two pounds of fresh beans, I tried something new.

I put in one level tablespoon of sugar and one tablespoon of vinegar to the water I had covered them with. Then I added one chopped onion.

After cooking them the usual time. . .you talk about something lush. . .
